Beer Now? Perhaps.
Marriage a Comic Strip.
Many a Mickle.
80 Days, 6 Days, 1 Day.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

WASHINGTON REPORTS that Republicans, led by Senator Bingham, will vote for beer now, taking from Democrats one of their most valuable campaign assets. Democrats in Congress could not well vote against beer, having declared for it in their platform.

It is suggested, not on White House authority, that if any beer bill is passed while Hoover is President, he will veto it. The President does not forget, as some others do, that there are quiet people in quiet places in whose minds prohibition is a perfect success.

MRS. MINNIE KENNEDY HUDSON, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, known to millions as "Ma," describes modern hasty matrimony better than it has been described hitherto. She has only friendship for her husband only recently married, but finds that her romance has "turned into a comic strip, funny and getting funnier."

She adds that she will be responsible for none of her husband's debts or other obligations.

TODAY YOU will buy new postage stamps, for three instead of two cents. They are pretty, purple, with the well-known portrait of George Washington by Stuart. Lincoln's three-cent stamp, now in use, will continue.

Four thousand millions of the new three-cent stamps have been printed. Also a thousand million one-cent stamps. You may add one to the two-cent stamp now in your possession. Air mail will cost eight cents hereafter for the first ounce.

The extra money goes to your Uncle Sam, who seems to show greater energy in taxation than in economy. "Many a mickle makes a muckle." One cent extra for four billion stamps means forty million dollars more for Congress to spend.

MATTERN AND GRIFFIN, ambitious fliers, now on their way around the world, expect to make the trip in six days.

Jules Verne wrote about a trip around the world in eighty days, "only a dream." A trip around the world in six days would interest us now. A trip around the world in one day, the speed that the sun seems to make — 1,000 miles an hour — will be the record some day.

One-thousand-mile-an-hour fliers will travel high up in the stratosphere, thin atmosphere offering little resistance to the plane. And that travel, fully organized, will be safer than any that men have known hitherto, no grade crossings, broken rails, defective switches, rear or front end collisions.

HUMAN BEINGS are not, usually, as bad as you think them. Two German fliers, Bertram and Clausemann, forced down in a wild part of Australia, almost starved to death seeking to evade "savage natives that might be cannibals." Finally natives found them, gave them a big fish, brought other food and fresh water, killed kangaroos and supplied fresh meat.

If those Australian natives had landed, unable to speak a word of the local language, in this or some other "civilized" country, they might not have been treated as kindly as they treated the ragged, half-starved German fliers.

VETERANS THAT went to Washington expecting a bonus will be surprised to learn that the capital has tear gas "available in case of a major emergency."

The gas would be used gently, however, according to the authorities.

"There will be no obnoxious use of gas. The candles available here will spread only a thin cloud of smoke."

"The richest country in the world" might find something better for needy veterans than tear gas.

EUROPE IS alarmed by a drop in the birth rate, France especially. Last year only 741,000 French babies were born. In 1868 the number was 1,340,000.

Poland, the only country in Europe showing an increasing birth rate, is a Catholic country, and deeply religious, as compared with other European countries. The Catholic religion forbids birth control.

THE PROHIBITION party gathered in convention at Indianapolis yesterday, stimulated into action by Democratic and Republican wet planks.

The party thinks Senator Borah, who will NOT support President Hoover, might consent to run for President on a cold water ticket.

Senator Borah has not said yes, and probably will continue not to say yes. He is not accustomed to defeat in political undertakings.

THIS YEAR the Fourth of July killed 245, last year 500. The kind of patriotism that calls for loud explosions seems to have been subdued by the depression. Also unemployment, less money in the house, probably meant fewer "giant crackers" in the hands of children.

FLIERS IN BERLIN, SET SEA RECORD

JURGES, CUB STAR SHOT BY GIRL

Young Woman Pleads for Marriage, Then Fires 3 Bullets Into Ball Player

International News Service.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Shortstop Bill Jurges, one of the most promising young ball players in the major leagues and a vital cog in the Chicago Cubs' infield, was shot and wounded seriously today by Miss Violet Popovich, a young woman acquaintance.

Jurges was shot three times. All of the wounds, according to a preliminary examination, were in the chest.

Miss Popovich, who also was known as Valle, was shot once in the left wrist. Both were taken to a hospital, where the young woman was held in custody.

HOTEL SHOOTING

The shooting occurred in the hotel where Jurges lives when the Cubs are at home. It was the culmination, according to the police and associates of Jurges, of an infatuation on the part of Miss Popovich. She had sought to induce Jurges to marry her, it was said.

Lieut. William J. O'Brien learned that the girl had known Jurges for some time and had gone to New York to be near the shortstop when the Cubs were playing there two weeks ago. They were said to have quarreled in a New York hotel.

Sunday Miss Popovich and a girl companion registered at Jurges' Chicago hotel. According to hotel attaches, both young women went to Jurges' room this morning and demanded admittance.

THREATENS SUICIDE

Jurges opened the door and Miss Popovich is said to have cried:

"I'm going to shoot myself."

Jurges managed to dissuade her momentarily, hotel employes said, and she entered the room. There she again pleaded with Jurges to marry her. He again refused and she produced a revolver.

Jurges lunged at her with the hope of disarming the girl and she began shooting at him. The first three bullets struck him. In the struggle for the weapon a fourth bullet lodged in Miss Popovich's wrist.

John D., 93 Friday, Plans Celebration

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., July 6.—(INS.)—Still confident he will live to be 100 years old, John D. Rockefeller prepared today to observe his 93rd birthday anniversary at his Pocantico Hills estate Friday. It was likely that he would follow his usual leisurely custom of spending the day playing golf in the morning, taking an automobile drive in the afternoon, then cutting his birthday cake in the evening.

Pastor Found Dead With Bullet in Head

REVERE, Mass., July 6.—(AP.)—The Rev. Ralph F. Blanning, of Bangor, Me., was found dead on the beach here today, a pistol bullet in his head. He had been pastor of the Unitarian Independent Congregation at Bangor until a few months ago, when he suffered a nervous collapse.

Dope Quiets Prisoners in Train Riot

Twenty-three "guests" of the United States, all dope addicts, stopped in Pittsburgh for half an hour today to get the "needle." They were quiet, after a turbulent night shouting for "dope."

Government prisoners on their way to Leavenworth, Kan., they were met at the train by Dr. T. W. Baer and Deputy United States Marshal Walter A. Meyer.

Dr. Baer gave the 23 hypodermic injections of morphine, some one-quarter and some one-half grain.

MORE TREATMENTS

The next "shots" will be given when the train arrives tonight in Chicago, although it may be imperative that some get injections in Crestline, O.

The prisoners, in charge of Marshall Fred S. Pulver, of the eastern district of New York, and 14 deputies, rode in a special sleeping car. They were quiet on their arrival here, although during the night, prior to their halt in Harrisburg, some of them became unruly.

Attempts were made to break windows and a screen in the coach was kicked out, train attaches said.

Marshal Pulver explained that a physician had to be called in Harrisburg to administer to the men, whose craving for the drug had made some sick and nearly all disorderly.

PRISONERS QUIETED

They were quieted, order was maintained until their second dose was received here.

The train left New York last night, and an hour from Harrisburg, some began shouting for dope. A deputy marshal was chased into the washroom, and Dr. Leroy S. Howard later boarded the train and gave each a "shot."

The prisoners, Pulver said, were rounded up from the eastern district of New York. Thirteen of the deputies are going to Leavenworth to be "schooled" in a marshal's duties, he explained. The train arrived at 9:20 a. m. and left at 9:50.

TUBE CITY GIRL FOUND SHOT

CLEVELAND, July 6.—(AP.)—Led by her sweetheart, detectives today found the body of Miss Margaret Kish, 21, whose home was believed to be in McKeesport, Pa., in a room where it had lain since Monday night.

Peter Christos, 51, told detectives the girl shot herself to death when he informed her he was going to leave her. They had been living in the same apartment building two months, police quoted Christos as saying.

Christos' story, as related by detectives, was that Miss Kish declared:

"If you leave, I'll kill both of us."

As he started to go, Christos said, the girl obtained a pistol from a dresser drawer and fired at him five times, but missed each time. Then she shot herself in the heart, Christos continued.

After the shooting, Christos went to another room and waited there until today before notifying police.

Famed Russ Dancer Dies By Plunge Over Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 6.—(AP.)—A man, believed to have been Nikolai Semenoff, of Cleveland, O., is reported to have waded out in the Niagara River near Table Rock early today and to have been carried over the Horseshoe Falls.

CLEVELAND, July 6.—(AP.)—Michel Semenoff, famous Russian dancer, was being hunted by Cleveland police early today at the request of a friend at the same hour he was believed to have gone over Nigara Falls to his death.

Michel Fokine, of Riverside Drive, New York, for 20 years director of the Russian Imperial ballet, telegraphed police here to find Semenoff about the time of the tragedy.

Semenoff was famous in Russia, where he was connected with the Moscow Art Theater and many other theaters. He came to the United States 10 years ago, spending the first five years in New York and then coming to Cleveland, where he taught Russian dancing.

HOOVER'S AID PLAN HIT BY GARNER

No More Class Legislation, Speaker Says, Upholding Loans for Individuals

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP.)—In a dramatic address to the House, Sepaker Garner told his colleagues today that he would fight to the end against President Hoover's views on relief legislation.

Taking the floor in a surprise move after conferences between congressional leaders and Mr. Hoover had ended in a deadlock, the Speaker shouted that the Chief Executive wanted a "selected clientele" to reap the benefits of the Reconstruction Corporation.

FIGHTS CLASS AID

As packed galleries and silent members listened attentively, the Speaker roared:

"We propose to say to the President that there shall be no more class legislation.

"I can say now and I have the President's authority for it, that this country is in worse shape now than it has been in its history.

"For when I asked the President he replied that the appropriation of $300,000,000 might lead to a panic.

"His policy has been so uncertain that if he looks for a panic around the corner, maybe we can look for good times."

Garner said he held out for the principle of broadening the base of the Reconstruction Corporation so that all persons could benefit from it instead of any one class.

Garner said he thought a very "happy solution" was reached at the White House conference today, when it was decided that the $100,000,000 for direct relief and $200,000,000 for loans to states be combined into a $300,000,000 fund for loans to be made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to governors of states and municipalities, not more than

1,700 Letters Shy Extra Penny Stamp

Of 23,400 pieces of first class mail deposited in downtown mail boxes and at the main postoffice between 7 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. today, 1,700 bore only a 2-cent stamp instead of the required 3-cent variety. These letters will be returned to the sender, if the envelope bears the address, otherwise they will be forwarded to the addressee and held until the extra penny is collected. A rush to buy the 3-cent stamps, which went into use last midnight, was in effect all day, postoffice authorities said.

Film of Lupe Velez Barred in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, July 6.—(AP.)—The federal district government today forbade the exhibition of the American motion picture film "Ala Rota," featuring Lupe Velez, Mexican actress, and voted to censure Senorita Velez for allowing herself to be featured in the picture.

The department statement said that the picture apparently slurs Mexico.

Reynolds Tobacco Heir Kills Himself

TORCH-SINGING LIBBY HOLMAN . . . GUN-WIDOWED TODAY

Miss Holman, the throaty stage songster, widowed today in the home of her new husband, 22-year-old Zachary Smith Reynolds, society heir of the tobacco millions, in what police describe as a suicide following a quarrel, climaxing a gay party at their home.

Libby Holman, 'Torch Singer' Bride, Collapses

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 6.—(INS.)—Smith Reynolds, 21-year-old heir to a $20,000,000 tobacco fortune, died today of a bullet wound following a party at the palatial home to which he recently brought his bride, Libby Holman, stage star and blues singer.

The eventful career of the young, socially prominent sportsman and aviator came to an end early today when he died of a single bullet wound through the right temple.

Members of the family said they believed the death accidental. A coroner's inquest, called immediately after the youth died, was postponed for several days because Miss Holman was prostrated and unable to testify before the jury.

LIBBY COLLAPSES

She was under the care of physicians.

Coroner W. N. Dalton said he was "inclined to a theory of suicide," but would not make definite announcement until an inquest has been held.

Reynolds was found, mortally wounded, on the sleeping porch of his home by his wife at 1 o'clock this morning. The bullet had been fired into the right temple and it emerged above the left ear.

VIENNA, July 6. — (AP.)—Lightning killed eight persons in Austria and Jugoslavia yesterday.

LOWER TIME OVER OCEAN 3 HOURS

Pair Seeking Globe-Girdling Mark in Germany After Non-Stop Atlantic Flight

International News Service.

BERLIN, July 6. — James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, American fliers attempting a record-breaking round-the-world flight, landed their monoplane Century of Progress at Tempelhof Aerodrome, Berlin, at 5:42 p. m. today (12:42 p. m. Pittsburgh time).

It was the first time the landing gear of the red, white and blue monoplane had touched solid earth since Mattern and Griffin took off from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, at 5:59 p. m., Pittsburgh time, yesterday.

RECORD SEA HOP

Crossing the Atlantic in the record time of 11 hours and 36 minutes—three hours faster than anyone had ever bridged the ocean before—the daring airmen continued eastward across the face of Europe at a terrific speed.

When they landed at Templehof amid the cheers of a great throng, incredulous over the speed of their progress, Mattern and Griffin already had clipped almost three hours from the record of 8 days, 15 hours and 51 minutes established by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty on their round-the-world flight in 1931.

Shattering all speed records for such a flight, Mattern and Griffin covered the approximately 3,000 miles from Harbor Grace to Berlin in 18 hours and 43 minutes without a stop.

The total elapsed time since they took off from Floyd Bennett Airport, Brooklyn, at 5:01 a. m., yesterday, was only 31 hours and 41 minutes.

DELAYED BY FOG

Delayed four hours over Harbor Grace while seeking the airport in a fog yesterday afternoon, the airmen got away for Europe in the face of appalling weather conditions determined to make up for this delay by pushing their fleet craft to the limit of its speed capacity.

That they were able to make up this loss and gain three hours on Post and Gatty was due to a number of factors. One was the terrific speed maintained on the trans-Atlantic flight and the cross-Europe jaunt to Berlin.

The other was that Post and Gatty made stops at Chester, England, and at Hanover, Germany—one for refueling and the other to get their bearings.

In contrast, Mattern and Griffin flew straight as an arrow through fog, wind and thunderstorms and planted their plane down in a three-point landing on Berlin's magnificent air field well within the time limit they had set for themselves.

HAILED IN BERLIN

United States Ambassador Frederic M. Sackett, an official welcoming committee and thousands of spectators were on hand when the Americans arrived. A severe thunderstorm between Hanover and Berlin delayed them slightly.

When they left New York, Mattern and Griffin said they would "take tea in Berlin."

Instead, each quickly quaffed down three foaming steins of beer.

Car Crashes Mellon Porch As Thieves Pose as Kin

Two young automobile thieves, by their actions early today, tried to convince police they were members of the Thomas A. Mellon family.

But they failed and fled. They were driving a stolen car in North Negley avenue when a police radio crew gave chase. At the Mellon home, 401 North Negley, they turned neatly into the driveway and drove toward the house.

But they changed their mind. They hopped from the moving car and left it to crash against the Mellon porch, motor running. It was 4 a. m., so they escaped in the dark across the Mellon lawn.

His sleep disturbed, Mr. Mellon informed the police the porch damage was $50. The damaged auto was towed away. The auto had been stolen from Eric Danielson, 7047 Fletcher way.

RURAL LEGISLATORS SPLIT WITH TALBOT BLOC ON RELIEF

DEMAND SPEED IN ENACTING PROGRAM

Pinchot's 14-Point Plan Favored; Slow Progress Of Assembly Under Fire

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, July 6.—Developments in legislating unemployment relief took a sudden and unexpected turn today when the Wade-Sheffer group of rural representatives split openly with the Talbot-Turner bloc and came out independently with demands for speedy enactment of the agreed program.

The Wade-Sheffer adherents bluntly expressed dissatisfaction with the progress of the special session.

Referring to the 14-point program outlined by Gov. Gifford Pinchot and political leaders, the group in a statement declared that "enactment of this program at once is imperative."

The statement said in part:

"We understand that there will probably be $23,000,000 available from the federal government under the Wagner act which can be utilized for direct relief purposes.

BLANACING OF BUDGET

"In so far as economies are concerned, we believe that the balancing of the budget and restoration of the abated appropriations for mothers' assistance funds, hospitals, etc., will utilize all of the reductions that are apparently possible in the operation of the state government."

Obviously impatient with the slow, lumbering progress of the legislative mill, burdened with scores of bills, the statement concluded sharply:

"We want to get this thing over as speed[illegible] and effectively as possible."

On the sub-committee of the Wade-Sheffer group, which drafted the statement, were Representatives Bart Richards, Lawrence; Chester H. Rhodes, Monroe; Charles F. Bidelspacher, Lycoming; Louis G. Hagmaier, Allegheny, and Thomas C. Evans, Cambria.

Acting quickly on the two-salary reduction measures for all state and county employes introduced last night by Senator Samuel Salus, Philadelphia, the Senate Finance Committee today reported them to the floor of the upper branch.

SHORT SESSION

The Senate held but a short session, recessing until late this afternoon. At that time both salary measures will be passed on first reading.

The two Salus bills would make a flat 10 per cent cut effective on July 1 for practicaly all state and county employes who receive more than $1,800 annually.

Short as the session of the Senate was, it lasted long enough to make it appearanet that unanimity does not reign on economy if that reduction happens to strike close to home.

The Senate Finance Committee reported the entire series of bills, introduced last night, which provide for restoration of the 24 per cent cuts made in appropriations to mothers' assistance funds, state-aided hospitals and educational institutions.

A series of resolutions, introduced last week, and similar to those in the House, which call upon the budget secretary and various department heads for fiscal information, were passed. The reports requested must be ready for submission to the Senate next Monday night.

Legislators Hear Socialists' Demands

HARRISBURG, July 6.—(INS.)—Pennsylvania's legislators today were asked to listen to leaders of the Socialist party delegation of more than 500 "bread and jobs" marchers.

The House voted to grant the delegation use of its hall on a motion of Representative Hoopes, of Berks, seconded by Representative Lillith Wilson, his Socialist colleague.

Hoopes was cheered to an echo by the delegation of marchers, principally from the Reading district, as he berated the House for its failure to adopt concrete relief measures and demanded for the workers "bread and jobs."

The delegation, many of them women and children, filed into the House in an orderly procession. They packed the galleries and aisles and unfurled their banners, demanding work, moratoria on rents and taxes, and freedom from military service for workers. They were marshaled by Carl Leathers, of New Castle.

Giants Protest Pirates' Victory

Manager Bill Terry, of the New York Giants, announced today he had forwarded a protest of yesterday's Pirates-Giants game to President John A. Heydler, of the National League.

The protest was based on Terry's contention that some of the Pirate players had assisted Tony Piet back to the plate after the Bucco second baseman had collided with Catcher Frank Hogan in the sixth inning.

Cat, Litter Lost, Adopts Gophers

MCGREGOR, Ia. — (INS.) — "Snoopy," large Persian cat, disconsolate over the death of her kittens, adopted a litter of six young gophers on the fox farm where she lives. Havana Tobacco Exports Decline

HAVANA. — (INS.) — For the first five months of 1932 Cuba's tobacco exports shrank to less than $5,000,000 as compared with over $16,000,000 during the corresponding period of 1929. The sharp decline this year is attributed largely to the strike of rollers and strippers who have been out since January 14, refusing to accept a 10 per cent wage reduction.

ADVISES WOMEN ON POLITICS

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 6.—(AP.)—Mrs. Adalin Wright Macauley, of Menomonee, Wis., addressing the north central conference of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs today, charged that men wanted women in politics to be "rubber stamps" or "ditto marks."

Mrs. Macauley, former national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, said:

"Women must break down barriers in politics as they have been in business. We must make ourselves over. We are in a man's game and therefore must put on the armor of men; if we cannot get into this game without having our feelings hurt, and so many women cannot, then we should stay out.

"We have our place in politics; politics needs us, but no more than we need politics. The woman who plays bridge, golf, attends teas and shrugs her shoulder with a blase 'I am not interested in politics' is to be pitied. She is failing her country in her failure to fulfill her responsibilities of good citizenship."

ALLEGHENY TAX JOB 'RIPPER' STIRS ROW

Coyne and Mansfield in Wordy Clash Over Bill Referred for Hearing

By MARK SHIELDS
Political Editor.

HARRISBURG, July 6.—A Senate bill to abolish the delinquent tax collector in Allegheny County was sent back to committee for public hearing today after a wordy exchange between Senator James J. Coyne and William D. Mansfield, the latter charging that Coyne was making an effort to bury the bill, reported last night by Senator Frank J. Harris.

Today's original motion, made by Senator Thad Krause, of Philadelphia, and supported by Coyne, merely sent the bill back to committee. Mansfield and Harris opposed such action unless a hearing was ordered. Krause declined to accede, but Mansfield and Harris finally prevailed through a majority vote.

ATTACKS KRAUSE

Mansfield asserted Krause was trying to bury the bill, which would mean a saving of $100,000 to the taxpayers of Allegheny County. Coyne, close friend of Treasurer Robert Cain, who appoints the delinquent tax collector, asked Mansfield if the bill did not put the collector under the jurisdiction of the County Salary Board, of which Mansfield, as County Commissioner, is a member.

Coyne asked:

"Is that your reason for recommending this bill?"

Mansfield replied:

UP NEXT YEAR

Coyne:

"That will come up next year. Why not wait until then?"

Mansfield:

"We're here to save money, and the sooner the better."

Coyne:

"Then why did you as County Commissioner vote to increase the costs of the county Bureau of Elections 200 per cent, replacing a director at $4,500 a year with one at $8,000 who is not as qualified as his predecessor?"

Mansfield:

"Costs were decreased, not increased."

GARNER FIGHTS HOOVER ON AID

15 per cent of the amount to be lent to any one city.

'PORK BARREL' ROW

The principal point at issue was a provision in the bill for loans to individuals. President Hoover demanded it be eliminated. Speaker Garner and his colleagues refused to yield.

Turning to the public works provision, termed by Mr. Hoover a "pork barrel," Garner said:

"I believe it would be spent wisely and would be a means of giving employment.

"The Senate passed a $500,000,000 section. In conference, to avoid a veto, it was decided to put nothing in this section that was not authorized and not approved by the President, so that if any gentlemen wanted to say it was a pork barrel they would have to say it was a pork barrel by the President."

There were strong indications that President Hoover was preparing to issue a statement outlining his position.

About the same time, Secretary Mills charged that Garner blocked any hope of an agreement by insisting that the bill provide for loans to individuals. The Treasury Secretary said Garner "has a speech in his system and intends to get it off."

OPPOSED ADJOURNMENT

Other controversies in the gigantic bill were ironed out at the two-hour conference, in which three Senate leaders met with the President, Gov. Meyer, of the Federal Reserve Board, Secretary Mills and the House delegation.

Senator Wagner (Dem.), of New York, sponsor of the Senate bill, announced he would oppose any adjournment of Congress until a relief bill has been enacted.

Asks Bonus News In Italian, Arrested

Patsy DiCristofaro, 38, of Coraopolis, went to the wrong place when he hurried to Central police station to learn whether Congress would pay the soldier bonus.

Patsy was arrested because he talked, in Italian, with a prisoner, Charles Cuda, 40, arrested pending investigation into a fire in his home at 224 Alpine avenue, North Side.

SENATE'S DRYS BLOCKING VOTE ON BEER

Leaders Seek to Avert Showdown Until After Election; Antis Insistent

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The battle for legalized beer neared a showdown in the Senate today, with dry leaders likely to block a direct vote on its adoption.

The Bingham plan, proposing modification of the Volstead act so as to legalize 3.2 per cent beer by weight, may be sidetracked by reference to the Judiciary Committee for a report on its constitutionality. This was favored by Democratic dry leaders, who objected to a direct vote on the beer issue prior to the November elections, even though their party platform called for immediate modification of the Volstead act.

HEARINGS HELD

The Bingham bill, offered as a "rider" to the administration's home loan bank bill, came to the Senate through its Manufacturers Committee, which held lengthy public hearings. It was adversely reported, but that was before the two great political conventions declared for resubmission of the Eighteenth Amendment and before the Democrats pledged their party to its repeal.

Although some noted lawyers appeared at the beer hearings to declare the Bingham bill constitutional, Democratic drys insisted upon a report from the Senate Judiciary Committee. They argued the Judiciary Committee, having drafted the Volstead act when the Eighteenth Amendment was approved, should consider any and all changes in it. The anti-dry leaders suggested this position was taken to "dodge a vote."

First reports of a poll that showed 55 Senate votes in favor of 3.2 per cent beer appeared erroneous. A thorough check by International News Service failed to reveal even a majority in favor of the Bingham "rider." On the contrary, there were indications of a majority favoring its reference to the judiciary committee—an act which would definitely kill the bill for the present session.

The demand of liberals for immediate resubmission of the Eighteenth Amendment also failed to make headway. Both administration and Democratic leaders sought to postpone the resubmission move until the next session of Congress.

Borah Movement Holds Dry Parley Stage

INDIANAPOLIS, July 6.—(AP.)—The Prohibition party approached the business stage of its quadrennial national convention today, its course of action on platform and presidential candidate undecided.

The movement to name Senator Borah, of Idaho, for the chief place on the ticket and to obtain unified support from the big national dry organizations held the center of convention interest.

Two members of the National Prohibition Board of Strategy, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and Canon William Sheafe Chase, of the Council of Churches of Christ in America, were present. Canon Chase urged the resolutions committee to recommend no action on selection of the presidential candidate until after the national conference of organizations supporting prohibition meets in Washington July 14.

An active group of young delegates favoring the move to draft Borah may propose nominating him today but delaying notification until unified support for him is pledged.

Towns Plan Merger, At Odds Over Name

DENNISON, O., July 6.—Petitions bearing 541 signatures from Dennison and 580 from Uhrichsville, filed yesterday with Tuscarawas County Election Board to submit the proposed consolidation of the two towns to voters at the November election, raises the question, what shall the merged city be called? Neither municipality will drop its own name for that of the other.

Ralph De Palma Secretly Married

LAS VEGAS, Nev., July 6.—(AP.)—The marriage Sunday of Ralph De Palma, 49, noted automobile racing driver, and Marian Leggett, 36, also of New York, was disclosed today. De Palma and his bride had attempted to keep the wedding secret.

'Slave Block' for Jobless, Go to Highest Bidder

LOS ANGELES, July 6.—(AP.)—Reminiscent of the pre-Civil War days, a "slave block" where unemployed men's services will be auctioned to the highest bidder, will go into operation here tomorrow.

Louis Byrens, welfare worker, free-lance politician and former auctioneer, has received a permit from the City Park Commission to erect the block in the historic old plaza in the Mexican district of the city.

Byrens several years ago conducted auctions of war veterans' services in Boston, and he said the plan there met with success. He explained entire neighborhoods will be permitted to bid for the services of one or more men to cut their lawns or clean houses. The plan, he said, was one which he hoped would find new ways of employing men now out of work.

Two Ohio Women Married To Indians Ask Rescue

COLON, Panama, July 6.—(INS.)—A weird tale of two American women, said to be natives of Sandusky, O., who married San Blas Indians and have been living a primitive life on lonely Parvenir Island, off the Atlantic coast of Panama, reached Red Cross headquarters at Cristobal today.

A letter signed "Gladys White Eagle" told of the women's plight and begged that they be rescued. The letter read:

"We are helpless, do not understand the Indian language and are compelled to sleep on boards in a leaky hut. The food is terrible and unless we are taken away from here we shall surely die.

"When we were married our husbands said they belonged to a civilized tribe, but we have been deceived."

Dr. C. A. Hearne, head of the Cristobal Red Cross, said he would conduct an investigation and if the women were really of American birth he would send an expedition to rescue them.

JUDGE UPHOLDS FLOGGING OF BROTHERS

Two Convicted of Theft in Ohio Lashed Before Crowd, Then Run Out of County

MILLERSBURG, O., July 6.—(AP.)—The horsewhipping of two men convicted of stealing a refrigerator which they sold for $3, probably the first punishment of this kind imposed in Ohio in 50 years, was upheld as "justifiable" today by the judge who pronounced the sentence.

Twenty strokes each were applied yesterday to the backs of William Wynn, 48, and his brother, Jesse, 51, after they expressed preference for the lash instead of 20 days in jail with hard labor and a bread-and-water diet.

Common Pleas Judge R. B. Putnam gave the men their choice of sentences.

CROWD BOOS SERIFF

Choosing the whipping, the brothers were led outside the Holmes County Jail, where their hands were tied, high above their heads, to the bars over a window.

Three hundred citizens who gathered to watch the punishment, booed at first, and then stood in silence as Sheriff John Stevens, a muscular man, applied the lash.

Neither of the convicted men appeared to suffer severely, and it was apparent that the sheriff did not make the blows unusually heavy.

OUSTED FROM COUNTY

However, Stevens twice broke a light buggy whip on William and then finished the punishment of the brothers with a "blacksnake" lash. Later, he led the men to the county line and, on instructions from the judge, ordered them never to return.

Later the judge explained that, while there is no Ohio statute for a whipping sentence, there is nothing to prevent a prisoner from accepting such punishment as an alternative to the usual penalty.

In a further statement Judge Putnam upheld the lashing as "justified" by crime conditions and said he was prepared to "stretch all laws until they crack."

HOPE FADES FOR KIDNAPED BOHN

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 6.—(INS.)—Hope faded and gloom overshadowed the home of kidnaped Haskell Bohn today.

In a last desperate effort to retrieve the 20-year-old youth without police aid, Gebhard C. Bohn, wealthy manufacturer and father of the captive, prepared to ask local authorities to extend their "hands off" policy for another 24 hours.

Within that time, it was hoped, the gang which has held young Bohn prisoner for six days may yet communicate with the victim's family and give instructions as to how the demanded $5,000 ransom can be delivered.

Mother Asks Police Hunt for Aviatrix

LOS ANGELES, July 5.—(AP.)—Mrs. Jeanne Axford Thomas, 30, Los Angeles aviatrix, was reported missing today from Mexico City by her mother, Mrs. Oma Randall, who told authorities her daughter intended to fly from Mexicali to the Mexican capital the latter part of June.

Mrs. Randall said Mrs. Thomas left Los Angeles June 27 in an automobile with two Mexican fliers. She said she has received no word of the aviatrix and asked police aid in the search.

Dinehart Alimony Order Permanent

NEW YORK, July 5.—(AP.)—Award of $150 a week alimony to Mrs. Louise Dinehart, wife of Allan Dinehart, the actor, was made permanent today in a court order which relieved Dinehart of paying additional fees to his wife's attorneys in her separation suit.

Soon after the suit was begun Dinehart was required to pay her attorney $1,500. She was awarded custody of a son, Allan Dinehart, Jr.

Ban on Sunday Shows Defeated in Franklin But Fines Continue

FRANKLIN, Pa., July 6.—Sunday movies will be shown in Franklin without interference of Franklin police or other city officials. The ordinance aimed to prohibit the Sunday shows lost on the first reading, three to two, Mayor H. C. Ferringer and J. Lester Harrison casting the only affirmative votes. A petition signed by 176 names urging "fair play for all business enterprises, and discrimination against none" was submitted in behalf of L. T. Houghton, manager of the Orpheum Theater.

While the matter is ended so far as city authorities are concerned, the county will continue customary weekly information, and Houghton on Wednesday will pay another $21 to a suburban magistrate under blue laws of 1794, which County Detective Chester Beatty is invoking at behest of churchgoers.

AIMEE'S FLOCK DIVIDED OVER HUTTON CASE

Nurse Suing 'Unkissed' Dave Gets Flowers Labeled 'From Angelus Temple'

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, July 6.—Angelus Temple founded by Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, woman evangelist, today was split as a result of Myrtle Hazel Joan St. Pierre's $200,000 heartache suit against David Hutton, Jr., Aimee's "great unkissed" husband.

That was the belief in the courtroom where the sensational trial lagged as witness followed witness to the stand to testify that "Debonair Dave" did or did not make ardent love to Hazel, an attractive Pasadena "health nurse."

HAZEL GETS FLOWERS

A group that represented itself as from Angelus Temple presented Hazel with a huge basket of flowers. A card read:

"To Hazel with best wishes from Angelus Temple."

The board of directors met immediately and declared "we have no knowledge of who sent the flowers."

Hazel, smiled as she received the flowers, while Dave's usual smiling evinced keen displeasure over the incident. Aimee, ill at a mountain resort, was not advised of the incident.

Mrs. Lillian J. Casey, formerly an actress, a surprise witness, testified that private detectives for Hutton had offered to "make it worth my while" to testify against Hazel.

HUTTON DENIES KISSING

Mrs. Casey, pointing to Roy Watkins, an Angelus Temple attache, testified:

"One of the private detectives complimented my figure and said my legs were better looking than Miss St. Pierre's, and me the mother of four children!"

Another witness, superintendent of a hospital, testified that Hazel, as a hospital patient, had registered as "Mrs. Eben," the wife of a radio organist.

Concluding his appearance as a witness, Hutton denied he ever had kissed, hugged or "petted" Hazel, and under questioning admitted that he was "the great unkissed."

Weather Conditions.

A low pressure area is centered north of Lake Superior and a trough formation extends southwestward from there to the Far Southwest, with a secondary center over Western Nebraska. Over the Atlantic Coast states, the southern states and the Far Northwest pressure is relatively high. Showers and thunderstorms were general during the last 24 hours over the Middle Atlantic states, the Ohio Valley states and the southern states as far west as the Panhandle of Texas. The rainfall was heavy along the Ohio River and at a few other places, in Oklahoma and Arkansas. Temperature changes were slight, but the tendency is towards rising.

Not Guilty!

MRS. ELVIRA D. BARNEY

Mrs. Barney, today acquitted in London of the murder and manslaughter counts against her in the death of Thomas William Scott Stephen, her admirer.

BEAUTY FAINTS IN COURT ON ACQUITTAL

Wife of American Singer Exonerated by Jury in Death of Mayfair Admirer

LONDON, July 6.—(AP.)—Mrs. Elvira Dolores Barney, accused of murdering her admirer, Thomas William Scott Stephen, was acquitted by a jury today of both murder and manslaughter counts against her.

She also was exonerated on another indictment charging intent to do Stephen grievous bodily harm.

The jury was out a little less than two hours.

When she realized that the jury had acquitted her, Mrs. Barney collapsed and was carried from the courtroom practically unconscious.

MOTHER COLLAPSES

Lady Mullens, her mother, also collapsed, but was revived.

Stephen, son of a prominent financier, was fatally shot in Mrs. Barney's apartment on the night of May 31.

The defense was that the pistol was discharged accidentally as the two struggled for its possession. Mrs. Barney testified that she had threatened to commit suicide and that Stephen, seizing her pistol from its hiding place, had started to leave the apartment when she pursued him.

Because of the prominence of both Stephen and Mrs. Barney, the trial has attracted great crowds since Monday, when it began. The spectators for the most part were persons prominent in society and in the arts.

FREED IMMEDIATELY

The defendant was discharged immediately after the verdict was given, but Justice Humphreys, who presided, advised her not to leave Old Bailey Court until crowds had been cleared from the streets in the vicinity.

Justice Humphreys, presiding at the trial, charged the jury that unless it were established that the defendant fired the fatal shot with intent to kill, she could not be convicted.

The charge followed a 90-minute summation by Sir Patrick Hastings, the defense counsel, who repeated Mrs. Barney's own story of her love for Stephen and of the night on which he was killed in her apartment in a struggle for a revolver with which Mrs. Barney had threatened to kill herself. He thundered:

"It is conclusive evidence of her innocence that her fingerprints were not found on the revolver. There is no evidence here upon which you could be asked to hang a cat."

JUDGE LAUDS SPEECH

At the beginning of his charge Justice Humphreys said Sir Patrick's speech for the defense was the finest he ever had heard in a court of law.

Sir Patrick had told the jurors they must not be influenced by scandalous stories of Mrs. Barney's life. He said:

"We don't know her life and we are not considering it. It was not nice for her to have to admit that she had been living with this man, but you must not be unduly prejudiced by that."

He referred to Mrs. Barney's marriage to John Barney, an American vaudeville actor, from whom she separated after a year. He said:

"Her life was tragic, tied to an American brute whom she could not divorce because the law of this land would not allow it. Whatever may have been the character of this man who is dead, she loved him.

STRUGGLE ADMITTED

"We don't know what her temptations may have been. Unpleasant suggestions are easy, but we are not all above suspicion. Even one of us some day may have a daughter of our own for whom we may have to make excuses not easy to make."

Justice Humphreys, summing up the evidence, said:

"There is not the smallest doubt that there was a struggle for this revolver. This woman is not to be convicted of murder unless it is proved that she fired the fatal shot intending at the time to kill the man at whom she was firing."

GIFFORD'S SON HURT; PAL DEAD

BROOKINGS, S. D., July 6.—(AP.)—A vacation trip to Alaska of two sons of American Telephone and Telegraph Company magnates was interrupted here last night by an automobile accident in which one was killed and the other injured.

Edwin Carter, 22, son of E. F. Carter, vice president of the company, died of a broken neck when his automobile crashed through a fence on Highway 14, near Aurora, after failing to make a turn in the road.

Walter Sherman Gifford, 14-year-old son of W. S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, suffered a crushed left arm.

The two youths were en route from New York to Alaska on a pleasure trip. Carter had just graduated from college.

Gifford, just learning to drive, was at the wheel when the accident occurred. He apparently failed to notice the turn in the road, and the car plunged into a ditch, jumped a fence and plowed about 75 feet down a field before stopping.

PAIR SLAIN, HOLD 'OTHER MAN'

LOS ANGELES, July 6.—(AP.)—Irvin S. Liner, 45-year-old unemployed accountant, was held today on a charge of murdering Edwin H. Clarke, 53, retired New Jersey Telephone Company official, and his wife, Mrs. Kendaci Clarke, 55.

Police said Liner confessed he killed the couple with a pistol when they attacked him with a hammer and butcher knife after Clarke had accused him of undue attentions to Mrs. Clarke. Liner denied forcing his attentions on Mrs. Clarke.

Liner was reported to have confessed last night after more than 20 hours of questioning by detectives, who had held him since the finding of the bodies of the couple in their home the night of July 4.

Liner had been a friend of the Clarkes for years.

29 New Cases Put Under Quarantine

The City Department of Health today reports these new cases in quarantine: Scarlet fever, 2; diphtheria, 1; measles, 6; whooping cough, 6; mumps, 2; pneumonia, 11; influenza, 1.

Ex-Pastor Here Wins Cigaret Prize

Members of the fashionable congregation of the Edgewood Presbyterian Church today heard that their recent pastor, the Rev. Victor A. Rule, had won a $100 prize in a cigaret letter-writing contest. The Rev. Mr. Rule left Pittsburgh more than a month ago. Explanation of his sudden resignation never has been made.

FLOODS SWEEP OVER W. VA.

PORTSMOUTH, O., July 6.—(AP.)—Three Southern Ohio counties—Pike, Adams and Scioto—were threatened with serious flood situations today. Although many homes in Pike County were inundated and the Scioto and Ohio rivers were rising rapidly, no loss of life was reported. Damage to livestock and growing crops was reported heavy.

The Ohio River was rising at the rate of five inches an hour.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 6.—(AP.)—Over an ever-widening area flood waters continued to take toll of property today and there was no end in sight, for all weather reports predicted more rain.

Confined during the first two days to five Southern West Virginia counties, flood conditions today prevailed in parts of Central West Virginia and over a greater area of the southern part of the state.

The Elk and Kanawha rivers continued to race madly along, laden with little boats, chicken coops, logs and debris. The New River, which was not affected by rains of Monday, started to rise last night after heavy rains in Summers and adjoining counties.

Storm at Latrobe Razes Trees, Poles

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 6.—Trees and telephone poles were levelled and much property damage was done in a windstorm of brief duration which visited the Latrobe section. The entire side of a huge barn on the Ardary farm in Derry Township, was ripped off by the storm while cattle and horses in the structure were uninjured.

Idle, Poisons Self, Asked Wife to Die

Edgar H. Martin, 59, mixed a potion in a glass, invited her to share it with him, and when she refused, drank down enough poison to end his life, Mrs. Anna L. Martin, his wife, told police today. She said she attempted to knock the glass from his hand, but failed.

Martin, unemployed for a long time and despondent, lived at 6338 Aurelia street.

Vitamin Discoverer Weds in Germany

BERKELEY, Cal., July 6.—(AP.)—The marriage of Dr Herbert M. Evans, discoverer of vitamin E and director of experimental biology at the University of California, and Miss Marjorie Sadler, Stanford graduate, was told in messages received here today. They were married in Frieburg, Germany, June 18.

Appendicitis Operation Here Lots of Fun, Sally Starr Says

Never in all her 22 years did Sally Starr, Pittsburgh's blonde contribution to Hollywood, have so much fun as when she had her appendix removed in the Mercy Hospital the other day.

She said so today. Curled up with a good book in the home of her parents in the East End, she said:

"Boy, oh, boy! I'm going right back to Hollywood and tell Garbo and Crawford and Harlow there's nothing like it. All your friends come to see you and bring you things. And the ether was swell. And I lost seven pounds three—that is, three ounces. After my next picture I think I'll give up my tonsils."

Since her operation, Miss Starr, a proud alumna of Peabody High School, has been spending most of her time curling up with good books—especially Shakespeare, because, as she explains, Shakespeare's works are heavier.

Before returning to Hollywood and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Miss Starr would like to take another fling at New York's legitimate stage. Her first, last April, was a good part in a terrific flop. Before lending her blonde charms to Hollywood, Sally, whose offstage name is Sara Kathryn Sturm, played in numerous musicals and revues.

AKRON CRUISES IN BOAT HUNT

NEW YORK, July 6.—(INS.)—The silver-hulled dirigible Akron, the world's largest airship, today soared over the Atlantic Ocean aiding 100 Coast Guard vessels in the far-flung search for trace of the lost ketch Curlew, with six American amateur seamen aboard.

Straining eyes of the Akron's crew failed to find the missing craft early today as they scanned the foam-crested waves.

But when the Akron took off from her hangar at Lakehurst Naval Air Station, N. J., to join in the search, she was stocked with enough fuel and rations to enable her to cruise to Bermuda and return to her starting point without a stop.

The Curlew, one of 27 boats which set out from Montauk Point in a race to Bermuda June 25, has been unreported since.

PLANE ON FIRE, 'CHUTE SAVES 2

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., July 6.—A pilot and his passenger escaped from a burning plane today by parachute leaps.

Pilot Carl Lange, of Belle Vernon, out of the Monessen Airport, and Joe Switlik, of 727 Bellwood street, McKees Rocks, leaped when the plane caught fire 2,000 feet over Adah, near here. Both reached the ground safely. The pilotless plane nose-dived into an oats field, where the tank exploded.

Taken into Adah by the Rev. David Hunter, who witnessed the parachute leap, Lange said:

"Were en route from Monessen to Morgantown when the plane burst into flames. The fire seemed to be around the motor. As the fire swept back into the cockpit, I shouted to Switlik to jump. He did. I shut off the motor, and seeing there was no chance to battle the flames, I went over the side. I was then about 1,800 feet from the ground."

The plane was owned by W. R. Ervin, of Morgantown, W. Va., according to Lange.

Beer Barrel Chairs In Chicago Display

CHICAGO, July 6.—(AP.)—If you have any old beer barrels you can be right in style with outdoor furniture by making tables and chairs out of them.

Outdoor furniture of this kind was displayed yesterday at the summer market of furniture, which opened with some 3,500 buyers present from the United States, Canada and Honolulu.

Funeral of Manuel To Be Held Friday

LONDON, July 6.—(INS.)—The funeral of former King Manuel of Portugal, who died at his home near London on Saturday, was fixed today for Friday.

A high mass will be said at Westminster Cathedral, followed by burial at Weybridge Cemetery, Surrey, where other members of the exiled Portuguese royal family are interred.

THE RED-AND-WHITE-AND-BLUE MONOPLANE CARRYING 1932'S JULES VERNES ON THEIR PLANET-LOOP

Fireworks Toll Low Here, Councilmen Assert

Pittsburgh's accident rate from fireworks and other pyrotechnic displays was lower this Fourth of July than at any other time in the city's history, Councilman Clifford B. Connelley said today, lauding the restricted fireworks ordinance passed by Council last year.

He said:

"Most of the accidents you read about in the papers following July 4 were those that occurred outside the city limits. Our new ordinance restricted the sale of large pyrotechnics and those accidents that did occur were, for the greater part, of little seriousness."

Councilman John S. Herron, who was largely instrumental in having the ordinance passed, instead of a more drastic one drafted by Councilman Robert Garland, said:

"I have studied the accident reports and I find there were few within the city limits. The newspapers have a habit of summarizing all accidents in the district into one story. This makes it appear as if they occurred within the city limits. I am sure the fireworks ordinance has accomplished its purpose."

The ordinance prohibits sale of cannon crackers and large fireworks of any kind.

M'ADOO REPLIES TO ROOSEVELT CRITICS

Praises Acceptance Speech; G. O. P. Charges Surrender To Tammany; Cannon Talks

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP.)—The political talk went on across the land today, stimulated by charges from administration Republicans in Washington that Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt had surrendered to Tammany Hall and that his reforestation program is "utterly visionary and chimerical."

But one of his most ardent supporters, William G. McAdoo, in a New York speech, summarized:

"All this talk of deals and trades is simply and only echoes of a sharp contest and the disappointments that always follow such a battle."

PRAISES ROOSEVELT

He praised the Roosevelt acceptance speech as "masterful," predicting that enough voters would believe in the Governor's program "to see that (he) is enabled to make it effective."

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., insisted at Indianapolis that he had not forecast a Republican victory in his July 4 speech at Ocean Grove, N. J.

He said he had analyzed Democratic and Republican platforms, recalling that the former is for repeal while the latter is "not binding upon any official or member of the G. O. P. Cannon asserted:

"Until Mr. Hoover speaks, final judgment must be reserved."

He added that he had said the Eighteenth Amendment would not be repealed.

The administration criticism came from Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and Senator Moses, of New Hampshire.

Hyle said of the Roosevelt reforestation-employment program:

"This grand project is worthy of the 'economic foresight' of the Governor."

HYDE AS CRITIC

He estimated that a million men could plant a billion trees each day while there are not two hundred million trees in "all the nurseries in America." He continued:

"But suppose there were three hundred million seedling trees available. A million men could plant them in about three hours."

Moses called Roosevelt's July 4 telegram to the Tammany celebration "an auspicious beginning" for the governor's new deal—unless he is dealing from the bottom." Moses said:

"The Fourth of July, 1776, was the day when the United States declared its independence from British domination. The Fourth of July, 1932, was the day when Franklin D. Roosevelt made known his surrender to Tammany Hall."

Roosevelt, at Albany, made no comment, simply smiling broadly at the Moses and Hyde statements. He doubtless was pleased by Jouett Shouse's announcement in Chicago that he would support the Roosevelt-Garner ticket. Shouse is a close friend of Alfred E. Smith.

Roosevelt Sure Many Republicans Will Bolt

ALBANY, N. Y., July 6.—(AP.)—Gov. Roosevelt believes his campaign for the presidency has already won a host of Republican votes.

Many of these votes he considers his because of his speech of acceptance. He supports his belief with stacks of messages, hundreds, he says, from Republicans in all parts of the country, pledging support. Most of the senders have praise for the Chicago speech.

The Governor's staff here is well pleased with the first move in the national campaign, the flight to Chicago and the speech before the convention.

Incidentally the airplane trip to the convention was Gov. Roosevelt's own idea.

It was carried out despite the objections of most of his personal advisers, who wanted him to take a train. But they did favor the trip for in addition to his desire to avoid the expense of bringing a delegation to Albany for a notification ceremony, some of the Roosevelt group believed his personal appearance at the convention would vindicate his physical capacity. The Governor's physical handicap, a retardation of his ability to walk without aid, had been a factor in the consideration of his nomination.

How Roosevelt Will Carry On His Campaign

SHOUSE TO AID ROOSEVELT

CHICAGO, July 6.—(Universal.)—Jouett Shouse, storm center in the Democratic national convention's permanent chairmanship contest, returned to Washington yesterday, after pledging to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt active support in whatever capacity the nominee desired.

Shouse, who took a disorganized and disheartened party organization in 1929 and moulded it into a militant force, winning the Congressional elections of 1930, was defeated for the chairmanship by the Roosevelt forces back of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana.

Observers who believed Shouse would sulk as a result were disappointed. He declared he failed to understand how anyone could believe he would "bolt" any Democratic ticket. He thought he had made it clear that he would support any nominee of the recent convention.

Announcement of any exchange of messages between Gov. Roosevelt and Shouse was expected to issue from Albany, but several leaders of the nominee's forces in the convention indicated the Governor was desirous of having Shouse in a prominent position the high command of the campaign.

MISSING MATE FOUND BEATEN

Nelson Hughes, 36, of 97 Beltzhoover avenue, missing since Saturday, when he failed to appear for an appointment with his wife, is at home with his mother, Mrs. Emma Hughes, today. She said:

"Nelson is unable to remember what happened. He found himself in the hospital, badly beaten and bruised. He wrote me a letter and we brought him home last night."

Humiliation over the fact that his wife, who was regularly employed, earned a bigger salary than he did on part time, caused Hughes to disappear, his brother-in-law, C. E. McCauley, had told the Bureau of Missing Persons.

Hughes left the house Saturday to get a haircut, his mother said. She believes he was beaten and robbed in the Hill district. He had only three cents to send her a letter when he reached the hospital, she said.

Roosevelt Club Formed in Virginia

APPOMATTOX, Va., July 6.—(AP.)—"We surrendered to Grant, but will not surrender to Hoover," is the campaign slogan adopted by 50 Appomattox County citizens meeting here tonight. Assembling not far from the spot where Lee laid down his sword at the end of the war between the states, the group organized what they hoped was the first Roosevelt-Garner club in Virginia and perhaps the nation.

East End Woman, Poison Victim, Dies

Mrs. Myrtle Newman, 35, of 5836 Center avenue, died last night in Homeopathic Hospital from poison taken in her home June 28. No cause for her act could be learned, a Coroner's report indicated.

Roosevelt May Visit Arizona in Campaign

TUCSON, Aris., July 6.—(AP.)—Additions to buildings on the ranch of Mrs. Isabella Greenway, Arizona national Democratic committeewoman, are being constructed in anticipation of a possible visit to the ranch, near Flagstaff, this summer by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee.

Gov. Roosevelt, it was said today at Mrs. Greenway's office, is considering attending the Olympic games in Los Angeles.

G. O. P. LEADERS SEEK TO STEM REVOLT

Drys Told Hoover Will Take 'Satisfactory' Stand On Submission Plank

By KENNETH CLARK
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Alarmed by the growing insurgency, Hoover administration leaders in Congress have organized an intensive drive to try to win back dissatisfied Republicans.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's candidacy and the Democratic national platform are causing Republican stalwarts at the Capitol no end of worry. They have decided, therefore, upon a counter offensive to save their political jobs.

Drys are being told, it was learned, that President Hoover, in his acceptance speech, will satisfy them on the prohibition issue. One administration emissary even went so far as to say that the Republican ticket will oppose repeal and return of beer or light wines.

Overtures thus far have made slight headway with congressional dry leaders. The drys feel, as Senator Borah, of Idaho, recently told the Senate, that the Republican prohibition straddle plank means repeal and that nothing the President can say or do will alter that fact.

It is unlikely that on the dry issue, therefore, the President can win back Borah or other militant prohibitionists.

Wickersham Urges U. S. Cut Expenses

NEW YORK, July 6.—(INS.)—Prosperity will return with the reduction of governmental expenditures, George W. Wickersham, former United States Attorney General, declared in a radio address, in which he called upon the people of the state to start organizing today to force reduction of taxes.

He blamed the indifference of the taxpayers for the rapidly mounting cost of municipal, state and federal administration.

Stewart to Speak At Lions' Luncheon

Claire M. Stewart, district governor, will make his farewell appearance before the Lions' Club, of Pittsburgh, at its weekly luncheon tomorrow in the Fort Pitt Hotel. The club's directors will meet tonight to discuss important organization subjects.

GARNER, CURTIS SLATED FOR STUMP

Vice Presidential Nominees May Wage Barnstorming Duel to Capture West

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Two rugged vice presidential candidates who scoff at advancing years today were slated to wage a barnstorming duel in the Democratic and Republican battles to capture the West.

Both Vice President "Charley" Curtis and Speaker "Cacatus Jack" Garner, nominees of their parties for second place on the national ticket, are being counted on by political pilots to do much of the heavy work of the campaign.

While Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt will make several trips from Albany, and President Hoover plans a few speeches in large cities, Curtis and Garner are expected to travel both the highways and the byways. Vice President Curtis said:

"I expect to do a lot of campaigning this fall. I will be glad to meet Mr. Garner on the stump."

The Speaker will keep his own counsel on campaign plans until Congress adjourns, when he expects to go to his ranch home near Uvalde, Tex., for some much-needed rest.

National Chairman James A. Farley, it is known, expects to persuade the Speaker to make many speeches in the South and West. Both the vice presidential candidates probably will appear in the East as well.

'Accident Dodgers' Sought by State

State highway patrolmen have opened a campaign against "accident report dodgers" who drive away from accidents, they reported to the Automobile Club of Pittsburgh. S. S. Scott, legal adviser to the club, explained that accidents in which persons are injured or damage of $50 or more results must be reported to the state.

Soldiers Returning From War Zone Hurt

MANILA, July 6.—(AP.)—The 31st United States Infantry returned to Manila today to suffer its first casualties since sailing for war-torn Shanghai five months ago.

During the landing of the approximately 1,200 officers and men from the transport Republic, a gangplank slipped and fell 50 feet, injuring four enlisted men.

Smith Mum on Story Of Governor Boom

NEW YORK, July 6.—(Universal.)—Alfred E. Smith yesterday refused to comment when he was told of reports about drafting him as a candidate for governor. Spending an extended week-end at the Far Rockaway home of his son, Arthur, he replied negatively to every question put to him.

Despondent Woman Drinks Ammonia

Mrs. Jean Hessler, 27, was in Allegheny General Hospital today suffering from the effects of household ammonia, which police say she swallowed in her home, 711 Eloise street, North Side. Police learned she had been despondent over illness, they said.

WHARF REVENUE SHOWS GAIN

Parking receipts at the three municipal wharves for June were $5,581.90, an increase of $999.50 over the $4,582.20 collected in the same period last year, when the stations were under the police bureau, City Treasurer Richard W. Thompson announced today.

Council placed operation of the wharves in Thompson's hands early this year, declaring inefficient operation had resulted in loss of revenue.

The Bureau of Traffic Planning asked Council today to permit advertising for contracts to purchase traffic equipment totaling $15,000. Money to purchase the equipment was provided in the bureau's 1932 budget.

Woman Falls Dead At New Kensington

Mrs. Clara Lytle, 31, of 708 Third avenue, New Kensington, collapsed while walking with her three children along the Allegheny River near the New Kensington ice plant last night and was pronounced dead on arrival at the Citizen's General Hospital, according to a Coroner's report. Death was attributed to a heart attack. She is the mother of four children.

Painter Dies After Fall Down Shaft

Al Pietz, 37, a painter, who gave his address as Duquesne University, died last night in Mercy Hospital from a fractured skull suffered earlier when he fell in an elevator shaft in which he was working in the Fitzimmons Building, 331 Fourth avenue. The accident occurred when a rope suspending a swinging seat broke.

Dates for Voters To Qualify for November Polls

AINEY CHARGES GIVEN SENATE BY PINCHOT

Governor Says They Are So Serious as to Call for Probe of Mitten Records

HARRISBURG, July 6.—(AP.)—Charges of misconduct in office against Chairman William D. B. Ainey, of the Public Service Commission, last night were formally transmitted to the Senate by Gov. Pinchot.

The Governor sent it a copy of the charges of A. A. Chapman, former secretary to the late Thomas E. Mitten, former head of Philadelphia Rapid Transit. The charges are that Ainey received money from Mitten, met him secretly while the Philadelphia Rapid Transit fare increase application was pending before the Commission, and collaborated with Mitten in preparing publicity setting forth the Philadelphia Rapid Transit case in the fare increase application.

AINEY'S REPLY

When the Governor made the charges public last week, Chairman Ainey replied that they were "so" apparently a blackmailing scheme" and that he would prove to the Governor and the public "the correctness of and honesty of my position in this matter." He said the charges were "baseless as well as unfounded."

After the Governor's letter had been read, the Senate adopted with only one dissenting vote, a motion to lay the communication on the table. Senator Chapman, of Warren, voted against the motion. The motion was made by Senator McClure, of Delaware, who said that he presented it because the public hearing for Chairman Ainey to defend himself will not be held until next Monday.

PINCHOT'S LETTER

Gov. Pinchot said in his letter to the Senate:

"I have given Chairman Ainey an opportunity, on July 11 next, to be heard publicly in his own defense, as provided by Article 4, Section 15 of the Public Service Company law. Mr. Chapman's charges are serious enough to warrant investigation in such manner as your honorable body may deem wise. I shall welcome your co-operation through the appropriate committee, or otherwise."

TOBACCO HEIR KILLS SELF

brought Ed Walker, a close friend of the Reynolds. He rushed the wounded youth to a hospital where he died shortly after 5 o'clock.

Walker told police the guests at the dinner party had just departed. Walker was to spend the night at the Reynolds home.

SHOT HEARD

Reynolds went upstairs to change into street clothes in order to drive downtown for a few minutes with Walker. His wife went upstairs with him and was on the same floor when a shot was heard. Walker said:

"I heard Mrs. Reynolds screaming. I rushed upstairs and found Reynolds on the sleeping porch with a bullet wound in his head. I took him to the hospital.

"I do not know how Reynolds shot himself, but it must have been accidental. Perhaps he intended taking the gun downtown with him, and was cleaning it, or had just loaded it when it was discharged."

H. Dunn Reynolds, uncle of the youth, said there was no reason why Reynolds should have killed himself.

The gun, an automatic of expensive German make, was found on the floor beside the body.

WED LAST SPRING

Reynolds, heir to $20,000,000 left by his father, the late William N. Reynolds, tobacco manufacturer, married Miss Holman some time last spring.

The marriage was announced May 20 when the Broadway blues singer and the young sportsman registered at the Hotel Ambassador. The stage star said at the time:

"We're dreadfully happy."

It was the second matrimonial venture for young Reynolds. In 1929, when he was 18, he married Anne L. Cannon, 19, a daughter of Joseph F. Cannon, textile manufacturer, at York, S. C. She divorced him in Reno last November, obtaining a settlement of $1,000,000. He had flown her to Reno in his airplane. She has since remarried. They have a daughter, aged 2.

Communist Starts Sentence for Speech

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—(INS.)—Israel Lazar, a Communist, was committed to the Eastern Penitentiary yesterday to begin serving a sentence of two to four years for denouncing the government during a speech he made here in August, 1928.

Lazar was convicted of sedition of 1930. An appeal was taken to the Superior Court and the appellate tribunal affirmed the conviction. An appeal was then taken to the United States Supreme Court. The Federal Court dismissed the appeal for want of jurisdiction.

Window in Cow To Aid Test Of Foods

ST. PAUL, July 6.—(AP.)—Speaking of operations—

Dr. L. B. Clausen, North St. Paul veterinarian, studying what certain foods do to cows, plans to install a small glass window in the side of one so he can see exactly what goes on inside. He said:

"It won't hurt the cow, and she should get along as well with the window in her side as she does now."

BRIDGE REPAIR PLAN STUDIED

An appropriation of $270,000 to rebuild the Smithfield Street Bridge was to be acted on today by City Council's committee on finance.

Public Works Director Edward G. Lang yesterday pointed out the necessity of repairs which he said would put the bridge in first-class condition for 25 to 30 years. Aluminum alloy construction will be used, lessening the dead load and increasing the traffic load at all times, Lang said.

The work will await the completion of the new West End Bridge.

Lang recommended closing of the Herron Avenue Bridge, because of its dangerous condition, and said $110,000 would be needed for repair. Council took this recommendation under advisement.

HOOSIERS WIN BRIDGE PLAY

CLEVELAND, July 6.—(INS.)—An Indianapolis contract pair team, Walter Pray and Joseph E. Cain, today won the all-American contract pair championship in the final round of play after an all-night session.

Championship play with 16 surviving teams got underway shortly before midnight last night after two preliminary rounds had lasted throughout the day and early evening. Fifty-four pairs were entered in the competition.

The winning team finished with a score of 600. P. Hal Sims and Edward Hymes, New Yorkers, placed second with a percentage of 585.

Contract team-of-four competition was started this afternoon, with finals slated for tonight. The tournaments will be concluded tomorrow with the auction team-of-four event.

Husband Alienated, Wife Sues Daughter

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 6.—(AP.)—Mrs. Clara L. Bates, wife of George C. Bates, a retired banker of Columbus, Ga., yesterday filed a $200,000 alienation of affections suit against Hallam Burr, motion picture actor, and his wife, Elizabeth. Burr is known on the screen as Hallam Cooley. Mrs. Burr is Bates' daughter by a prior marriage. The complaint said Mrs. Burr threatened to commit suicide unless her father separated from his second wife.

W. Va. Airman Plans Trans-Atlantic Hop

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 6.—(INS.)—Charles Lutz, attached to the airport at White Sulphur Springs, announced today that he is planning a round trip solo flight across the Atlantic ocean with West Virginia as his starting point and destination.

FARMERS ASK MILK PERMIT

Numerous farmers living on or near the old Butler plank road, Perry Highway and Babcock boulevard, appeared before Examiner W. E. Best, of the Public Commission and requested a certificate to haul milk be granted Michael A. Doman, of Valencia.

Doman is operating a refrigeration service, serving about 150 farmers, who ship their milk to eight Pittsburgh dairies, it was testified, but without having been granted a certificate. There was no protest to granting it. As one interstate concern now has a certificate operating in part of the same territory, Examiner Best directed notice be given it.

Shooting at Crows, Boy Wounds Mother

NEWCOMERSTOWN, O., July 6.—Mrs. George Cronebach, living six miles north of Newcomerstown, was accidentally shot in both legs yesterday when she walked in front of her 14-year-old son while he was shooting crows with shotgun.

DEVICE AIDS MAIL PLANES

CHICAGO.—(INS.)—Air mail and express may in the future be picked up and delivered by planes traveling at full speed through an invention of Dr. Lytle S. Adams, of the industrial department of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

The invention consists of a "thimble," closed at one end, the other end being just large enough to admit a metal ball. This ball hangs on the end of a cable that is let down from the plane or dirigible.

The thimble is fastened to the mail sack and is placed in a chute, wide at one end, narrow at the other. The plane swoops down, trailing the metal ball at the end of its cable. The ball enters the chute and is guided into the thimble, which is at the narrow end. With the ball engaged in the thimble, the mail or express is pulled aloft on the cable.

In consequence of indorsement given Dr. Adams' invention by the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee, plans are under way for a 300-mile air mail and express delivery service to radiate out of Chicago.

Postmaster's Salary Raised, Then Cut

OIL CITY, Pa., July 6.—The salary of Oil City's postmaster, recently increased from $4,000 to $4,200, has been reduced 8.3 per cent under the government's economy measure. Clerks are affected similarly.

ECONOMY URGED AT NORTH SIDE MARKET

13 Persons Used to Maintain One Building; Real Estate Board Cites Heavy Costs

The city is using 13 employes to operate the one building of the North Side Market House compared with seven persons on the staff of the Market House Association, which is now running four buildings comprising the Diamond Market.

The association, composed of stand owners in the Diamond Market, recently took over the management of the buildings on a lease, paying $10,000 a year net to the city.

With the closing of this deal, the 26 city employes, supposed to work at the Diamond Market, were dismissed or transferred.

CLEANING CONTRACT LET

The market house men put the management of the buildings on a business basis by hiring four cleaners, elevator operators and one watchman in place of the 26. The general cleaning was let by contract at a price less per year than the total annual pay of the city laborers.

The Diamond Market has never been cleaner and more attractive than at present, according to patrons. Old-fashioned refrigeration has been replaced by electric equipment paid for by the stand owners.

At the North Side Market, a city payroll of 13 carries on the work. The city budget provides $42,483 for the year's operation. Last year the city received $44,902 in rentals and a decline is indicated this year.

ECONOMY CHANCE SEEN

According to the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, the city could reduce the operating cost of the market without curtailing service.

Previous to its lease, the Diamond Market was losing the city approximately $23,000 a year without allowing for interest and sinking fund on a $110,000 bond issue.

Council brought in a net revenue of $10,000 a year and wiped out an annual expenditure of approximately $75,000 as against receipts from rentals of about $52,000. The $10,000 a year now covers the sinking fund requirements on the bond issue. A recent lease of space for a skating rink comes close to covering the $4,675 annual interest.

At the South Side Market the same method has been followed, the city now receiving $1,000 a year net against a pervious annual loss of more than $8,000.

N. Y. C. Asks to Close Two Clearfield Lines

CLEARFIELD, Pa., July 6.—Abandonment of passenger service on two branch lines in Clearfield County is sought by the New York Central Railroad in a petition to the Public Service Commission. The road asks permission to abandon passenger service on the 48-mile line between Cherry Tree and Clearfield, and on the 54-mile line between Clearfield and Keating. Increased losses are given as the cause.

Fall in Wheeling Jail Fatal to Man

LISTENING IN Dance Music, Buffalo Fete ON THE AIR

Gibson, Buc Pilot, Talks On WCAE

George Gibson, manager of the first-place Pirates, tells the story of the rise of the Pittsburgh ball club to the position of a pennant contender when he is interviewed by Charles J. Doyle, baseball expert of the Sun-Telegraph, during the Trained Seals broadcast from WCAE tonight at 6:55. Others participating in the program include Julius Levin, sports scribe, and Marian Salmon, pianist. Harry Keck, sports editor of the Sun-Telegraph, is master of ceremonies.

Mr. Gibson

Commemorating the anniversary of the birth of John Paul Jones, naval hero of the Revolutionary War, a special dramatic production depicting the battle of the "Bon Homme Richard" and the British man o' war, the "Serapis," is presented over an NBC network including WCAE tonight at 8:30.

Joining in the celebration of the city of Buffalo's 100th birthday, being observed from July 1 to July 10, the Buffalo Symphony Orchestra of 75 pieces, under the baton of John Ingram, presents a centennial program over a coast-to-coast NBC network, including WCAE, tonight at 10:30. Sharing honors is Rose Bamton, Metropolitan Opera Company star and native of Buffalo.

The Coffee Concert Orchestra and the Island Boat Club Dance, replacing the Sherlock Holmes stories for the summer, reverse their broadcasting schedules beginning tonight. The Boat Club Dance, a program of popular music featuring Billy Artz and his orchestra and the Foursome, a male quartet, will be heard weekly over an NBC network, including KDKA. Wednesday nights at 9. The Coffee Concert Orchestra, presenting classical and semi-classical selections under the direction of Graham Harris, switches to WCAE, beginning tomorrow night.

Program Pointers

Three well-known contraltos, one a Pittsburgh concert and church singer, are featured in classical and semi-classical programs on KDKA and WCAE tonight. Sarah Logan, who has sung frequently for Pittsburgh radio listeners, presents a half-hour program of classical songs from KDKA at 8:15. . . . On WCAE at 8, Josephine Jirak, concert and operatic star, is heard over an NBC-WEAF network for the first time when she appears as guest artist with Johnny Hart on the Big Time presentation . . . An hour later, at 9 p. m., Merle Alcock, who was heard as guest artist on the Melody Moments program on KDKA last week, makes her first appearance with the Revelers Quartet and Victor Young and his Orchestra over WCAE.

Miss Logan

Ward Wilson, NBC mimic, furnishes circus atmosphere on KDKA at 7:15 with impersonations of peanut vendors and of barkers of side show curiosities.

"Symptoms of Appendicitis" is the topic of of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen's "Adventures in Health" talk over WJAS at 10:15.

Representative Fred M. Vinson, of Kentucky, speaks on "How to Relieve the Burden of Double Taxation" during the American Taxpayers' League program over KDKA at 8.

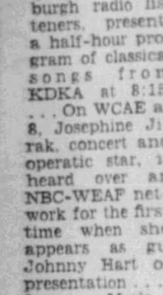
A medley of favorite campus songs and an old popular number, "Are You Sorry," are included on Whispering Jack Smith's program with the Hummingbirds and Arnold Johnson's orchestra over KDKA at 10:15.

The Westinghouse Watchmen present a half-hour of popular songs, including "Lazy Day" and "Say It With Music," with the KDKA Orchestra at 6:15.

* * *

Fan Fare

With Harry Frankel away on his vacation, Paul Dumont, announcer and production man, now an important radio executive of an advertising agency, will be heard leading the Sunday night singing school of Clem Cutler, the Old Singin' Master. Dumont, who has been connected with radio since its early days, will not take over the role of Clem during the broadcasts, but will be heard only as "Paul," one of the members of the school, who is leading the singing in Clem's absence.



Mr. Dumont

Three bona fide sisters now comprise the Pickens Sisters trio . . . Patti has gone to New York to join Jane and Helen, replacing the third songster who, it was just revealed, was a sister only in name.

Paul Whiteman plans to renew his search for radio talent . . . Starting next week, he'll hold a series of auditions, which also will include one for new songs.

Frank Luther writes song lyrics for his own amusement and many times for his own profit . . . His latest venture was new verses, in English, for the Russian folk song, "Dark Eyes."

Shields' Political Review on WCAE

Mark Shields, political editor of the Sun-Telegraph, who recently returned from Chicago, where he covered the Democratic and Republican National conventions, analyzes the national and state situation during his weekly political review from WCAE tonight at 6. Mr. Shields is in Harrisburg today and his comments will be read by one of his associates.

An educational series dealing with Pennsylvania woodlands and their plants by William Darrah is heard throughout July during the children's programs, scheduled Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 4:45. The series stresses the characteristics of poisonous plants.

Jeanne Clasky and Paul Gannon, vocalists, are featured with David Levin's Orchestra and Pat Haley, master of ceremonies, during the Sun-Telegraph Nite Club of the Air on WCAE tonight at 11.

A talk of interest to all women is heard during the "Reflections of Madelon's Mirror" broadcast on WCAE tomorrow morning at 10:30.

50 CHEVROLET and PLYMOUTH AUTOMOBILES

2-Door, 5-Passenger, Fully-Equipped Sedans

To Be Given Away! FREE

In the New, Fascinating, Timely

Open to Everyone—Men and Women—Boys and Girls

Readers of the Sun-Telegraph are invited to participate in the new Jig-Saw Presidential Game in which 50 automobiles—Plymouth and Chevrolets—will be given away as prizes. No fad has taken a greater hold on the American public in recent months than Jig-Saw puzzles. These fascinating brain teasers are not new as an idea, but like cross-word puzzles, ping pong and other recreations of this sort, they have come back to absorb the interest of thousands—sweeping the country from coast to coast with a degree of attention and interest that they never before enjoyed or commanded. The idea of employing the map of the United States as a Jig-Saw puzzle and employing the Presidential campaign as a part of the contest, makes the Jig-Saw Presidential Game all the more timely—a combination of two topics that are just now attracting nation-wide attention.

VOICE AGITATES MAUDE ADAMS IN COMEBACK

Former 'Peter Pan' Star Tells of Recent Tour; Retains Old-Time Charm

NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP.)—The sound of her own voice frightened Maude Adams when she returned to the state after a 12-year absence, she confessed yesterday, talking over her season's tour in "Merchant of Venice" with Otis Skinner.

She told Ward Morehouse, of the New York Sun, with the shyness that used to be a theater legend:

"The sound of my own voice had a strange, terrifying effect on me."

No longer the airy-footed Peter Pan who thrilled a generation of children with her magic stage flying, the Maude Adams of today has the same soft laugh, the same ethereal quality of face and gesture, the same charm in her smile as of old.

TROUPING EXCITING

She found trouping "just as exciting" as it used to be. There used to be uncertainty because of railroad connections, she explained, but now it is because of theaters changing hands so rapidly. She said:

"We played in some strange, quaint places, in some tremendous big houses, too. The biggest, I think, was in Houston, Tex. There I had laryngitis, but they told me it would be all right—that in that house they couldn't hear beyond the third row, anyhow."

In one Louisiana town, the river had overflowed and the banks failed. In Missoula, Mont., she had to wait over 12 hours for a train.

Of Denver and San Francisco, she said:

"They don't like us much in either place."

In Salt Lake City, where she was born, "they were lovely."

TO FOLLOW STAGE

The Maude Adams of today is interested in aviation, though she never has flown, in politics she is a repealist—though she served non-alcoholic punch. She may appear on Broadway next fall in a "1932 play, something good and modern. She expects to be on the stage from now on.

Still in her employ are the two faithful Marys, Reilly and Gorman, who were part of the Adams tradition of inaccessibility to interviewers and sometimes to visitors, too.

Once Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, then Alice Roosevelt, was denied entrance by one of the Marys, Miss Adams related. The caller protested:

"But I'm the President's daughter."

"I don't care. If you're the President himself, Miss Adams is asleep."

Reno Boom Cracks, Divorce Seekers, Tourists Pass On

By FRANK G. MENKE
International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—The Reno boom has gone boom-boom.

The City of the Plateau of the Sierras, which became a fizzy, whizzy purlieu 18 months or so ago when wide open gambling and easier divorces were vogue, has relapsed into something akin to lassitude.

It was a rip snorting, pyrotechnical, high pressure spot through spring, summer and into the autumn of last year. Then came the beginning of the transformation. Fewer prospective divorcees fluttered off trains and tourists began to drive right through without exercising stop-over privileges.

Fresh jobs for divorce lawyers became fewer and fewer and fresh money for tossing into the maws of the gambling places became more and more a legend. The townsfolk either are too smart to flirt with roulette wheels, dice, faro bank, bird cages and similar games this year, or their entire available supply of coonskins long since has passed into the hands of gambling house proprietors—and left them only the role of onlooker.

In the spring many of the spots that were places of revelry and high jinks a year before had closed their doors. Others hung on grimly, anticipating that patronage would return. There was the wild hope that the Baer-Levinsky brawl on July 4 would bring a vast army—with money.

But the holiday influx was small. And those who came to gamble used 5-cent chips on the wheel and two-bit pieces in the dice game. Crowds would gather and gaze curiously and in awe whenever a man was located who had enough cash to lay as much as $10 on the line and begin his speech about the new shoes that baby needed.

Hotel keepers and rooming house proprietors who took full advantage of the golden opportunity of a year ago to ask double-top prices for lodging, now are angling for guests—without luck. The exodus continues, and thousands who sought Reno for habitation because of jobs in hotels, restaurants, gambling places, etc., long since have gone.

Divorce seekers are few and becoming fewer, and those who are parked there are neither frivolous nor gay, perhaps because they are minus funds for purposes other than to live modestly and pay the legal fees.

A wit announced that there was a plan afoot to give Reno back to the Indians, but this was found to be quite impossible, because the Indians, hearing about it, and being canny, had fled.

Pastors Say Mayor At 'Naughty' Smoker

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 6.—The Beaver Falls Ministerial Association has named Mayor C. W. Calvin as one of those attending the alleged indecent smoker, held here some time ago.

This naming of the mayor followed an allegation of "meddling" made by the mayor against the Ministerial Association. It was the alleged failure of the mayor to investigate the smoker that resulted in the tilt between the association and the mayor.

MERGER FEES AGAIN SOUGHT

CLEVELAND, July 6.—(AP.)—Attorneys who successfully opposed the merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, continued arguments today seeking to prove their claim to $1,000,000 in fees from the Youngstown concern.

The hearing is before the Seventh District Court of Appeals. A previous hearing before Attorney John T. Scott, of Cleveland, special referee, resulted in his decision that the claim was not justified.

Attorney Luther Day argued yesterday that the defeat of the merger saved Sheet and Tube $53,000,000.

Day was one of the lawyers hired by the forces of Cyrus S. Eaton to prevent the merger proposed by the two companies in 1929. Eaton and his associates won a temporary injunction and later the merger contract was dropped without carrying the court battle to a secondary conclusion.

Col. Leckie Denies Finding Treasure

PANAMA CITY, July 6.—(AP.)—Col. J. E. Leckie, head of a Vancouver, B. C., expedition which is searching for buried treasure on Cocos Isle, off the coast of Costa Rica, radioed the United States Naval Reserve Station at Balboa last night that reports the treasure had been uncovered were unfounded.

URGES FEDERAL MARRIAGE LAW

CHICAGO, July 6.—(AP.)—Judge Harry B. Miller, of the Superior Court of Cook County, who has presided over the trial of hundreds of divorce cases, in an article released for publication today, urged that the marriage and divorce laws be federal laws rather than state.

The conflicts between the enactments of the various states constitute a legal fallacy, Judge Miller pointed out, and destroy the sanctity of marriage and its social benefits. He added:

"The law of God teaches that the love of husband and wife supersedes all other love and affection. Civil laws closely follow the Divine edict in making the marital relationship more successful in its fruition. No nation can be strong physically or morally if that nation lightly regards marriage and divorce."

WARWICK, England, July 6.—(INS.)—Justice McCardie, England's famous bachelor jurist who has been involved in numerous controversies concerning matrimony, today criticised the law prohibiting the marriage of girls under the age of 16. He said:

"The law is imperfect. It should be relaxed in special cases."

Escaped Rockview Prisoner Captured

BELLEFONTE, Pa., July 6.—(AP.)—Raymond Van Fesson, of Beaver County, was captured last night about seven hours after he had escaped from Rockview Penitentiary.

Coal Dealer Slain In Kentucky Holdup

FLORENCE, Ky., July 6.—(AP.)—Allen Heath, 62, Newport (Ky.) coal dealer, was shot to death by one of four bandits in a holdup near here last night.

Albert Ungerbuehler, owner of the Cincinnati Brush and Mop Manufacturing Company, said the robbers' automobile forced their car from the road.

Body of Assistant At Harvard Found

ASHLAND, N. H., July 6.—(AP.)—The body of Adelaide Ames, who drowned June 26 in Squam Lake, was recovered yesterday. Miss Ames, 31, research assistant at the Harvard University Observatory, Cambridge, Mass., lost her life while on a canoe trip.

Weddings bells are still ringing merrily, and will keep on ringing for a few more days, I'm glad to say, for weddings are romantic moments, aren't they?

Today's bride will be Sarah Elizabeth Rhodes, daughter of the junior Will A. Rhodeses, of Beeler street, who'll wed Donald Laird Hankey, son of the New Kensington W. L. Hankeys, at 5 o'clock this afternoon in Shadyside Presbyterian Church, the scene of many nuptials of note.

The bride's uncle, the Rev. Dr. John M. Gaston, will be the officiant. Ferns and spring flowers in blue and yellow tones will deck the church. And the same color motif will be the setting in the bridal party for the bride's ivory satin and lace costume.

Satin Gown

A shimmery gown of ivory satin and Alencon lace will be worn by the bride, who will be given in marriage by her father. The sleeves will be long and tight-fitting and the dress will have a train of satin, falling from the waistline. The neckline of the gown is draped in cowl fashion. From a cap of Alencon lace having a wreath of orange blossoms fashioned of pearls, will cascade her veil of tulle. She will carry calla lilies.

Ruth Christine Kohne, the maid of honor, will march in the bridal procession in a gown of yellow chinon having cape sleeves and an apron effect of blue and yellow. Her hat will be of yellow crocheted straw, turned up in the back and trimmed with flat organdy flowers. She will carry blue delphinium and yellow gladioli.

Delphinium blue chiffon gowns in similar style, with apron effects of blue and yellow, with blue crocheted hats, will be worn by the bridesmaid, Dorothy Sarah Hankey, sister of the bridegroom; Jane Morgan, of Edgewood and Virginia Koch, of Pittsburgh.

Men in Party

Lewis Morgan, of Edgewood, will be best man, and William and George Hankey, brothers of the bridegroom, Charles Hankey, a cousin, Wayne Lessig and Dr. Raymond Wilson, of New Kensington; and Tom L. Mowry, of Alliance, O., a cousin of the bride, will be ushers.

A reception in the Edgewood Country Club will follow, and then a dinner. At the wedding the mother of the bride will wear powder blue chiffon with a blue straw braid hat, and the mother of the bridegroom will be in beige chiffon with a hat to match. Both will have corsages of orchids. At the bride's table, the decorations will be in white and gold.

SUMMER WARDROBE OF SAME MATERIAL

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, July 6.—Pajamas and beach dress, street coat and dressing gown, all of matching material — this is the fashionable program for beach resort wear in France this year. Pick out a fabric whose color and pattern pleases you, make it up into an entire wardrobe and you follow the current Paris recipe for smartness.

* * *

SERIES of coats, suits and dresses of the same materials appeared in several fashion collections recently. One designer goes so far as to make bathing suits and evening dresses on the same general plan, so that each woman may be easily identified by her clothes, whether on the beach or at dinner. In this case, the bathing suits are of jersey and the dresses of silk, but the coloring and pattern of the fabric is the same.

* * *

JEAN CHARLES WORTH, designer for the famous old Rue de la Paix fashion house, shows clothes of this type for mid-summer wear. He has chosen, especially, a brightly striped crepe de chine, in navy blue and white, to make several costumes for Southern resorts.

ONE OF THE Worth costumes is pictured—a beach pajama, made of this striped fabric. The pajamas have been so planned that the stripes all take to diagonal lines, accenting the lines of the natural figure without a too-fitted effect.

DEBTS TANGLE MAY BE PUT UP TO HOOVER

European Conferees Fail To Reach Settlement, Turn Towards President

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT
International News Service.

LAUSANNE, July 6.—President Hoover may be asked to arbitrate the tangled reparations problem, it was learned by International News Service today.

Despairing of bringing Chancellor Franz von Papen, of Germany, and Premier Edouard Herriot, of France, together in a final agreement, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, of Britain, is seriously considering leaving the whole question open to arbitration.

HOOVER FAVORED

President Hoover is generally favored for the post of mediator, owing to traditional position of the United States as arbitrator in international disputes.

There is some question, however, as to whether President Hoover would accept the task owing to the complications involved in the war debt question.

Hugh Gibson, American Ambassador to Belgium, is due here later in the day to invite heads of the various delegations to attend a dinner tonight in honor of former Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg at Geneva. This visit will give Premier MacDonald an opportunity to raise the question.

Meanwhile, 3,000,000,000 marks (approximately $750,000,000) to be paid in installments, was forecast as final figure which Germany will agree to pay in a lump sum reparations contribution. Whether this agreement will be reached here or through arbitration is still a question.

VON PAPEN WILTS

Under Premier MacDonald's fire, Chancellor von Papen was reported ready to drop his political demands provided the new agreement replaces the reparations clauses of the treaty of Versailles and thereby erases from Germany the stigma of war guilt.

Premier MacDonald told M. Herriot of the change in von Papen's attitude.

Herriot's demand for a safety clause altering the agreement if America insists upon war debt payments was no longer considered a serious obstacle by the British because of the necessity for parliamentary ratifications in any event.

League of Nations Asks Turkey to Join

GENEVA, July 6. — (INS.) — Turkey was formally invited into membership in the League of Nations in a resolution adopted by the League assembly today.

Boy, 4, Rescues Sister From River

BURLINGTON, Wis., July 6.—(AP.)—Little Johnny Webster is 4 years old and a hero who doesn't appreciate why everyone is making a fuss over him.

Johnny and his 2-year-old sister, Mary Lou, were playing on a pier in the White River Saturday when the little girl fell into the water. Johnny lay on the pier, and with both hands grasped her hair. He held her head above water and yelled. His cries attracted their mother, Mrs. John Webster.

Chicago Family 'Feels' Distant Earthquakes

CHICAGO, July 6.—(INS.)—Meet the Hagerty family, whose "feeling in the bones" registers earthquakes. Patrick Hagerty, the father, said he had the "feeling" and saw an electric light cord sway at the time of the last quake in Chile. Similar manifestations were reported by Patrick, Jr., 20, and Grace Hagerty, 21. The Hagertys claim their intuition has registered three quakes within six years, all confirmed by later news of the events.

ARMS PARLEY READY TO QUIT

GENEVA, July 6. — (INS.)—The disarmament conference, which has been in session for four months under the auspices of the League of Nations is preparing to adjourn until fall with no concrete accomplishments.

President Hoover's proposal for a one-third cut in armaments will be debated in general committee tomorrow and the discussion will continue for the remainder of the week.

But it is realized that in the face of strong opposition from Japan and France, in particular, that the Hoover program has no chance of early adoption.

ADMITS KILLING WIFE'S KIN

BOSTON, July 6. — (INS.)—Charged with shooting and killing his brother-in-law, John C. Harrington, 34, real estate dealer, during a family quarrel today, George M. Clark was placed under arrest pending arraignment later.

Clark, a brother of Mrs. Harrington, is manager of a restaurant here.

The Harrington's, with whom Clark lived, were entertaining Mrs. Frederick W. Emerson, Mrs. Harrington's sister, and her husband, both from Philadelphia, when the shooting occurred.

Clark, police said, admitted the killing, but refused to give a motive beyond saying, "I just did it."

Tank of Gasoline Found After Blaze

Fire Chief Richard Schultz, of Chalfant, today was examining the home of Rudolph Garbinger, 1425 Electric avenue, following a fire that damaged the building early today. Chief Schultz reported to Fire Marshal Thomas L. Pfarr he found gas valves open and a tank of gasoline in the house.

According to Schultz, the family had left last Friday for a vacation. Schultz said the damage amounted to $1,500.

Second Bank Closes In Illinois Town

AURORA, Ill., July 6.—(AP.)—The First National Bank of Aurora failed to open today.

The closure was voted last night by the directors, who said it was necessary because of steady withdrawals. The bank was the largest in Kane County and the second of Aurora's five to close. Its deposits June 30 were $2,886,050.

FEDERAL BOARD FIGHTS POWER FIRM'S SUIT

Asserts Right to Prevent 'Fleecing' of Investors, Protect Public Ownership

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Fighting an attempt to smash the federal water power act, the Federal Power Commission has asserted its right to prevent the "fleecing" of investors, and to protect public ownership and control of hydro-electric sites.

The commission, in a brief published today, urged dismissal of the Appalachian Electric Power Company's suit in the New River case. Contesting this company's demand for a release from regulation, the commission claimed authority to limit financing of plants to "bona fide" security issues.

PUBLIC PROTECTION

"It is not a matter of public utility regulation. It is a matter of keeping the project free from the entanglement of debts for purposes not of benefit to the project.

"It is a matter of preventing the licensee from utilizing the public project as a means of fleecing the public by over-issue of stocks and bonds, or creating the semblance of claims on behalf of investors which might impede the return of the project into government control."

The brief was drawn by six attorneys, headed by Huston Thompson as special assistant to the Attorney General.

COMPLAINT ATTACKED

It marshaled evidence to show that New River is an interstate navigable stream. It sought to upset a ruling by the Attorney General two years ago, favorable to the power interests.

This ruling, said the brief, "was based upon statements inadvertently submitted to the Attorney General regarding New River, which this court will take judicial notice are incorrect."

Regulation the commission seeks to impose was declared to be the same resolution that was imposed by the same agency a decade ago, under the chairmanship of Newton D. Baker. Baker now is chief counsel for the company fighting this regulation.

The company's complaint was attacked as "impertinent, vague, indefinite and uncertain."

Man Faints, Falls From Moving Van

When Frank Gabrelick, 38, of 1326 Sylvan avenue, Homestead, toppled from the top of a moving van in front of his home he caused much excitement in the neighborhood. Those who ran to his aid discovered he was unconscious and believed his neck was broken. He was taken to the Homestead Hospital, but soon reappeared in front of his home and resumed his work. His fall, it was reported, was caused by fainting.

Truck Drivers Will Get Safety Awards

Things I Never Knew Till Now
(Don't skip any and be iggerint!)

That Eskimos' first names have nothing to do with their sex. For instance: Mary could be a man and Henry a woman. Whenever a child is born, it is christened after the most recently deceased tribal member—male or femme.

That a mouthful of banana is better than a dozen glass of water when you've burned your tongue. (Gosh! He knows everything!)

That the phrase "the almighty dollar" was coined by Washington Irving and appears twice in his "The Creole Village" (1837).

That the superstition about walking under a ladder being unlucky is supposed to have come from the fact that in the old days culprits were often hanged from ladders propped up against buildings.

That there is no law prohibiting the total destruction of coins by their owners. You mustn't mutilate money, as who would?

That it isn't true that Indians never had to shave because they were beardless. They were expert plucker outers.

That Jean Nicot, after whom nicotine was named, never used tobacco—and as a result never had much fun.

That in some Chinese theaters two attendants walk around with wet towels and wipe the faces of the audience. They start with the higher priced seats—and then toss the towels to the galleryites.

That Sherman never said it was hell. He said: "If the people raise a howl against my barbarity and cruelty, I will answer that war is war, and not popularity seeking!"

That those who boast that their ancestors came over on the Mayflower probably mean they were "picture brides," which most were.

That the President doesn't pay income tax. (Oh, yeah?)

That the late Duke of Norfolk, worth millions, was once tipped 12 cents by a strange woman who asked him to summon a taxi for her. He kept the money, remarking it was the only money he ever earned in his life.

That the reason most telephone users in France live longer than Americans is that 'phone operators respond with: "I'm listening."

That Christopher Columbus was one of the worst pathological liars. The type who convinces himself first, regardless of how untrue.

That jewelers' clocks are not set at 8:18 because "Lincoln was shot at that time." He was shot at 10:10 p. m.

That "SOS," the distress signal, doesn't mean "Save Our Souls" at all. They use them because they are simple a flash—3 dots—3 dashes—3 dots. Nor did the old "CQD" mean "Come Quick Danger."

That you can become intoxicated on too much bread pudding.

That Washington accepted no salary during the Revolutionary tiff. He took his expenses, however, which were $63,315.

That his name became Ulysses Simpson Grant only because his ritzy sponsor at West Point considered Hiram "too old-fashioned."

That Panama hats are not made in Panama, as popularly supposed. Most of them are made in Peru and Ecuador.

That the reason "In God We Trust" was stamped on our coins is that a Pennsylvania preacher wrote to the Secretary of the Treasury, suggesting that the Deity be recognized on the money.

That another reason why the $2 bills are considered unlucky is that at one time they were confused with ones.

That the von in German names means of or from.

That Alexander Dumas, the French writer, was part Negro.

That Sing Sing, the prison town called Ossining, was originally named Sintsink, after the Indians who dwelled there.

That the desert which Moses took 40 years to traverse can now be crossed in one hour via airplane.

That the name of an Arizona town is: "Total Wreck."

That a certain New York editor still hopes to solve the Elwell murder and works on it on his Sundays off.

That if you dream of flowers then the object of your affection will be true and constant.

That you cannot sue a railroad because you can't get a seat on a train. They merely agree to take you to your destination.

That the reason too many people think spilling salt means a fight is that salt is the symbol of hospitality and friendship.

That psychologists have recently discovered there are only two things people naturally fear—loud noises and a sense of falling. All other fears are acquired.

And that New York is now cluttered up with people who thought that their bosses couldn't get along without 'em.

Katharine Cornell has made arrangements to sail from New York tomorrow for a vacation in Europe. In San Francisco last Saturday she completed a tour in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," which is estimated to have drawn nearly $1,500,000 to the box office in the 16 months Miss Cornell has played in it in the United States. The Besier drama was refused by 27 managers and actors before Miss Cornell produced it herself. Its premiere was in Cleveland on January 29, 1931. It was still going good more than a year later in New York, where she closed to permit a road tour in which included Pittsburgh and ten other cities. In all, she acted the part of Miss Barrett 541 times.

McAdoo Talk In Hearst News

THE GLOBE TROTTER

The sensational climax to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago is fully pictured in the current issue of the Hearst Metrotone News, showing in the Penn, Fulton and other theaters. The pictures first show William G. McAdoo vainly trying to complete his speech transferring the votes of California and Texas to Roosevelt with the galleries in an uproar. Chairman Walsh, unable to quiet the crowd, calls on Mayor Cermak whose appeal finally brings comparative order, then comes McAdoo's announcement.

With the delegates in parade the scenes shifts to Albany where Gov. Roosevelt, his wife and two sons board a plane for Chicago, then their arrival, back to the convention with thousands cheering the Democratic candidate.

HIGHLIGHTS OF SPEECH

The highlights of Roosevelt's speech follow, including that part in which he declares himself 100 per cent for the repeal clause and his declaration that the American people must be given a new deal. The subject ends with scenes of wild enthusiasm, the cheering thousands parading around the hall singing and the bands playing "Happy Days Are Here Again." In addition to the speeches, there is a graphic description of the scenes by The Globe Trotter.

The possibility or the return of the Hohenzollerns to head a monarchistic regime in Germany, is reflected in pictures from Parleberg where former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm is given a tremendous reception at a meeting of the "Steel Helmets," an organization of war veterans. Ten thousand former soldiers cheer Wilhelm as he walks up and down the lines inspecting them, finally joining in a mighty chorus of voices singing "Deutschland Uber Alles."

EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS

Half a million Catholics are shown kneeling in prayer as they attend the open air mass in Phoenix Park, Dublin, Ireland, as one of the final scenes of the Eucharistic Congress. The ceremony is conducted by Cardinal Lauri, papal legate, before a magnificent altar erected in the park. At the conclusion of the mass thousands of voice join in the impressive singing of hymns.

The 9th Bombing Squadron of army planes from March Field, Los Angeles, makes a darking flight through the Grand Canyon. Oblivious to their danger, the pilots guide their big machiens directly into the gorge. One magnificent view shows the Colorado River nearly a mile below.

Grisha Goluboff, 11-year-old violin prodigy, plays in Paris for the benefit of disabled war veterans. Young Grisha, who at 7 was a soloist in the Los Angeles Philharmonic Symphony, amazes the crippled soldiers and the experts with his remarkable playing.

Mae West Reveals Weight Secret

Mae West, the "Diamond Lil" of the New York stage, has seen her first motion picture scene made at the Paramount Hollywood studios.

The scene was a screen test of her as she will appear in "Night After Night," in which she will work with Nancy Carroll, George Raft, Alison Skipworth and Wynne Gibson. She said:

"The last time I was in Los Angeles I played on the stage in 'Diamond Lil.' I looked like 160 pounds in that and many people won't believe it was an expert job of padding, but it was. I weigh 119 now and never have weighed much more than that."

Ben Turpin Will Play 'Self' in Comedy

Ben Turpin, who made roving eyes synonymous with laughter, has the distinction of playing himself in Paramount's comedy of an accidental screen career entitled "Make Me a Star." Turpin's character name in the picture is "Ben Turpin," which is explained by the fact that the comedian was one of the principal characters in the play written by Harry Leon Wilson, George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly on which "Make Me a Star" is based.

Bull Fighter Turns Movie Helper

By HARRISON CARROLL
(Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, July 6.

Newest plan of the busy Samuel Goldwyn is to bring Sidney Franklin, the Brooklyn bull fighter, to Hollywood to act as technical adviser on Eddie Cantor's new comedy, "The Kid from Spain."

Negotiations are under way and as Franklin already has a project in mind on the border, the film city very likely will receive a visit from this country's only native bull fighter.

Eddie Cantor

Observers point out that "The Kid From Spain," as originally written by William Anthony McGuire, was inspired by the life of this Brooklyn youth who won the admiration of the Latins for his proficiency in an art they had regarded as peculiarly their own.

In its final form, the Cantor script is said to have wandered somewhat from the Franklin story. The pride of Brooklyn, however, could give advice and then Mr. Goldwyn, no doubt, has a wily eye on the publicity value of his association.

From Troy Orr comes the story of the embittered writer, whose Eastern guests were asking him the meaning of studio terms.

They queried:

"And what is a lap dissolve?"

The writer flipped:

"A lap dissolve is what a supervisor's secretary does when his wife unexpectedly enters the office."

The reason Colleen Moore hasn't been assigned a picture yet at M. G. M. is Irving Thalberg's dissatisfaction with the story, "Flesh," in which she was to have appeared with Wallie Beery. Now, she may work with Beery in that Russian story . . . The Kenneth Mac Kennas (Kay Francis) are getting their first sight of the inside of a house Ken bought four years ago in Pamet Head, Mass. Passing by one day, he liked the exterior, but was unable to secure the key. As he was in a hurry, he bought the house anyway.

Enroll Cast For Movie

Actual work begins next week on Warner Brothers' and the Philadelphia Company's all-talking "Our Kiddie" comedy which is to be produced with an all-Pittsburgh cast. Hundreds of local children have enrolled, and the cast is to be picked next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the Stanley.

Enrollment cards can be obtained at any Warner Brothers theater in Pittsburgh. The entrant must sign one card and the parents one. One card admits the entrant to the Stanley next Sunday afternoon. Any child under 16 years of age is eligible to enroll.

All scenes are to be filmed right in Pittsburgh, and the completed picture will be shown at the Stanley.

F. Herrick Herrick, Hollywood motion picture director, is in charge of the producion. This week, in the Stanley, he is explaining how talking pictures are made. Mr. Herrick has a complete talking picture equipment with him.

'Thirteen Women' Role Assigned Cortez

Ricardo Cortez, currently scoring as the columnist hero in "Is My Face Red?" received another RKO Radio assignment this week when David O. Selznick cast him in the leading male role of Tiffany Thayer's "Thirteen Women," to go into production as soon as the problem of casting the thirteen feminine roles is solved.

To date, Irene Dunne heads the feminine contingent which includes Jill Esmond, Julie Haydon, Harriet Hagman, Florence Eldridge, Peg Entwhistle, Marjorie Gateson, Elsie Prescott and Myrna Loy.

Cortez will play the detective in the mystery thriller which George Archainbaud will direct.

Adapt Oriental Plot For Talkies

Frank Capra, who recently completed Columbia's "American Madness," has been signed to direct "The Bitter Tea of General Yen," adapted from Grace Zaring Stone's best seller.

Constance Cummings and Anna May Wong have the featured feminine roles. The male lead will be announced within a few days.

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

Big Tony

THERE ARE three important characters in this story; Tony and Louie and Joey. All of them were born and brought up in the same East Side neighborhood, and all of them seemed destined to become graduates of the school of hard socks. We'll consider Big Tony first, because he towered above the other two. And I suppose that's as good a reason as any.

From the day that he first learned to snatch an apple from a fruit stand when the owner wasn't looking, Tony had been brilliant in but one direction. That direction was the getting of something for nothing. Each day, after school had been slept through, Big Tony would lead his gang of children on their clipping expeditions.

Later, whether the loot was fruit, packages or pennies, Tony always held out the largest share for himself. Not because he did any more work or took any greater chances, but because the kids felt that—since he was so big—he was entitled to it. They didn't give the matter too much thought. To their minds, it merely seemed natural.

The only one who resented the situation was Louie. He disliked the fact that Big Tony always took the lion's share of the cash and credit. He could see no reason for it.

Louie's only real pal was a boy named Joey. Joey wasn't a particularly smart kid. He knew nothing beyond what he saw—and he never would.

Why did Louie and Joey become pals? How was it that Louie, with the keen eyes and the ability to think, found his closest companion in Joey, the plodder? Those are questions, my friends, that you can answer as well as I.

Thus, it was to Joey alone that Louie unfolded the thought that had been on his mind for so long.

"Some day, Joey," he muttered, "something's gotta be done about Big Tony. Ever since we was little kids he's been grabbin' off things what don't belong to him. Why should he get the big dough when you and I and the rest of the bunch does all the work?

Joey would never have thought of anything like this by himself — but coming from Louie—well, it just sounded right. He idolized Louie, you see, and his idol could think no wrong.

With these thoughts in mind and smaller thievery in the background, this group of kids became men. And with manhood and prohibition, they became bootleggers. Big Tony was still the leader; still the monarch of all he could raid. Swaggering now, and in the real money, Tony had definite plans for the future. Before he was through he was going to control all the bootlegging activities in the East—and then he might branch out into the West.

Louie was a lieutenant now, and also in the money. He hadn't changed his mind about Tony; he was merely waiting for the opportunity that he felt certain would arrive some day. And Joey? Well, Joey was just one of the mob who was running beer for a weekly salary.

Louie and Joey were still pals. Joey was married now, and was the father of two children. But Louie still invited him out—and still gave him money whenever he needed it.

One afternoon, Joey lost his best pal. In the usual fashion, of course. Big Tony had learned of Louie's dissatisfaction. He smiled his disapproval, and voiced it to a few of his chosen boys. And, a short time later, Louie went to his grave with 17 bullets holes in his body....

With the death of his only pal, Joey felt as though his world hadcome to an end. His lifelong friend was gone—sent to his grave by a few words from Big Tony. His soul cried out for revenge, but what was he to do?

Taxing his small mind to the utmost, he finally hit upon a plan that seemed workable. It was a hellish plan, but, in its way it seemed a stroke of genius.

Joey went to a rival mob and asked them what they would want to put Big Tony out of the way.

The consultation looked like a gathering of depression bankers. Within 15 minutes the conference had come to an end. The price for the killing was to be $5,000.

Joey had no $5,000—and his chances of getting it in a legitimate fashion were completely impossible. But that didn't stop him for a moment. He went directly to the alleged office of Big Tony

In confidential tones, and speaking as though he was doing Big Tony the biggest of favors, he told the man he hated that Louie's mother was going to cause trouble. She had some notes and letters, and she was talking of going to the District Attorney. Maybe, for a little money, she might be stopped.

Big Tony pounded the table. He didn't fear any district attorney and he wasn't going to be blackmailed. Then he hesitated. After all, he said, it was Louie's mother—and she did deserve a little charity. Sure, that was it. About how much, he asked, would she take to remain quiet?

"I think," replied Joey, "she'd be satisfied with $5,000."

Big Tony went to his safe and drew out $5,000 in big bills. He tossed them to Joey.

"Here's the dough, kid," he said. "Thanks for tippin' me off. But I want you to tell that old lady that nobody's puttin' anythin' over on me. You tell her that this is the last time she's gonna hear from me."

Joey smiled. He arose.

"All right, boss," he murmured softly. "That's just what I'll tell her. I'll make it very plain that she'll never hear from you again."...

SNIPER INJURED AFTER KILLING POLICEMAN

Barricaded Man Yields to Gas and Guns After Holding Hundred at Bay

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP.)—A sniper whose rifle and pistols killed one policeman, wounded another and kept at least a hundred more at bay for three hours finally was shot in the arm early today, surrendered and said simply that he had tried "to start some fireworks."

In his house on First street, S. E., just five blocks from the Capitol, he ejected a son at pistol point, locked the doors and fought off death and capture, despite riot guns, machine guns and tear gas bombs.

JUST SOUGHT FUN

After Marine Corps sharpshooters had reinforced the major portion of the capital's police, the gas and wound forced him into the open. As he was put into a cell to await an inquest today he said:

"I just did it to have some fun, to start some fireworks."

He gave his name as Nicholson Long. Before Long's capture, hundreds of curious were kept out of the danger zone, where E. A. Swanson, a police rookie of but a few months' service, fell fatally wounded with a bullet in his forehead. A. C. Poulson, another private on the force was shot through the arm and chest.

Long's wife, prostrated in a hospital, could give no explanation of her husband's action save to tell police:

"He was always a mean man."

SAVED BY LUCK

Only luck saved him from death. Several times he rushed from the house in clouds of tear gas to get fresh air. Once he dashed out while eight riflemen in the park across the street from his three-story house shot at him.

He ran from floor to floor, window to window, shooting at anyone in sight and appearing somewhere else as soon as the fire was concentrated on his last stand. Searchlights throwing the house into brilliant outline failed to help the sharpshooters' aim.

Several police and bystanders, including an 18-year-old girl, were treated at the hospital for gas poisoning. Long, who said he was 48, was exhausted.

Two Men Burned In Blast on Yacht

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 6.—(INS.)—Two men were blown 20 feet and critically burned just before noon today by an explosion on the $20,000 yacht, Daphne, of Roger R. Williams, New York banker, in Southport Harbor.

The injured were Capt. Arthur Powers and John Butterfield, a mechanic, both of the Hitchcock Engine Company of New York.

Steamer on Reef, Floated at High Tide

SUVA, Fiji Islands, July 6.—(INS.)—The British phosphate commission steamer Triona, grounded on the rocky, sandy bottom of a reef while entering the harbor where in a raging tropical rainstorm, was refloated today with the high tide and apparently suffered no damage.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Auto-Intoxication Causes Many Serious Ills

In a recent article I gave the causes of constipation and advised you as to its prevention. Now I want to tell you some of the complications that are apt to follow in the wake of chronic constipation.

Dr. Copeland

A body in which poisons are allowed to accumulate cannot be a healthy body. Many unpleasant symptoms occur in the condition known medically as auto intoxication, more simply described as self-poisoning, which is the result of continued chronic constipation. There may be a constant feeling of fatigue, an inability to concentrate the mind, mental depression and disturbed sleep.

An offensive breath and an unpleasant taste in the mouth are almost constantly associated with neglect to rid the body of its waste. Very often inability to resist infections, frequent colds, poor eyesight, blemishes of the skin and many other minor disorders, may be due to constipation.

There are even more distressing direct results of constipation, such as fissures and piles. Fissures due to constipation may cause severe pain lasting for hours, while a spasm of the muscles will sometimes cause such pain that constipation of a very severe character will follow. A physician must be consulted in order to effect a cure.

Piles are frequently associated with constipation, for pressure on the blood vessels produces inflammation and sometimes the rupture of a vein. Extreme pain, nervousness and loss of sleep accompany this condition. Constipation must be corrected, and if the symptoms fail to improve a physician should be consulted.

It is, therefore, very important that correct daily habits be maintained. Following are some exercises for the relief of constipation:

Lie on the back with the knees bent; raise the legs alternately, then raise the knees up against the abdomen. Still lying on the back; put the legs together straight out before you; raise the legs alternately, then together.

Stand up straight, not more than four or five inches from the wall. Raise the knees alternately toward the trunk. Next, bend the trunk forward as far as possible, then to the right and to the left side. Finally, rotate the trunk to the right and then to the left side.

These exercises are suitable only to persons in good health, but if done properly and regularly, I am sure they will help materially in overcoming constipation.

Answers to Health Queries

L. A. H. Q.—I have a severe itching of the skin, what can be the cause of this?

A.—Itch is usually due to a parasite. For further particulars restate your question and send a stamped self-addressed envelope.

OPEN CAR DOOR BRINGS FINE

Charles Sparkenbaugh, 22, of Sturgeon, Pa., today paid $23 in Traffic Court, but learned it was not reckless driving to swing open a car door in the path of a motorcycle policeman.

When Motocycle Patrolman Charles M. Heh, Jr., ran into the door in Third Avenue near Ross street yesterday, it required a trip to Central Station to determine what charge would hold Sparkenbaugh. Reckless driving was the decision, but Magistrate J. Scott Morgan said no. Since no parking is permitted in Third avenue, Morgan decided parking and carelessness constituted the charge. Sparkenbaugh agreed to pay $5.30 damage to the motorcycle and $17.70 for damage to Heh's clothing, and was discharged.

Fire Destroys Dude Ranch of MacManus

SILVER CITY, N. M., July 6.—(AP.)—El Rancho Pinos, dude ranche at Tyrone, operated by E. A. MacManus, former New York magazine and newspaper man, was destroyed by fire yesterday. MacManus and his staff escaped in their night clothes.

Tiller Finds Watch Lost for 20 Years

CHARLEROI, Pa., July 6.—(INS.)—A watch lost 20 years ago by Ewing R. Wilson, has been returned to him after it was unearthed by a relief gardner while hoeing potatoes. The owner was identified by a miniature photo in the gold case.

Milwaukee Lawyer Held in Murder

LAKELAND, Fla., July 6.—(INS.)—Emmett Donnelly, former assistant attorney general at Milwaukee, was held here today, charged with being an accessory before the fact in the murder of Mayor Joseph H. Beal, of Lake Wales.

State Attorney J. C. Rigers said Donnelly had a $20,000 insurance policy, with double indemnity clause, on the life of Beal, who was mysteriously shot to death as he sat on his porch on the night of June 25.

Bandits Rob Ohio Bank, Get $5,000

TOLEDO, O., July 6.—(INS.)—Three bandits, armed with machine guns, tear gas bombs and revolvers, held up two officials of the State Bank of Cygnet, 32 miles south of here, today, and fled with $5,000.

Hal Roach, Producer, Flies to Chicago

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., July 6.—(INS.)—Hal Roach, movie producer, and Capt. James Dickson, pilot, took off from the local airport today for Chicago in Roach's low-winged monoplane.

MINE PICKETS, GUARDS CLASH

FAIRMONT, W. Va., July 6.—Striking miners and police again clashed today at the mines at Monongah, where yesterday seven pickets were arrested in the first day of the strike.

Tear gas bombs, used by police to halt a march of 350 pickets, were hurled back in several instances by the pickets.

Police marched the pickets to the Clarksburg-Fairmont highway, where they were permitted to stand for two hours until miners had passed on to work at the Monongah mine.

THE HEART OF THE CRUDE

NO "LIGHT ENDS"

"Light ends" evaporate. • Cause excessive oil consumption. • Have low viscosity. • Have low lubricating value under heat.

NO "HEAVY ENDS"

"Heavy ends" contain residual impurities. • Form tar-like deposit on exhaust valve stem. • Form carbon deposit in combustion chamber, on underside of piston head and behind the piston rings. • Cause formation of crankcase sludge.

ATLANTIC
Paraffine Base
MOTOR OIL
The Heart of the Crude

THE new ATLANTIC MOTOR OIL is saving cars—by giving engines greater oil-protection than they have ever had before. It's saving dollars—by providing super-lubrication at the price of ordinary oils, and by cutting down maintenance bills.

It does these things because the elements that cause harm are taken out of this oil . . . the "light ends" which evaporate and have low lubricating value under heat . . . the "heavy ends," with their residual impurities, which form carbon deposits in the engine and cause crankcase sludge.

In this new ATLANTIC MOTOR OIL you get only the heart of the crude! That's why it easily withstands temperatures two or three times higher than the lubricated parts of your engine can ever develop. Has no tendency to "crack." Gives such superb protection to engines of high compression, during high-speed summer driving.

Carbon-forming characteristics of this new oil are so low that the combustion chamber of the motor remains clean after thousands of miles of operation. There is no evaporation loss; the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OIL lasts far longer than ordinary oils. Yet it sells at no extra cost. It is a fitting companion to ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH.

Note the distinctive brilliance of the new ATLANTIC MOTOR OIL, achieved by a new and more efficient filtering process. Fill your crankcase . . . and forget your lubrication worries. You'll enjoy hundreds of miles of the smoothest, most economical motoring you've ever known.

By SALLY MARTIN

Timidity Will Not Help to Bring Back Good Times

When things look dark, which is best—to play safe, or to take a chance?

In other words, should Sue and Dud cut expenses to the bone, now—his salary's been slashed—or should they take on more of them?

No; that question isn't as goofy as it sounds, for Sue has a plan. There is a risk in it—a big risk, maybe—but there may be a new beginning, too.

Shall she try it?

Dud's scared. He wants to take in all sails and tie down the helm.

But is that, maybe, what ails these United States just now?

What do you think?

"Dear Miss Martin:

"I wonder if maybe you can't help this family make a decision. At present we've talked and talked about it, and can't seem to agree.

"You see it is a question of what we should do about the 'depression.' There are four of us, my husband, myself and our two children—boys. One is 6 and the other 8. We have been married 11 years.

Before the bottom dropped out of things, my husband was making $80 a week. He is office manager for a big firm. He still has his job, thank goodness, but his salary has been cut, and cut again, till now he is only getting $55. That may seem like a lot to a good many people, but on the $80 basis we had everything planned out—rent, insurance, savings, etc.—and we've had to do a good deal of re-adjusting.

WANTS TO BUY HOUSE

"Now Dudley, my husband, wants to move into cheaper quarters and cut down on everything, while I—well, I'll explain the whole thing. Maybe you'll think I'm crazy, but it seems to me that I see a chance to make a new, and maybe a better beginning by taking what he calls a 'terrible chance.' The 'chance' would mean taking on more expenses than we have right now, instead of less. It is this:

"There is a 10-room house, near where we live, that is for sale cheap. I want to buy it. We have a thousand dollars saved, and I want to use that for a down payment and pay the balance by the month. It will mean paying about $60 a month out, where we pay $45 now, but I think I can rent out part of the house and in that way bring the rent down lower than that we're paying now.

"He is afraid to risk it, but I want to. The place is somewhat run down now, but I think I could fix it up and make it look nice, and I am sure I could make a go of it. I'm willing to work hard. It has a yard and room for a small garden. It is convenient to a good car line and in a nice neighborhood.

WILLING TO WORK

It looks to me like a good chance, and I am willing and anxious to work hard at making a success of running it. I could bake cakes for the neighborhood stores, too, and I can't do anything like that in an apartment. There are a lot of things I could do with it, I think. And we would own something.

"But Dudley thinks we would be only 'rocking the boat in these bad times.' What do you think? Would you take the chance, or wouldn't you?

"SUE."

Should you take the chance?

My answer is yes, Sue. If the place is as good as you say it is, and you feel that you could work it the way you want to, it would probably be the making of you.

And we're not going to bring back good times by hiding in a hole somewhere and waiting for the cyclone to blow over. It's spunky, energetic people—people willing to dig and start the ball rolling again—who will snap this country out of its slump, and build themselves a nice nest egg into the bargain.

So, if you're sure this thing really is as good as you think it is, go ahead, and more power to you!

Is that your answer, Stranger? And what have you to say to Sue? Should she or shouldn't she take that chance?

Fay King Deplores the Talky Type of Singing Over the Radio

SHE'D HAVE A SWEET VOICE IF SHE'D SING IN TUNE, INSTEAD OF TIME
THE WAY THEY SING THEM NOW, ALL SONGS SOUND EXACTY ALIKE TO ME!
FAE KING

By FAY KING

There is no sweeter gift than that of song.

And it distresses me lately to hear over my radio singers who seem only to talk their songs accompanying the time beats of the hand, rather than singing of the song to the tune that is intended for it.

Almost all songs sound exactly alike to me now, because they are put over in that tom-tom time, and only now and then does the singer strike a few sweet notes which only show what she could do with the song if she would.

I would like to see the over emphasis of beats taken out of both orchestra and singing and more attention given to the tune which is what distinguishes one piece from another.

Heart of a Wife -:- Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Harry and Dicky Relieve Madge's Mind

"Will I trust you?" I repeated Harry Underwood's words so fervently that Dicky, coming through the door, stopped, evidently started, and then advanced toward us with a burlesque air of truculence.

Dick perched himself on the arm of my chair, and ruffled my hair.

"She's a good little frau, if she does trifle with my best friend's affections behind my back," he said, then added in his natural tone: "What's up?"

HARD ASSIGNMENT

"The Lady Fair is," Mr. Underwood replied—"up in the air a thousand feet, and still rising. She wants to have Noel present at this pre-hospital dinner tonight, and wants him to be in the ambulance crowd about 2 o'clock tomorrow morning; but she wants to spare his father and the two Arlens from participation in this delightful but potentially indigestible function. I have volunteered to manage things so that Noel shall be present without any chance of his father getting sore."

"Some assignment you've taken on yourself, boy," Dick said. "How are you going to manage it?"

"Ah! that's my secret," Mr. Underwood replied airily.

"You mean," Dicky said with a wide grin, "that you haven't the slightest idea how you're going to manage it."

"Oh, yes I have," his friend retorted. "I'm going to put your massive brain to work on the problem. I would suggest, Lady Fair that, if you have any absorbing business to attend to, you trot along now and leave us to wangle this here job."

KATIE INQUISITIVE

"If you only can!" I exclaimed fervently, as I rose and hurried out of the room to the hall, where I telephoned Mrs. Ticer, receiving her assurance that she would be at the house in half an hour.

Katie was at my elbow when I hung up the receiver.

"Vere you going put does peoples ven dey coom?" she asked worriedly.

I explained to her that Hank and Bill had vacated their room and she immediately "sniffed the battle from afar."

"Dot room no feet for anybody after dose boys get oudt," she said. "Me I got nuttings to do choost now, I tink I go oop feex dot room. Und vere Mees Carolyn sleep?"

"There won't be any trouble about that," I told her. "That room which Miss Mary and Miss Marion share is so big that I can easily put in another cot."

Katie sighed relievedly.

"Lucky ting I cleaned dot room only yesterday," she said. "All I got to do is make oop bed den put pretty tings on dresser und pretty flowers."

Katie dimpled and laughed.

"Lucky ting for me old voman's oopstairs mit dot blessed baby," she said. "Eef she on yob, ve haf to clean eferyting in house dees afternoon."

"There's only one thing I want you to do besides cleaning the boys' room and making up the beds and the cot in the girls' room," I told her hurriedly, ignoring her reference to my mother-in-law, "and that is to dust the furniture in all the rooms, or have Mrs. Ticer do it. I'll attend to the flowers all over the house. Can you come up now to the boys' room, so I can show you where I want things?"

NEWS ABOUT NOEL

"Sure ting," she said. And for the next three hours she, Mrs. Ticer, who arrived within a few minutes of my telephone, and I worked to such advantage that when the clamming expedition returned laden with trophies, the house was in perfect order—the dining room table already laid, and flowers in every room.

Then Katie and Mrs. Ticer went to the kitchen to begin preparations for dinner, and I went to my room for the half hour nap which I try to take before dressing for dinner, when I have had a strenuous day.

When I wakened at Katie's call, I bathed and dressed in one of my prettiest dinner gowns and then went down to the living room, where I found Dicky and Harry sitting as if I had not left them, although I had noticed that first one and then the other had been away from the house during the afternoon.

"Is your table set yet?" Mr. Underwood asked.

"Yes."

Household Hints

Poorly rinsed clothes are not only ugly in color, but are more apt to scorch when ironed.

A little ammonia in the water when washing out the tea towels will remove any cooking odors, besides helping to loosen the dirt.

Contributing causes to acne are a diet that is not balanced, constipation, malnutrition, lack of fresh air and exercise, intestinal fermentation, sluggish circulation. All hygienic practices that make for a strong constitution and standard health will have their stimulating effects upon the speckled complexion. Local treatment calls for plenty of soap and hot water, but not much friction, and applications of boric acid and baking soda in equal parts. These substances cleanse the pores.

It is the good old freckle season. Speckled darlings are up against the same old difficulties. They can combat the rays of the sun by keeping complexion, neck and arms well creamed, by applying a lotion made by combining three ounces of witch hazel and three ounces of peroxide.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

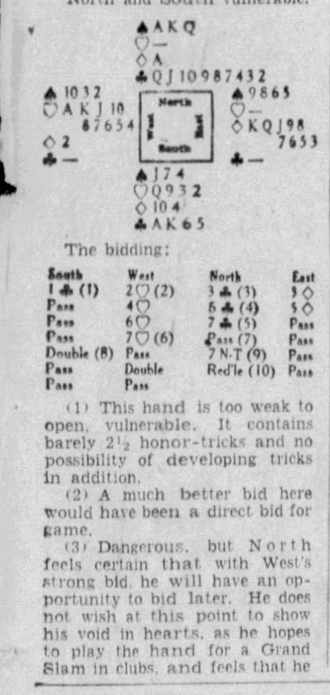
Unusual Distribution

The subtle effect of masterly handling of unusual holdings at the Bridge table by an outstanding player unconsciously influences others when they are favored by fate with hands of like nature. There has always been a great deal of speculation as to the proper bid with a holding, for instance, of thirteen spades. I believe that the best original declaration with such a hand is a pass, as, with three hands blank in one suit, three Aces, three Kings and three Queens unaccounted for, and with a certainty of length in other suits, there is no risk whatever in this course.

Today's is the story of a most unusual distribution, in which the holder of the North hand had the opportunity for some unusual bidding, due to the minimum Opening bid of his right to a nine-card suit.

South—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣ (1)	2 ♡ (2)	3 ♣ (3)	3 ◇
Pass	4 ♡	5 ♣ (4)	5 ◇
Pass	6 ♡	7 ♣ (5)	Pass
Pass	7 ♡ (6)	Pass (7)	Pass
Double (8)	Pass	7 N-T (9)	Pass
Pass	Double	Red'le (10)	Pass
Pass	Pass

(1) This hand is too weak to open, vulnerable. It contains barely 2½ honor-tricks and no possibility of developing tricks in addition.

(2) A much better bid here would have been a direct bid for game.

(3) Dangerous, but North feels certain that with West's strong bid, he will have an opportunity to bid later. He does not wish at this point to show his void in hearts, as he hopes to play the hand for a Grand Slam in clubs, and feels that he may be able to tempt a Double.

(4) A dangerous bid, but North is playing a hunch.

(5) Hoping to tempt a double.

(6) A sound sacrifice bid. West, at worst, feels that he can lose only 5 tricks.

(7) As North afterwards explains, the pass is inadvertent.

(8) South now takes some action.

(9) This bid is based upon the belief that East is void of hearts, hence cannot lead the suit, and with the control of diamonds and spades, North reasons that South probably holds the Ace of hearts, even if East holds a card of that suit to lead.

(10) He might just as well.

Mrs. Alice Phelps Martin, of Atlanta, Ga., sent me the hand, stating that her husband held the North hand in a game with some strangers and that his bidding was actuated by the fact that he had read one of my articles describing where a player had missed a Grand Slam through too revealing bidding early in the contracting.

It is, of course, apparent that a Grand Slam was made:

Today's Question:

South is dealer.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 ♡	Pass	3 N-T
Pass	?

What should West bid, holding:

♠ A 3 ♡ A K Q J 10 6 ◇ A 10 4 2 ♣ 5

Answer: Four diamonds. The bidding cannot die, and it is essential to find out the extent of partner's fit in diamonds, in order to determine whether the eventual contract will be six hearts or seven hearts. If partner bids five diamonds, seven hearts is the proper bid; but if he bids anything else, six hearts is enough.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Announcing a Birth

Dear Mrs Beeckman:

We are expecting a "newcomer" in our home and I have been asked by persons who have served us professionally for some years, to please let them know when the baby arrives. Should I send them (dentist, my former employer, etc.), one of my announcements, or what would you suggest? I wish to do the right thing, also the proper thing, and feel that you are the best source of information. Mother and I alike enjoy your column and profit from it.

READER.

Since apparently you are planning to send announcements, it would be quite appropriate and correct for you to send one of these to each of these people who have been so kind and friendly in their attitude. (And may I add my good wish to you, dear lady? and thank you for your friendly comments on the column. Please come again when I can help.)

Shaking Hands

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

On leaving two friends of mine whom I had been visiting, I shook hands with them, but only nodded good evening to a friend of theirs who was also visiting my friends, and with whom I was but slightly acquainted. Should I have shaken hands with this third person also? JOE.

Yes, it would have been better if you had, after you had shaken hands with your two friends, shaken hands with the other guest. For there would always be the danger that the third person would feel slighted, and it is so easy to avoid this.

Bus Companies Must Post Time Changes

Bus concerns who do not notify the Public Service Commission or the public of changes in schedules are violating the commission's rules, Examiner W. E. Best said today.

Examiner Best emphasized bus companies must post notices of such changes. It is claimed some bus companies have not given proper notice regarding schedule changes made necessary by decreased business.

Two Cited Taxi Men Absent at Hearing

Two taxicab operators, who have failed to take out indemnity insurance and were cited to arrive before the Public Service Commission, failed to appear before Examiner W. E. Best. They are Frank D. Goastino, who operated a service between Windber and Mine 42, and Joseph B. Blanc, operating as the Lambert Taxi Company, Lambert. The commission is enforcing the rule on common carriers requiring them to protect the public.

SET POSTOFFICE STONE FRIDAY

Postmaster General Walter F. Brown and Ferry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury, will fly to Pittsburgh Friday to participate in laying the corner stone for the new Postoffice Building at Grant street at Seventh avenue, Friday at 4 p. m.

Both visitors will speak from a platform on the site of the building. President Thomas A. Dunn, of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, also is scheduled to make an address. James Francis Burke will place the corner stone and Rt. Rev. Alexander Mann, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church, will give the invocation.

Dunn yesterday announced appointment of a committee of 29 to take charge of the ceremonies, under auspices of the chamber.

EAGLES' LODGE RAIDED BY DRYS

What was described as a wildcat brewery was raided last night in the basement of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, 204 Wood street, Tarentum, by federal prohibition investigators. Bottled and barreled beer were seized and Frank Meyers was arrested, the agents said.

Other places raided yesterday included a building at the southeast corner of LaPlace and Soho streets, a place at Kirkpatrick and Tomahawk streets, 101 West Erie street, 1375 Fourth avenue, Arnold; a place in Pine street, Arnold, and a barbecue at the intersection of Routes 28 and 66 in Westmoreland County.

An automobile reported to contain a gallon of whisky was seized in the 800 block Mossman avenue, the agents reported.

New Light Rate Cut Offer Assailed as of Small Benefit

NEW LIGHT RATE CUT OFFER ASSAILED

Consumers Benefit Small; Proposal Seen as Effort To Forestall Real Fight

Examination today of the new domestic electric rate proposed by the Duquesne Light Company and submitted to City Council yesterday disclosed that small home owners benefit no more than in the previous offer. Large owners benefit more.

The new offer, explained to councilmen in a complicated comparison of sample bills, under the present and proposed schedule cannot mean more than a dime a month for the great bulk of light users. This class lives in homes containing seven rooms or less and the light company's offer to them is a reduction of only 10 cents per month.

The offer of a reduction of 20 cents a month is interpreted as meaningless since it only applies to consumers now using a maximum of 80 cents' worth of electricity in that time. There are said to be practically no such accounts.

LARGER HOME OWNERS

To the larger home owners, a comparatively small class, it was pointed out the new rate offer is more alluring and based on figures furnished by representatives of the company the average reduction is raised to about 19 1-3 cents per month.

To put the new schedule into effect would cost the company $700,000 a year, according to its own figures. Critics of the company point out, however, that this represents only about 5 per cent of its record profit of $14,135,700 reported last year. That figure was the remaining profit after all expenses and charges including reserves for depreciation, had been deducted.

It was also pointed out that the light company, like other organizations, has cut its expenses in keeping with the economic trend, although its domestic business is increasing. The company's annual report last year showed a domestic increase of 4.07 per cent and a decrease in total revenues of only $870,168 from the previous year, due to decreasing industrial and commercial business. That the home user apparently made up the decrease from the industrial and commercial class, it is pointed out, is indicated by the $14,000,000 profit record.

The new rate offer which was presented to Council yesterday as that body, which had previously rejected a previous "dime a month" reduction offer, moved toward seeking state aid in obtaining simplified rate schedules, will affect, according to company figures, about 271,000 home-lighting customers and about 30,000 small stores and other small commercial establishments. Those who would profit most by it are the larger

BOWSER BOOKS EXAMINED IN PROBE

Contractor Faces Auditor Ready to Answer as to Airport Hauling Contract

Flanked by counsel, Watson Bowser, Kittanning contractor, today submitted his books for inspection of county auditors who sought evidence of reputed irregularities in Bowser's $200,000 hauling contract for the county airport.

Bowser, his attorneys, O. K. Eaton and Charles Harrington, the latter of Kittanning, were taken to the grand jury room by Assistant District Attorney G. F. P. Langfitt, where Auditor M. C. Conick began examination of the books. Bowser was questioned.

The grand jury had been excused until July 18, but any evidence uncovered will be presented when it reconvenes.

Bowser's original refusal to explain his hauling contract to county auditors when the investigation was conducted by County Controller R. G. Woodside resulted in Langfitt starting a grand jury probe. Rather than delay the probe, Bowser consented to explain his books, under oath.

The auditors charge that while Bowser was paid 60 cents a ton, he sublet the hauling at 20 cents a ton.

OUSTED SAFETY EMPLOYES FIGHT

List of Victims Given Out By Civil Service Board, Not by Mayor's Office

While many of the 260 police and firemen discharged last week by Mayor Kline fought to regain their jobs, a list of those dismissed was made public today for the first time.

The names came, not from the Mayor, but from the Civil Service Commission. In accordance with its code, the commission received the list from the office of Public Safety Director James M. Clark.

111 DISCHARGED

The list indicates that 80 of the discharged men were police and 31 firemen. The others laid off, from both bureaus, were pensioned.

The commission had also a list of 13 police and firemen who have filed appeals protesting their dismissal. The number was reduced from 14 to 13 today when a discharged patrolman, Earl Wright, withdrew his appeal. In their appeals the men contended they were fired for political differences.

The list sent by Director Clark's office gave as the only reason for dismissal the ordinance passed by Council last January, which called for an economical reduction of the police and fire budget.

LEADER JOINS MOVE

Nine firemen signed appeals. They are H. S. Lejune, H. S. Allen, Clyde Moore, Thomas Balmer, Adam Bauer, Herman Meier, William J. White, Delos G. Harvey and John Heinz, head of the firemen's protective organization.

The policemen who signed the appeals are Joseph Zuby, Louis Foster, Thomas English and William Love. The appeals were drawn up by Attorney Alexander P. Lindsay, who will handle the cases for the men.

The men charged they were dismissed because they had not indorsed Mayor Kline in the last campaign. One said he was ousted because he moved from one ward to another.

VIOLATIONS CHARGED

The appeals also charge that the men were discharged in violation of the Civil Service code, and that the Mayor did not take into consideration the capability, efficiency and length and quality of service rendered by the discharged men.

At Central Police Station today it was revealed that the Mayor's shakeup had reduced the number of patrolmen on beat in the downtown district from 11 to 4 during the 6 a. m.-2 p. m. turn.

A meeting of the Fraternal Order of Police is scheduled for Thursday, officials said, when the question of the discharged men was to be taken up.

EMPLOYES DISMISSED

The list of those dismissed, made public by the Civil Service Commission, follows:

BELLEVUE ZONE SUIT LOOMS

Court action was threatened by a member of Bellevue Council last night when an ordinance changing the zoning from a residential to a commercial district of a part of the Ohio River boulevard was defeated by a vote of seven to two on final reading.

At a recent session a petition was presented by more than 50 residents and property owners against the application for the erection of a gasoline service station proposed by William B. Rodgers, a member of Council.

Rodgers, president of the McCrady-Rodgers Sand Company, proposed the zoning change on the north side of the boulevard.

Before threatening court action, Rodgers asked his colleagues for a definite answer to his proposal.

Rodgers' brother-in-law, J. H. Caughey, also a member of council, was one of the objectors, being the owner of a property in the vicinity of the proposed station.

Washington Tribute Urged in Franklin

FRANKLIN, Pa., July 6.—Suggestion was formally made to Franklin Council that Elk street be renamed Washington boulevard, inasmuch as George Washington in his trip to Fort Leboeuf, traversed the section now crossed by the street and was a guest of the commandant on Christmas Day, 1753, at a cabin located on the bank of French Creek. Elk street overlooks the creek.

'Bugs' Launches Boom for Al to Succeed Mellon

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

How about an open letter written on a postcard from Franklin to Alfred.

Dear Al: Sorry to hear you are sulking. It doesn't become you. You're older than that.

Al, you should know that you've got to throw harpoons to catch whales.

How about the spears you tossed in 1924? Of course, I know you're sore about McAdoo making that speech. But it ain't my fault. I tried to get Joe Humphries for the job.

Al, here's a proposition. A month ago you signed a pledge to support the Democratic candidate. And you know that pledge wasn't a thirty-day note.

Fall into line with the other boys and I'll make you ambassador to the Court of St. James. Andy Mellon is over there now romping in short pants.

How about it? Andy wants to come home. Although he ain't allowed in the Treasury Building any more he likes to walk about it.

That St. James job ain't bad. Only one thing to remember. You have got to walk backwards when leaving the King's presence. But you can learn that easy by watching Sharkey in the fight pictures.

Pleads Not Guilty In Conneaut Cutting

MEADVILLE, Pa., July 6.—(AP.)—Sam Spinnato pleaded not guilty and posted $3,000 bond on a charge of assault with intent to kill in connection with a stabbing at Conneaut Lake. His brother-in-law, Dominic Macaluso, is in a hospital in a serious condition from knife wounds alleged to have been inflicted by Spinnato.

ARSON CHARGED TO CLOTHIER

David Gusky, 62, was held for court today on an arson charge following a July 4 fire in his residence and clothing store, 3028 Preble avenue, Magistrate Thomas D. Jones, in Morals Court, freed Mrs. Esther Gusky, his wife, and two sons, Albert, 25, and Ellis, 17.

Battalion Fire Chief Daniel Jones testified he found a box of celluloid shavings, in which two lighted candles had been placed, on the first floor hallway, while the second and third floors were blazing. City Detective Joseph Linden verified the finding. The building, on which $17,000 insurance had been placed, was empty at the time.

Visitors Marvel at Faithfulness to Detail

Hundreds of admirers, marveling at the amount of work and the patience put into 180 Napoleonic coaches on exhibit in Carnegie Museum, inspected the exhibit yesterday and today.

The coaches, built by Pennsylvania boys and men, are a part of the $75,000 national competition under the sponsorship of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild.

They were placed on show yesterday for the first time, and judges began their work of measuring and contrasting the various models.

The judges already have learned that the coaches show improvement over those of last year, that some models have as much as 1,000 hours work on them. They learned that every model works. The wheels run true, the front axle pivots, the windows really operate, and the doors are fitted with tiny latches. The elderly-fashioned steps at the side fold neatly into concealed compartments beneath the floor. Observers find it easy to believe that any coach in the display must have required at least the 1,000 hours which most of the young builders claim.

Even the judging takes time, the Guild officials are discovering. Every model is judged with the same attention to detail, and when the preliminary checking is finished, the models with the higher scores will be judged at least once more as a final check on results. When the 20 winners from the state are announced, on the final day of the exhibit, the comparative scores of all entries will be down in black and white, and there will be an itemized account of 230 measurements on each coach.

Judging and exhibit will continue until July 19.

Girl Worker Robbed At East End Plant

As Miss Thelma Engstler, 6425 Marchand street, reported for work at the Baur Baking Company plant, Penn avenue and Beechwood boulevard, an armed Negro robbed her of $5. When Miss Engstler entered a rear door, the Negro in a hallway pointed a revolver and demanded her money. She took $5 from her purse; the robbed seized it and fled.

MOTHER TAKES CHILD, HELD

Accused of invading a quarantined home and attacking her mother-in-law to obtain her 5-year-old son, ill with measles, Mrs. Mary Keough, 32, of 7125 Thomas boulevard, waived a hearing for court today before Justice of the Peace Anthony Ferraro, of Sharpsburg.

The mother will face charges of breaking and entering and aggravated assault and battery brought by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Bridget Keough, 919 McCandless avenue. The latter alleges that her daughter-in-law carried away the child, June 28.

Monongahela Man Asks Bus Permit

HARRISBURG, July 6.—(INS.)—Matthew Bohuckey, of Monongahela, has asked the Public Service Commission for permission to operate bus service between Bentleyville and Monongahela.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

CLAREMORE, Okla., July 6.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph.

Primary day here. Both Democratic and also Republican (if anyone was humorous enough to run on such a ticket here). There are more Democrats here in Rogers County running for office than in both Chicago's "fiascos." Looks like the taxpayers in the U. S. are the only folks hiring any help nowadays.

Will Rogers

A private business when it doesn't do any business doesn't use anybody. But the less business the public has the more we hire to tend to it. There is but one county institution that needs enlarging, and that's the insane place, and put us all in there till we know enough to vote to cut out at least 50 per cent of our governing expenses. Yours

WILL.

RIVALS IN WAR, NOW FRIENDS

Opposing Officers Chat Over Old Times

Two former army officers, now friends, met yesterday afternoon and chatted for an hour over days in Belleau Woods.

Capt. A. O. Jaeger, former commandant of two machine gun companies of the German army, laughed heartily. Col. James L. Costella, who commanded the 111th Infantry, was telling him of the day they blew up the German headquarters with its generals. Capt. Jaeger enjoyed the joke. He said:

"You know, we didn't mind it so much when the generals were 'blown up.'"

It was an interesting hour for both, when they had found out that their companies had faced each other. The 111th had captured some of the Bavarians' machine guns. They agreed they might have, by chance, shot each other, and explained that it was mutually pleasant that they didn't.

The pair will meet again tomorrow night in Municipal Hall, Overbrook. There Capt. Jaeger, now an American citizen and the father of four little Americans, will be made an honorary member of the Overbrook Post No. 1620, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Legion to Ask Hoover To Convention Here

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP.)—An invitation to President Hoover, Secretary of War Hurley and Maj. Gen. Ben H. Fuller, of the Marine Corps, to attend the Pennsylvania American Legion convention in Pittsburgh, August 18 to 20, will be extended within the next few days.

George J. Proesl, commander of the Pennsylvania Legion, and James J. Deighan, of Philadelphia, adjutant, plan to submit the invitation to Secretary Hurley and Gen. Fuller.

Then, if possible, they will seek to invite President Hoover, probably through Senator Reed (Rep.), Pennsylvania, with whom they talked things over.

HOUSTON CHARGES PREJUDICE IN REJECTION OF SUPPLIES

SPECIFICATIONS DECLARED IN ERROR

Grocery Firm Head Explains To Council; One Mistake Blamed on Manufacturer

That the J. W. Houston Company, wholesale grocers, was the victim of prejudice on the part of city officials, was given today as the reason food supplies for Mayview and the Leech Farm Tuberculosis Sanatorium were rejected by city inspectors.

Council had been given voluminous correspondence last week from the Houston Company, Supplies Director W. R. Dunlap and Controller James P. Kerr, in which it was said that food items sold the Houston Company had been rejected because they did not comply with municipal specifications.

Charges made by John D. Houston, president of the organization, resulted in the conviction of Mayor Charles H. Kline and his deposed supplies director, Bertram L. Succop, on charges of malfeasanse in office.

Houston, in his explanation to Council today, called attention to the allegation that the supplies' department specifications for asparagus were wrong and that his organization had not erred.

Another instance, involving the sale of cocoa for the Leech Farm Sanitarium, pointed out the mistake had been made by the manufacturer. Another item involved diced carrots, for the rejection of which the Houston Company refused to take the blame for the rejections. Houston said prejudice was responsible.

Rate Cut Offer Assailed

homes using a great amount of electricity.

The average customer uses about 60 kw hours a month and as indicated in the new rate comparison his reduction will be only a dime a month if he lives in a house containing seven rooms or less.

Harry J. Bastow, president of the Allied Boards of Trade, who has participated in the agitation for lower rates, declared his belief that a flat reduction of 25 per cent should be made by the company.

Members of Council, since receiving the substitute rate offer, have remained officially silent. The councilmanic move to obtain a simplified rate structure and other changes in service rules was presented to Council by Councilman W. Y. English in the form of a resolution which will be discussed in councilmanic finance committee today.

CONCESSIONS SOUGHT

The resolution would seek the aid of Gov. Pinchot, State Legislature and the Public Service Commission in obtaining the following concessions from the light company:

1. That the minimum service charges for any public utility service should be the same to each and every consumer, regardless of the quantity of service used.

2. That each consumer be charged for the amount of service obtained and not be subjected to a complicated rate structure which apparently shows a low price at the end, but is actually an exhorbitant price at the beginning.

3. Abolish cash discounts based on the number or units of service and substitute a flat cash discount based on the amount of the bill, the same as is used in every other business.

4. Abolish the power to cut off service without due process of law, so that consumers may have access to the courts pending any dispute or differences over service or costs. If this cannot be granted as to individual citizens, it should be granted to cities like Pittsburgh in case of litigation or dispute over the cost of street lighting.

A light consumer, to know what he will profit by the new rate schedule must first know how he is rated by the company, which bases rates not on the actual number of rooms, but on the number of outlets and other conditions. To determine his rating, a customer must consult the company. It is not shown on his bill.

ARSON SUSPECT WILL RETURN

Vincent Prado, arson suspect, has waived extradition from New Orleans, where he is under arrest, Chief of County Detectives George W. Murren said today.

Michael Jordon, Rankin police chief, is leaving to bring the man back, Murren said.

Prado was apprehended as a suspect in an alleged Rankin and Braddock arson plot. Anthony and William Mangretta, of Swissvale, and Bruce Barken, of Rankin, were arrested yesterday by Rankin police, charged with aiding and abetting a fugitive from justice. Detectives allege the three aided Prado to escape, after he was wanted in connection with a fire that damaged a home and the Rankin bridge two weeks ago.

Coal Buries Engine Of Capitol Limited

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., July 6.—(AP.)—Buried beneath an avalanche of coal, the engine of the Capitol Limited, fleet Baltimore and Ohio passenger train, was incapacitated last night near Meyersdale.

The contents of a tipple descended on the locomotive as a fireman sought only to fill the tender. The train stood powerless for almost an hour. Another fast train, the Detroit Limited, picked up the cars and pushed them into Connellsville, where another engine was supplied.

Volunteer Fireman Run Over by Truck

CONWAY, Pa., July 6.—(INS.)—Gerald Romi, 21, today was recovering from injuries suffered when he fell from a truck while speeding with other volunteer firemen to the assistance of a woman injured in an accident at her home here. The wheels of the truck passed over Romi's left thigh after he was thrown as the vehicle rounded a sharp turn.

RUTH NICHOLS PLANS SEA HOP

NEW YORK, July 6.—Ruth Nichols, society girl aviatrix, of Rye, N. Y., is going to try it again.

Her previous attempts to fly across the Atlantic dogged by a persistent jinx, Miss Nichols now plans to go Amelia Earhart one better and equal the achievement of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh by making a flight from New York to Paris with no stops.

Her plane is nearing completion at the Jersey City factory of Clarence Chamberlain, her friend and advisor. It is expected to be ready sometime this month, after being completely rebuilt for the flight.

The plane is the same in which Miss Nichols attempted a nonstop flight across the continent last fall, an attempt that ended when the ship caught fire in Louisville.

SEIZE AERIAL RUM RUNNERS

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 6.—(INS.)—A thrilling gunfight between liquor smugglers in a speedy airplane and customs officers today resulted in the arrest of three men and the seizure of 325 gallons of alcohol brought by the airplane from Mexico.

The trio arrested, officers said, were M. M. (Happy) Martin, 49, recently released from McNeil Federal Prison; John Glore, 26, and Earl Beebe, 49.

The officers discovered the men unloading the alcohol under cover of darkness, and in the fight the alcohol and men were seized, but the pilot in the airplane escaped.

Officers said they believed the airplane had been struck by several bullets.

Brazil Navy School Damaged by Flames

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 6.—(AP.)—Fire early today extensively damaged the naval school, Ilha Das Enxadas, destroying many classrooms, archives, offices and valuable records of the Navy Department.

Protogenes Guimaraes, minister of marine, directed the firefighters.

Hikes 5,000 Miles On Way to Alaska

QUESNEL, B. C., July 6.—(AP.)—Miss Thea Francis' feet will get a hard-earned rest in Alaska—if a grizzly bear doesn't get her first. Hiking from New York to the frozen north, she passed through here after covering 5,000 miles in two and a half years.

Japanese Foreign Minister Installed

300,000 TROOPS IN SIBERIA

TOKIO, July 6.—(INS.)—Soviet forces now massed in Siberia total 300,000 men, it was reported by Japanese newspapers today.

Recent preparations on the Siberian side of the frontier include numerous aviation fields, the reports said.

Japanese troops are watching the Soviet preparations and planning to repulse a possible invasion by Manchurian rebel forces under Gen. Ma Chan-Shan in the vicinity of Heiho.

BAN BONUS VET PANHANDLING

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP.)—Capital police today voiced an emphatic "no" in response to a request by the bonus marchers' army for permission to organize a concentrated panhandling campaign within the District of Columbia.

The request to campaign for funds was based on the contention that the veterans constituted an organization similar to the Red Cross.

Pelham D. Glassford, police superintendent, told the veterans' committee which called on him that such a campaign would be contrary to federal law.

Glassford has made several large personal contributions to the veterans' fund.

Police asked veteran leaders to co-operate in stopping individual panhandling in department stores, apartment houses and on the streets.

Walter W. Waters, the veterans' commander-in-chief, planned a tour of Pennsylvania and New Jersey cities in an effort to raise funds.

Bridge Experts Quit Organizaiton

NEW YORK, July 6.—(INS.)—Bridge Headquarters, Inc., was virtually denuded of affiliated star players today, with Milton C. Work, contract bridge expert, occupying the fort in virtually lonesome splendor. Sidney S. Lenz was the latest bridge world luminary to withdraw from the organization. He said his action was due to what he believed "the impending indorsement of the Ely Culbertson system of play" by the headquarters, the so-called "official" group.

Railway Offers Cars as Homes

LOS ANGELES, July 6.—(INS.)—The Los Angeles Railway Company today offered to donate to the city 50 discarded street cars to be converted into dwelling for the homeless, the village to be known as "New Haven."

Men in Skiff Find Body in Ohio River

Two men in a skiff last night found the body of a man floating in the Ohio River at Glenwillard. A note book found in the man's clothing contained the name of Adam Kowalck, coroners said.

RELIEF BONDS UP TO MAYOR

An ordinance for the sale of $800,000 bonds for direct relief of the city's destitute was before Mayor Charles H. Kline today awaiting his signature.

Council passed the ordinance at a meeting late yesterday.

The money is part of a $3,000,000 direct relief bond issue authorized by the voters at the primaries last April 26. Sale of the bonds was asked by the Allegheny County Emergency Association, whose officials told the Mayor and Council the money would be necessary to continue relief work because of exhaustion of funds authorized by the Talbot act.

Singing of the ordinance was awaited by City Controller James P. Kerr to advertise for bidders and dispose of the bonds. The issue is for 20 years at an interest rate of 4¼ per cent. The money, if approved, will be distributed under supervision of Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of the City Department of Public Welfare.

Her Friends Try to Help Her . . . but she won't Listen . . . she Doesn't Care

"What am I going to do . . . I'm so nervous I could simply scream." How often have you felt this way yourself?

These Hysterical Women!

CRYING . . . sobbing . . . laughing! Tears in her eyes one minute . . . smiling the next! What a state to be in! She has no control of herself . . . the slightest thing drives her to distraction.

Tired out all the time . . . overwrought . . . nerves strung to the breaking point, she tries to do her work.

She looks old, haggard. She is irritable, unreasonable. Her friends try to help her . . . she won't even listen. She has reached the point where she doesn't even care.

How pitiful it is to see her suffering . . . when it is so unnecessary!

Constant headache, backache, bearing down pains and dizzy spells are robbing this woman of youth, beauty and health.

If she would only give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a chance to help her . . . how well and happy she could be.

This simple remedy has benefited 98 out of every 100 women who have reported using it.

Don't think that your troubles are any different. Don't think that this medicine won't help you. It can! Give it a chance and watch those headaches and backaches yield to its tonic action.

The new tablets are so easy to take. They slip into a handbag as neatly as a compact. And what relief they give during those "trying times"!

But whether you prefer the Compound in tablet form or in liquid form, at least, try it! Let it prove that it can do for you what it has done for others. See for yourself what blessed help it can really be.

SUMMER HEAT

COMFORTABLE

COOL WAVE

Hits NEW YORK CENTRAL and PENNSYLVANIA trains

Before the principal trains of these two systems leave their main terminals, all cars will be pre-cooled with fresh, filtered air, affording full ventilation en route. Dining cars of principal trains will be completely air-conditioned.

The very second you step aboard, you will feel it—a refreshing wave of delightfully clean, cool air will greet your overheated forehead. Stroll to your seat—the cool wave has reached it ahead of you. Touch the pillow and the fresh, white sheets on your berth—the cool wave has touched them first—promising you a peaceful, restful, comfortable ride. Air-Conditioned Dining Cars on Principal Trains . . . For the added comfort of those who travel the principal trains of these two systems, dining cars are completely air-conditioned. Dust, soot, smoke and heat are now locked out. Only crisp, clean air circulates about you—fresh, live air—invigorating—and blissfully cool—like dining at a snow-white table in the quiet of a shady lawn. Just one more luxury for those who ride the Pennsylvania and New York Central!

VETERAN SLAIN, DISPUTE OVER PATRIOTISM BLAMED

SEIZE SUSPECT IN M'KEESPORT KILLING

Victim Shot Three Times in Restaurant Dies; Trio Arrested as Witnesses

A wounded war veteran known throughout the McKeesport valley for his patriotism was dead today after a dispute with an alleged Communist leader in a Walnut street restaurant, McKeesport, last night.

Tony Auostolides, 42, of 432 Ninth avenue, McKeesport, flag master and a member of the drill corps of Burt Foster Lodge, American Legion of McKeesport, was slain. Police later arrested George Eraklis, 34, of 1113 Walnut street, alleged to have shot Apostolides three times following an argument in the Tacoma Restaurant, 1110 Walnut street. Eraklis fled after the shooting and was captured a few hours later in a vacant house. Eraklis was committed to jail after telling Chief County Detective George W. Murren that he didn't remember what happened last night.

Police said both men were members of the Greek-American Progressive Association and worked together in the plant of the Witnesses reported they engaged in an argument over the benefits of the association and the patriotism of Apostolides, who was wounded while in France with the American army.

Earklis left the restaurant and went to his rooming house across the street. A few minutes later he returned and opened fire on Apostoldies, according to the police report. As Apostoldes fell John Deneas, a dishwasher in the restaurant, sprang to his assistance. Eraklis fired once at Deneas and then fled through the kitchen, police reported.

Police arrested Deneas, William Kugulis, proprietor of the restaurant, and James Kotchis, a customer. They were held as witnesses.

BONUS VETERAN AND WIFE FREE

Mrs. Margaret Anderson, 22, of Akron, O., wife of a bonus veteran, prefers overalls to a dress.

Immediately after a hearing in Morals Court, today, in which both she and her husband, Charles, 31, were discharged, she doffed a dress which had been given to her by social workers and changed back to blue trousers, shirt and cap.

The two had been arrested yesterday by Baltimore and Ohio Railroad detectives in a box car in the East Ohio street yards, on their way from Akron to Washington. Anderson told Magistrate T. D. Jones he had been at the Capitol, but returned for his wife.

Traynor's Great Hitting.
Swift Adds Slab Prop.
Yanks' Home Clean-Up.
Boxing Gains in Japan.
One-Man Olympic Team.
Fistic Disagreements.

PIE HITS .565 IN LAST ELEVEN TILTS

OTHER PLAYERS MAY rank as the batting leaders of the two major leagues for the season, but when only present stride is considered Pie Traynor is running ahead of them all. The Pirate captain right now is outhitting every other player in the big show. In addition to regular contributions of such brilliant defensive work as he performed yesterday in turning an attempted Giant sacrifice bunt into a double play, Traynor has played a tremendous part in the Buccaneer drive with his bludgeon. He has batted safely in the last 11 games, and in that period has walloped the ball for the husky average of .565 by making 26 hits in 46 times at bat. He has scored 11 runs himself and knocked in 13 others. In only two of the 11 games was Pie held to one hit. Twice he made four safeties, twice he connected for three and five times he made two.

Pie Traynor

On the defensive side of the book, Bill Swift now steps in to brighten further the outlook in the pitching department. Yesterday's victory, only the tenth scored over the Giants in their last 31 appearances at Forbes Field, marked just the second time that Swift has gone the distance for the Bucs, though he has won seven games. He now looks right for a regular starting turn and adds another prop to the department on which will fall the greater part of the strain of keeping the club in or near first place.

TO WIN THE pennant in the American League this year it was figured that Washington's task would be to break even with the Yankees and A's and beat the weaker teams. On paper, the latter part of the task would appear to be the easier, but it worked out just the other way for the Senators.

Walter Johnson's ballers have split with the Mackmen in 16 games so far, and have beaten the McCarthys nine times in 17 meetings, the only club in the league with an edge on the Yanks, but they have fallen down against the so-called weaklings. "Inability to beat the little fellows is costing us the flag," Johnson admits. "I know it isn't a very brave-sounding speech, but it's true, nevertheless."

AS BETWEEN THE A's and the Senators, if it were left to the vote of Vernon Gomez there is no doubt that Washington would be rated much the stronger club.

Whereas the Yanks' star left-hander has beaten the Athletics five times in a row, both of his defeats this season have been suffered at the hands of the Johnsons, and they knocked him off the hill in still another game which his club managed to win out after George Pipgras had relieved him.

RABBIT MARANVILLE insists that the Braves are not going to crack, and that no club has a better chance for the National League flag. He attributes the club's improvement this year largely to Fritz Knothe and Bob Brown. "It wouldn't be fair to the other boys to pick out these two," said the Rabbit, "for all the rest have played fine ball, but these are the ones who have shown the greatest improvement over their spring form. Brown was just a green kid in the spring and had no more than a faint idea of what it was all about, but now he's a star. Knothe got off to a bad start, but since he recovered he has been one of the main factors in keeping us up there."

Joe McCarthy

ANOTHER LONG STAY at the home grounds in New York begins today for the Yankees, and if they are able to go through it at anything like the terrific gait they cut out there earlier in the season, they're apt to have the pennant all but sewed up before their next trip.

So far, Joe McCarthy's men boast one of the most remarkable home-park records ever made in any league. Out of 31 games played at the Yankee Stadium up to today they won no fewer than 27, a percentage of .871. Even Miller Huggins' great Yankee club of 1927, winning 110 games and rated the most powerful combination of all time, did not rise above an average of .750 on its own field.

NO WESTERN CLUB in the American League had yet won a game in New York up to the opening of the second invasion of the year today, with the Tigers as the first visitors. Neither had Boston.

The four victories scored over the Yanks in 31 tilts on their own grounds were evenly divided between the A's and the Senators.

NO ONE IN this part of the world had thought boxing held much of a place in Japan's sport activities, but it appears that the glove game has been making considerable headway there, like other pastimes. Japan is sending a boxing team of five to the Olympic Games, and expects to do well in the competition, according to Tatsuo Shimoda, the coach, who has preceded the mittmen to this country. He says Japan will have unusually good entries in the bantamweight and lightweight divisions, boys named Nakao and Kameaka, with a promising flyweight, featherweight and welterweight. Shimoda rates baseball, Rugby and boxing as the leading sports of Japan, in the order named, with swimming coming strongly.

BY NO MEANS the least interesting figure in the Olympic Games will be Sylvio Cator. He is Haiti's track team. He will be the only one-man team in the big games and is entitled to be called one in three million, as that's about Haiti's population and Sylvio's the only man that country has sent to the Olympics.

Cator is a broad jumper. Competing in the Olympics is not new to him, as he participated in two world carnivals. At Amsterdam he placed second to Ed Hamm. Since that time the Haitian is said to have jumped 26 feet and one-eighth of an inch, and is picked to give Chuhi Nambu, of Japan, and Dick Barber, of the United States, a hard fight for the honors in his event in the Olympics.

SINCE THE QUESTIONABLE decision in the Sharkey-Schmeling fight, with the officials miles apart in the scoring of various rounds, many ring followers have expressed surprise that such thing can happen, suggesting that surely there must be some rules for counting points that would bring unanimous verdicts.

This causes President W. F. Carey, of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, to recall that the New York commission did have its rules for scoring a fight, but the boxing fathers of the Metropolis were a long time recovering from the shock they experienced in the result of the first test.

William F. Carey

HAVING SCHOOLED THE officials in how to score so as to determine the winner of a bout beyond the vestige of a doubt, the commission selected three referees, each a former fighter and considered highly capable as a judge, to work on a certain main event. The three were Patsy Haley, Kid McPartland and Ed Purdy, the last named now a referee in Chicago. They took their appointed places and carefully scored the fight, closely observing every blow and its effect. They followed the scoring code with extreme care. And when it was all over, what happened? You guessed it. They gave three different decisions. One veteran boxing man remarks that no matter how fights are judged, the human equation always is a tremendous factor; just as in the jury box, two jurors, hearing the same evidence, do not agree on what it proves, so may two boxing judges, watching the same fight, disagree as to the winner.

STARS TO PLAY IN OAKMONT TOURNEY

By TOM BIRKS

Ed Dudley, well-known professional of Wilmington, Del., twice winner of the state open golf championship, is the favorite to win that title for the third time in the annual classic scheduled to get under way at Oakmont next Monday. Dudley won the title in 1929 and 1930, the only star to win the crown twice.

George H. Flinn, Jr., secretary of the Pennsylvania State Golf Association, is expecting one of the largest fields that ever competed in the tourney.

The state executive stated yesterday that entries will be received all the week for both the open and amateur events. While the Canadian Open also is slated this week, and many of the national stars will take in this event, the local state championship will be plenty colorful.

72-HOLE EVENT

Secretary Flinn can be reached at 3107 Grant Building, or by calling Atlantic 0669. The 72 holes of medal play golf are going to be quite a severe test Monday and Tuesday for the state open crown. And while Vince Eldred, Ted Luther, Sam Parks and Pete O'Hara flashed plenty of great golf in the National Open, it might be good policy to watch Emil Loeffler, the home pro, who is out to annex his third open championship.

Seventy-two hole tournaments seem to be holding the public eye at the present time. A big tourney of this type is receiving a record entry at the Summit Hotel and golf club at Uniontown, the first to be played Sunday and Monday, July 17 and 18, with 36 holes each day.

TREAT FOR GALLERY

The gallery, and there probably will be a large one, is expected to get a big thrill standing on that number nine tee watching the experts shoot for the green 350 yards away in the valley below.

The same days will find the second annual Butler Course open tournament under way.

Two weeks later will be the ever popular Bedford Springs tournament, and this again will attract a large crowd of golfers from the tristate district.

Niblick Shots

Duquesne Golf Club opened its second nine holes the other day, and Happy Hapchuck, the professional, feels that the course overlooking the Homestead Steel Works is going to be one of the most popular in the district.

We often hear of men getting a hole in one when that trusty mashie is working, but yesterday afternoon Mrs. S. F. Glass, one of Vince Eldred's proteges at Highland Country Club, turned the trick. Mrs. Glass was playing with Mrs. R. M. Young, and the ball went into the cup on the fourth green. It is a par 3, 140-yard hole. Jim Scalley also scored an ace, making his at McDonald.

At Montour Heights tomorrow the only golf tourney of the week will be staged. It will be a women's one-day affair.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE PARADOXICAL SPRING—A strange paradox of the South Seas is that of the spring on the Solomon Islands that is wet in dry weather and dry in wet weather. It is located near one of the smaller volcanoes, Livusagata, on the island of Savo, not far from Guadalcanal. During the rainy season, from October to April, when as much as an inch of rain falls every day, the well always is bone dry, while, during the southeast monsoon season, when there is very little rainfall, the well is filled with clear, sweet water. During the long drought of 1915 natives came from miles around to get drinking water from this well.

TULSA HURLER SHOWS FORM ON MOUND

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Although George Gibson, Pirate manager, appears to be pleased with his pitching corps, it became known today that Gibby and other Pittsburgh officials are casting sly glances in the direction of Tulsa where southpaw Charley Wood is doing farm duty.

Controlled by the Pittsburgh moguls, the Tulsa Western League club, recently found it necessary to suspend a player to keep within the league limit. As Wood was still suffering from his appendicitis operation he was placed on the suspended list. But just a day or two ago Wood said he was fit for duty, the ban was lifted and Charley proceeded to start and finish a 10-inning battle against the Oklahoma City club. He won his own game, 5 to 4, with a single in the tenth.

UNDER PIRATE OPTION

Wood is toiling in Tulsa under a Pirate option. The Pittsburgh roster at present is right up to the limit, but in the event of any emergency, it doubless would be possible for the Pirates to acquire the young lefthander on a few days' notice. Larry French is the only lefthander on the Gibson flinging staff.

The home team handed an outright release to Pitcher Jimmy Crandall this morning in order to stay within the limit. The son of Coach Otis Crandall, Jimmy had been farmed out to Williamsport, of the New York-Pennsylvania League, and Johnstown, of the Mid-Atlantic League, but neither team was able to meet the salary involved. So there was nothing for the Pirate officials to do but to let loose of the promising boy, inasmuch as they could not place him elsewhere.

The Pirates increased their first-place advantage yesterday as they defeated the Giants, 4 to 3, in the first meeting of the two clubs on Forbes Field this year. Pitcher Bill Swift won his own battle in the tenth when he singled with two out to score Gus Suhr.

SWIFT WINS DUEL

The Kansas City graduate outpitched Bill Walker, clever lefthander, to gain the verdict. Both clubs scored in the first, and the long game was a real battle all the way.

Pie Traynor saved the game in the tenth by a spectacular catch of a bunt with Eddie Moore on first and none out. The brilliant play brought a double putout, and the Giants were quickly retired in the inning. Suhr opened the tenth with a single and had reached third with two out when Swift came up to clinch the victory.

Tony Piet caused a wild scene as he scored on a fly in the sixth. Tony toppled Big Francis Hogan. There was a wild scramble around the plate as Tony rushed back to tag it. After doing so he kicked the ball-in-play into the dugout, but did not receive any punishment for his act.

The Pirates and Giants are staging a doubleheader this afternoon, and they also will play two games tomorrow afternoon.

Eastman Granted Olympic Berth

NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP.)—Ben Eastman, Stanford's great middle distance runner, will be named to represent the United States in the Olympic 800-meter race without further trial, American Olympic headquarters indicated today.

Eastman, under an agreement between officials and his coach, Robert L. (Dink) Templeton, will compete only in the 400-meter trials at the final American track and field tests, at Palo Alto, July 15-16.

Eastman was beaten at the shorter distance last Saturday for the first time this year by Bill Carr, of Pennsylvania.

GRAND CIRCUIT RECORDS SET

CLEVELAND, July 6.—(AP.)—A new record — the fastest four heats ever trotted by 3-year-olds—was on the Grand Circuit racing books today.

Three horses contributed to the record, which was set yesterday in the $12,500 stallion stake at North Randall track. They were Brevere, Hollyrood Dennis and The Marchioness.

Brevere was winner of the opening heat in 2:03 3-5. In the second heat, Will Crozier drove Hollyrood Dennis to win in 2:02, a new stake record and the fastest trotting mile of the season.

The Marchioness, with Britenfield driving, took the fourth heat in 2:04. Cold Cash, also driven by Britenfield, captured the free-for-all pace in three straight heats, 2:03, 2:01 and 2:01. The second heat was the fastest mile this season.

Jane Willet was a straight-heat winner in the 18 class, 3-year-old trot. Pat Junior took every heat of the 16 trot, and Loree Prince won the 1⅛-mile handicap trotting dash.

Swimmers Prepare For Title Events

Local swimmers are preparing for a group of outdoor championships, just announced.

The first of the competitions for Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. senior titles is slated at the Willows, pool, Oakmont, Saturday afternoon, July 23, when the men's 160-yard free-style relay and 10-foot board diving crowns will be at stake, along with the women's 220-yard backstroke and 160-yard free-style relay championships.

At South Park the following Saturday the women's 100 meters free-style and high board diving titles will be decided, along with the 100 meters free-style for men.

The OLYMPIC GAMES

By Lawson Robertson

Head Coach American Olympic Teams

BERKELEY, Cal., July 6.—The parade to Palo Alto, Cal., for the Olympic tryout final now is on.

The last preliminaries to the climax duels were staged here yesterday. Immediately afterward the collegians, who failed to qualify on Friday, Saturday or Tuesday, were dismissed as a squad and their choice of returning to their homes or remaining around these parts as spectators.

The students, who qualified will be permitted a few days of loafing. They were in splendid condition for the inter-collegiate championships and will be permitted a short vacation from training routine so as to guard them from the danger of going stale.

Late this week or early next they will be put to work again to ready themselves for the Palo Alto finals, which should provide track and field duels that should equal anything that has happened before. The different tryouts throughout the country during the past month has brought to the fore some of the most sensational runners the world has known. And the same is true relative to the freed men.

In the group that will try for membership on the Olympic team will be about a score who have cracked either the existing world record, American record, intercollegiate record, or the Olympic mark.

With these fellows at the peak of condition with each anxious to make the squad and with the realization that we can have only three representatives in each event. Every race should be a hurricanic affair and every field contest result in a performance that is a new record, or close to the old one.

In all my years of connection with the Olympic games either as a performer or as coach, I have never seen a collection of men so gifted with ability as will compete at Palo Alto on July 15 and 16. And I am sure it will go down in history as the most remarkable track and field meet of all time.

Knockouts Mark North Side Bouts

Two knockouts marked the second outdoor benefit boxing show of the season held by St. Peter's A. C. in its North Side arena last night.

Joe Sulk, of the Willow Club, stowed away Tommy Tuite, of the North Side, in the third round of their bout and Lenny Burkenelli, of the Pittsburgh Lyceum, stopped Mack Berge in one round. The summary:

112-pound class—Joe Sulk, Willow Club, defeated Tommy Tuite, North Side A. C., knockout, in third round.

118-pound class—Frank Wingo, Willow Club, defeated Johnny Durso, Pittsburgh Lyceum, three-round decision; Lenny Burkenelli, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated Mack Berge, technical knockout in third round.

135-pound class—Joe Maico, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated Johnny Ungerman, Willow Club, three rounds, decision; Leo Moon, Willow Club, defeated Dick Pritchard, Pittsburgh Lyceum, three rounds, decision.

126-pound class—Steve Kovach, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated Patsy Contillo, Willow Club, three rounds, decision.

175-pound class—Billy Brehym, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated Joe Jeffries, North Side A. C., three rounds, decision.

HORSE SHOE STAR WINS

Blair Nunamaker, world horseshoe pitching champion, showed his skill in McKees Rocks last evening by defeating Louis Cartonia and Roy Grubbs. Nunamaker made 23 ringers in his match with Cartonia. In another match against both men's total score, Nunamaker was defeated, 55 to 40.

The Union Printers of the North-South League cross bats with the Hazelwood Merchants, runners-up in the City section of the Greater Pittsburgh League, this evening at Olympia Park.

THREE MICHIGAN GRID STARS INELIGIBLE

BEAVER PLAYER AMONG YOUTHS DROPPED

ANN ARBOR, Mich., July 6.—(AP.)—University of Michigan football prospects were dealt a severe blow today when athletic authorities announced the loss of four athletes through scholastic failures.

Coach Harry Kipke said that Duval Goldsmith, Christianburg, Va., and Claire Purdum, Beaver, Pa., tackles, and Estil Tessmer, Ann Arbor, a quarterback, all virtually certain of regular berths with the varsity eleven in the fall, are ineligible.

At the same time Fred Hosler, Huntington, Ind., a freshman baseball pitcher, has been placed on the "home" list and will be unable to accompany the Wolverine baseball squad when it leaves, August 14, for Japan. None of the football casualties would be able to make up his scholastic deficiencies through summer school work, Coach Kipke said. Each is a senior.

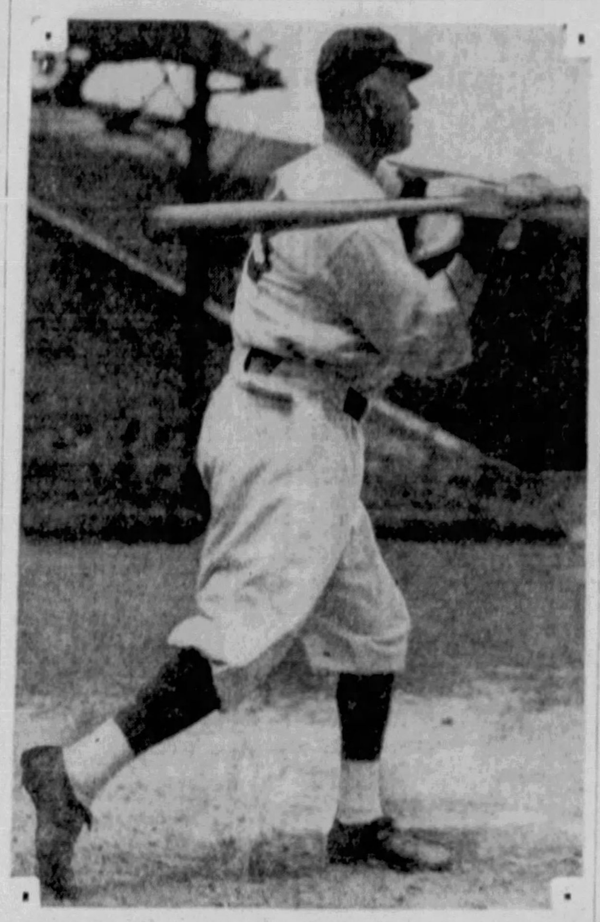
ORIOLES BEAT YANKS

BALTIMORE, July 6.—(AP.)—Twelve hits for seven runs in five innings drove Charles Devens, New York Yankee pitcher, making his debut, from the mound here yesterday in an exhibition game with the Baltimore Orioles, of the International League. Baltimore won the game, 9 to 2. Buzz Arlett, Oriole giant left fielder, who has made 41 home runs in the International League so far this season, hit for the circuit in the third inning with none on. Babe Ruth connected for a double in the eighth, his longest hit of the afternoon.

RALPH DE PALMA WEDS

LAS VEGAS, Nev., July 6.—(AP.)—The marriage Sunday of Ralph De Palma, 49, noted automobile racing driver, and Marian Leggett, 36, also of New York, was disclosed here today. De Palma and his bride had attempted to keep the wedding secret.

BATTING WITH SEALS



GEORGE GIBSON . . . BUCS' MANAGER ON AIR TONIGHT

GIBBY, TRAYNOR TALK ON BUCS TONIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. Pittsburgh Baseball Fan, in whose breasts the pennant hope is flaring with the Pirates in first place, may expect to have a lot of questions about the Pirates and the National League flag race answered tonight, when George Gibson, manager of the local high-flyers, comes to the microphone of WCAE as guest speaker during the weekly broadcast of the Trained Seals of the Sports Department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Harold (Pie) Traynor, captain of the Buccos, also will say a few words about his team's pennant drive.

Gibby and Pie will be interviewed by Charles J. Doyle, baseball expert of the Sun-Telegraph.

Harry Keck, sports editor of the Sun-Telegraph, will act as master of ceremonies, with Julius Levin, Miss Marian Salmon and Herb McGee also participating in the program.

Purses, Admissions Cut at Arlington

CHICAGO, July 6.—(AP.)—Economy measures have become necessary at Arlington Park, the scene of the world's richest racing meeting, and Hawthorne, Chicago's oldest plant, arranged for drastic reductions in admission prices, a month in advance of its meeting.

Beginning Friday, what were scheduled as $1,200 purses at Arlington will be reduced to $1,000.

U. S. PROS RULE FAVORITES IN CANADA GOLF

OTTAWA, Ont., July 6.—(AP.)—Players from the United States have captured the Canadian Open golf championship without a beark since the war and Canada's chances of breaking through in the 1932 classic, starting here tomorrow, appear slim indeed.

Except for Gene Sarazen, British and American Open champion, virtually every one of the United States' ranking professionals are entered.

Among them are Walter Hagen, defending title-holder; Leo Diegel, MacDonald Smith, Al Watrous and Tommy Armour, all former champions; Bill Burke, Bobby Cruikshank, Phil Perkins, Horton Smith, Wiffy Cox, Johnny Farrell, Olin and Mortie Dutra, George Von Elm, Harry Cooper, Ed Dudley and Joe Kirkwood.

Karl Keffer, of Ottawa, last Canadian to win the title, will try to repeat his victory of 1914. Other leading Canadian contenders include Lex Robson, who won the Canadian pro title yesterday, Andy Kay, Ross Somerville, Willie Lamb, Jimmy Johnstone and Dav Spittal. Jose Jurado, of the Argentine, and Tomekichi Miyamoto, of Japan add international flavor to the field.

The championship, a 72-hole medal play competition, will be played over the 6,770-yard layout of the Ottawa Hunt and Golf Club, six miles from the capital. The first 18 holes will be played tomorrow and 18 more Friday, after which all those 20 strokes or more behind the leader will be eliminated. The survivors will play the final 36 holes Saturday.

Horton Smith has posted the best practice score, a 72, while Leo Diegel, four-times winner of the title, turned in a 73.

International Polo Dates Announced

NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP.)—The renewal of the international series begun here four years ago for the polo "championship of the Americas" will be played at Buenos Aires November 20, 27 and December 3, between high goal Argentine and United States teams, the United States Polo Association announced today.

The American team led by the internationalists, Winston Guest and Elmer Boeseke, Jr., will first play in the Argentine championships November 5 to 13, and then meet the Argentine four in the international series. The United States won in 1928, two matches to one.

Roberts Wins Over Frankie Ryan

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 6.—(AP.)—Johnny Roberts, 173, of Huntington, won a decision over Frankie Ryan, 167, of Charleston, in a fast 10-round bout here last night. Both Roberts and Ryan claimed the unofficial state light-heavyweight championship. Frank Moore, 132, of Huntington, knocked out Young Dorsey, 136, of East Liverpool, O., in the first round of a scheduled six-round bout.

Chicago Mitt, Mat Receipts Take Drop

CHICAGO, July 6.—(AP.)—A profit of $50,215.81 was realized by the state from wrestling and boxing for the year ending June 30, $6,132 less than a year ago, according to a report made today by Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission.

Gross receipts a year ago were $118,417.60, with expenditures of $62,347.81, leaving a balance of $56,347.81.

Levinsky Receives Offers for Bouts

RENO, Nev., July 6.—(AP.)—Despite his defeat by Max Baer in Monday's 20-round fight, King Levinsky received offers for fights today from four eastern sources, Jimmy Johnson, of Madison Square Garden; Nate Lewis, Chicago; the American Legion, of Chicago, and Muggsy Taylor, Philadelphia.

Debating which to accept, Levinsky and his followers left tonight for Chicago, where the fighter will rest. He showed no ill effects from his beating by Baer.

TONY PIET TWO-TIMES GIANTS

COVERED PLATE

Tony Piet, of the Pirates, tumbles over the ample back of Catcher Shanty Hogan, of the Giants, to score on Swift's sacrifice fly in the sixth inning of the opening game of their series at Forbes Field yesterday. However (the plot sickens, read on below)—

IF AT FIRST YOU DON'T SUCCEED, TRY, TRY AGAIN

There seemed to be some argument about whether or not Tony had touched the plate, so, after going part way to the dugout, he dashed back to contest the issue with Shortstop Eddie Moore, as shown above. Eddie covered the plate after Hogan had been dumped. Tony was so stirred up he kicked the loose ball into the Pirate dugout, but was not punished for the act. These are Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph pictures.

SMITH BEATEN IN NET FINAL

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN
Staff Correspondent.

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 6.—[illegible] John O'Loughlin, P. A. A. quiet satellite and runnerup to [illegible] Western Pennsylvania net [illegible] last week, downed Frank S. [illegible]ith, accomplished Edgewood c[illegible]tain, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2, before a [illegible]ble gallery at the Greensburg C[illegible]ntry Club yesterday to retain [illegible] Westmoreland County men's [illegible]les crown that he annexed [illegible] last September and to grab [illegible] initial leg on the brand new [illegible] on symbolic of the aforementioned honor.

[illegible]'Loughlin and his Sewickley pa[illegible]ner, Paul Barber, later entered the men's doubles final by [illegible] of a hard-fought victory over [illegible] New Castle-Beaver Falls pair, [illegible]ell Wingerd and Stewart [illegible]dgrass, 6-3, 5-7, 6-0.

[illegible]ODMAN-BROIDA WIN

[illegible]he Pitt-Harvard outfit of Irvin [illegible]dman and Frank Broida [illegible]eved the trophy round in the [illegible]osite half of the dual draw [illegible]ough a 6-3, 6-2 decision over [illegible] Mt. Lebanonians, John Brown [illegible] Neal Rumsey.

'Loughlin and Smith probably [illegible]red the keenest driving duel [illegible] beheld on the local lot. With [illegible]h contenders poling the pellet [illegible]n the baselines, rallies were [illegible]ained in such gruelling fashion [illegible]t Smith became exhausted [illegible]l sickened toward the end of [illegible] second set and finished the [illegible]r under severest difficulty. [illegible]roida and Goodman, a strong [illegible]n with a tendency to slip into [illegible]r-anxiety and to blow, were [illegible]e to defeat at the hands of [illegible]k Hammer and his brother [illegible]odore in the quarter-finals, [illegible] rallied in the teeth of un[illegible]hodox, but highly effective op[illegible]ition, to win, 8-6, 4-6, 6-3. [illegible]wn and Rumsey strove to lob [illegible] college duo to death, but were [illegible]mselves guilty of too many [illegible]-ups to render such tactics successful. O'Loughlin and Barber [illegible]et Broida and Goodman in [illegible]al combat at 4:30 p. m., east[illegible]n standard time, today.

EX-JOCKEY KILLS SELF

FIGHT RESULTS

[illegible]t Huntington, W. Va.—Johnny Roberts [illegible]eated Frankie Ryan, 10 rounds; Frankie [illegible]ore knocked out Young Dorsey, 3 round.

Says:

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 6.—If Thurston, the magician, gets a hand for producing two rabbits, a dove and 60 yards of the Star Spangled Banner from an empty hat, how about a little applause for Bucky Harris, who took an anaemic Detroit team and built it up stronger than a stevedore?

Nick Altrock

Those Tigers certainly don't look strong on paper, but the catch in that is that you have to play 'em on baseball diamonds instead of woodpulp.

When Bucky Harris took over the team it wasn't a question of putting two and two together and making four. There were only one or two players that amounted to more than a fraction. Today the team is almost 99 44-100th perfect, is liable to float in the first division all season and many another club will slip if it tries to step on it.

DEAN, OF PENN, ALSO SCORES TRIUMPH

BERKELEY, Cal., July 6.—(AP.)—Victor Burke, Georgetown University hurdle star, won his 400-meter heat in the post I. C. 4A Olympic tryouts in Edwards Stadium here yesterday in 53.2 seconds, clipping two-tenths of a second off the Olympic games record of 53 2-5 seconds, set in 1928 by Lord Burghley, British star.

The world record is held by the American, F. Morgan Taylor, at 52 seconds flat.

Burke, holder of the National A. A. U. 440-hurdle title, by virtue of his performance becomes eligible for the final American trials at Palo Alto, July 15 and 16.

Second best time was made by Joe Healey, of New York University. Healey won the second heat in 54.2 seconds.

Daniel Dean, Pennsylvania, won the 5,000-meter run in 15:21.1. He outsprinted John Kearns, of Masachusetts Tech, in the last 100 yards and finished five yards ahead.

Today's trials were restricted to Olympic events not in the regular I. C. 4A program. The summary:

400-meter hurdles, first heat—Won by Victor Burke, Georgetown, :53.2; second, Eugene Record, Harvard, :54.5; third, Charles Scarlett, Princeton, :56.

400-meter hurdles, second heat—Won by Joe Healey, New York University, :54.2; second, Alexander Reidell, Columbia, :54.9; third, Harold Yates, Yale, :55.5.

10,000 meter run—Won by George Baker, N. Y. U., 32:41.2; second, John Kran, Manhattan; Jim Maloney, N. Y. U., did not finish.

Hop, step and jump—Won by Frank Andrusky, Penn, 45 feet 9¾ inches; second, Tom McNally, Holy Cross, 45 feet 11¼ inches; third, Howard Hick, N. Y. U., 45 feet 6¾ inches.

3,000 meter steeplechase—Won by Joe McCluskey, Fordham, 9 minutes 28.8 seconds; second, Frank Nordell, N. Y. U.; third, Brendan Moynahan, Boston College.

Between Rounds

Leo Terry hooken Tiny Cox in St. Louis Friday night.

Athletic bouts are scheduled at the Moose Temple tomorrow night under the auspices of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council. A Red Cross benefit show is slated at Beaver Falls, July 13.

Charley Cravotta and Tony Gamble, A. A. U. amateur champions, will compete in the Olympic championships at San Francisco, and there is a chance that Johnny Risch, also will make the trip, along with Paul Monar. A benefit show to raise funds for Monar's expenses will be held at the Homestead Library next Saturday night. Monar will appear in the main bout.

Five German amateur boxers who meet the Chicago Golden Glove champions in Chicago, July 28, may show here later. The Hungarian swimming and water polo teams and the Italian Olympic boxing team also likely will stop off here.

Joey Speigal, Uniontown welterweight, plans to box one more bout here before leaving for Chicago. He would like to meet Davy Grove, who holds a decision over him, or Marty Gornick, Mickey Durso or anyone else available.

Lew Feldman boxes Irish Bobby Brady at Stapleton, Staten Island, next Monday night. Ralph Leroy opposes Buddy Saunders and Johnny Feye takes on Steve Smith in eight-round preliminaries.

The drab, 20-round battle put up by Max Baer and King Levinsky at Reno, Nev., on Monday is just a sample of what could be expected generally if the ban and cry for 20-round and finish fights, as a result of the dissatisfaction over the Sharkey-Schmeling decision, were heeded. Baer and Paulino Uzcudun put on another messy 20-founder at Reno Fourth of July of last year.

Tom McCafferty, of Wheeling and Lloyd Clemente, of Jeannette, box the main bout of a show at Fairmont, W. Va., Friday night. Benny McArthur, now boxing as a junior-welterweight, will be in the semi-final.

Buddy McArthur, McKeesport light-heavyweight, meets Flash Riser, of Detroit, for the Michigan championship at Saginaw, Mich., Buddy's last home town, next Monday night. Buddy also boxes Rinao Sala at Akron on July 18 and is wanted for a bout with Champion Maxie Rosenbloom at both Grand Rapids and Fairmont, W. Va. The Reilly brothers, Frankie and Jimmy, will box in the six-round preliminaries on the Saginaw card, the former against Mike Misko and the latter against Eddie Heinz. This will be Jimmy's first start since last September.

Leo Larivee and Odone Piazzi box the main bout of a show at Fenway Park, Boston, tomorrow night.

The first cut prices of the season in boxing here make their appearance at tomorrow night's show at Hickey Park, the only professional card of battles of the week in the district. Instead of charging $1 and $2, plus the federal tax, the management has scaled the arena at 75 cents, $1 and $2, tax inclusive. Two 10-rounders, with George Panka and Pietro Corri on top, and two six-rounders make up the bill, an all-heavyweight affair.

BANNEROT TOPS W. VA. GOLF QUALIFIERS

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va., July 6.—(AP.)—Driving accurate, rifle-like shots, Fred Bannerot, of Charleston, conquered a soggy course and a legion of contenders in the state amateur golf championships today, turning in a 74-75—149 to lead the qualifiers.

One stroke behind came Dr. Gory Hogg, of Lewisburg, showing 71-79—150, edging out K. C. Boggs, of Huntington, for second honors. The latter came in with 80-72—151.

Other scores in the qualifying rounds were: Palmer Stacey, Lewisburg, 78-79—157; Harold Brock, Wheeling, 78-81—159; Jud Davis, Charleston, 76-82—158; A. H. Johnson, Charleston, 80-90—170; H. Blackburn, Lewisburg, 90-90—180; J. S. Compton, Bluefield, 85-81—166; Harold Talkins, Union, 87-86—173; A. S. Cornish, Huntington, 99-99—198; A. E. Neale, Morgantown, 76-84—160.

W. P. Wilson, Wheeling, 115-106—221; W. J. Lively, Charleston, 96-80—176; Paul Payne, Buckley, 97-85—182; F. M. Larson, Huntington, 102-101—203; H. H. Smith, Charleston, 90-88—178; W. G. Sickles, Charleston, 94-91—185; J. M. LaFollette, Charleston, 79-86—165; J. A. Bloch, Wheeling, 80-90—170; John R. Herner, Clarksburg, 93-91—184.

W. E. Wells, Jr., Elkins, 83-77—160; T. D. Lee, Elkins, 85-89—174; J. C. Bishop, Morgantown, 108-94—202; Dr. Earl P. McCue, Morgantown, 99-88—187; F. S. Hulme, Hinton, 103-98—201; F. A. Bennett, Martinsburg, 85-80—165; J. M. Hatch, Charleston, 98-95—193; Herbert Markle, Bluefield, 100-88—188; L. R. Seibert, Wheeling, 78-78—156; Harold Meek, Huntington, 94-80—174; R. M. Rowand, 82-81—163; E. Bond Homer, 85-84—169; J. O. Tucker, 85-89—174; J. H. Bowers, 90-82—172; E. M. Payne, Jr., 82-78—160; Bill King, 82-88—170, and Otis Curtis, 84-88—172.

Miss Fritzie Stifle, medalist, won the first round of the championships in the women's division by default of her opponent, Mrs. E. C. Dawley.

ROBSON WINS PLAYOFF

OTTAWA, Ontario, July 6.—(AP.)—Coming from behind on the last nine holes with a par smashing 32, Lex Robson, of the Islington Golf Club, yesterday won the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association championship playoff from Andy Kay, of Toronto, the defending champion. Robson turned in a score of 79 for the 18 holes, while Kay carded a 72.

Fight Broadcasts Confined to 'Experts'

NEW YORK, July 6.—Only "boxing experts" will be permitted to broadcast radio descriptions of matches in this state hereafter, the New York State Athletic Commission has decided.

The new rule is an outgrowth of the controversy over radio accounts of the recent Schmeling-Sharkey bout, in which Charles Francis Coe, novelist, and Graham McNamee, announcer, indicated Schmeling had gained a wide lead on points over Sharkey.

A majority of critics at the ringside also thought the German had won, but the commission approved the decision that gave Sharkey the fight and heavyweight championship. The commission said it considered a boxing or wrestling sports writer, referee or judge competent to broadcast boxing or wrestling bouts.

HEMSLEY LOST TO CUBS

CHICAGO, July 6.—(AP.)—Rolly Hemsley's Fourth of July celebration will keep him from helping the Cubs in their effort to regain first place in the National League for a week or more.

It become known today that the young catcher suffered a powder burn to his left eye as the result of the premature explosion of a firecracker at Pittsburgh Monday. The eye was badly inflamed today and he was not expected to be back in action for at least a week, leaving Gabby Hartnett to do all the catching.

DICKEY SUSPENDED

CHICAGO, July 6.—The loss of Bill Dickey, catcher of the New York Yankees, who has been suspended indefinitely for slugging Outfielder Carl Reynolds, of the Washington Senators, on Monday, may affect the play of the American League leaders. Dickey may be kept out of action until Reynolds recovers from a broken jaw, in which event the Yanks will be without his services for six weeks.

STOCK MARKET PRICE TONE TURNS FIRM

Strength in Foreign Bonds Helps Securities Here; Shorts Hurry to Cover

NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP.)—Persistent strength in foreign government bonds bolstered the securities markets generally today, after shares had had a temporary slump during the morning.

German government bonds were said to have been heavily bought by Longon, in anticipation of an early announcement of a reparations agreement at Lausanne, although private cable advices to Wall street from Paris were less optimistic. At any rate, the optimism in London served to prompt considerable short covering in the New York stock market.

American Telephone, after sinking nearly 2 points to a new low at 75, recovered, and by early afternoon, net gains of a point or so appeared in American Can, Allied Chemical, Case, and Standard Oil of California. Oils, which have resisted selling recently, were a conspicuously firm group, as fractional advances appeared in Standard of New Jersey, Texas Corporation, Atlantic Refining, Royal Dutch, Pure Oil, Consolidated, Continental, and Socony-Vacuum. Some of the mining issues were again firm, and leading industrials and rails selling somewhat above yesterday's close included U. S. Steel, National Biscuit, Union Pacific, New York Central and others. International Shoe was a soft spot, dropping 6 points.

Wall street has been somewhat less optimistic than London over Lausanne, and has been slow in drawing conclusions from the advance in German and other foreign bonds, in view of the false starts made in those directions in the past. Nevertheless, some quarters insisted that a decidedly constructive agreement was being reached at Lausanne, although it may take some time to put an official stamp on it, in view of political considerations in France and the United States.

With business suffering the paralyzing effects of mid-summer, financial quarters looked either to Lausanne or Washington for developments that might help security prices, and with indications of a temporary deadlock at the national capital over the relief measure, it was felt that developments from that quarter such, as adjournment of Congress, would be considerably delayed.

The oil shares reflected the weekly statistics showing a further cut in crude production, and indications that recent price increases had brought several companies out of the red. In the mining group, buying of the gold issues was easy to understand, in view of the improved position of yellow metal producers, what with the increased value of the monetary metal in relation to commodities. But firmness of coppers was less easy to understand. Some buying of these issues was said to have come from abroad.

WHEAT PRICES SCORE GAINS

CHICAGO, July 6.—Grain prices averaged higher early today, influenced by torrential rains in domestic winter wheat harvest territory southwest. There are also reports that black rust infections had appeared in some of the important wheat producing provinces of Jugoslavia. Opening unchanged to ¼ lower, wheat afterward scored some gain. Corn started at ⅛ off to a shade up, and later rose slightly.

Corn and oats responded to wheat price gains and to indications of some export business in corn.

Provisions borrowed firmness from strength shown by the hog market.

Buyers of Bad Securities Resentful; Steps to Protect Public Needed.

—By B. C. FORBES—

America will become a better land to live in because of the last few years' happenings.

Mr. Forbes

That is the conviction among many people who do not live in the atmosphere of finance.

I've been mingling with such people, and the experience is both refreshing and encouraging.

The financial world should realize that public sentiment is to demand a re-shuffling of the cards and a square deal. This very definite conclusion has been reached:

Too much license has been granted the unscrupulous to wheedle folks out of their savings.

Too much laxity has been practiced with impunity.

Stern, sharp-toothed legislation must deter the dishonest from fleecing the honest.

Robbery, heretofore legal, must be made illegal.

HOSTILITY IS especially sharp against those of supposedly high and unimpeachable standing who sponsored the issuance and distribution of what were represented as trustworthy securities.

You or I may take the charitable view that individuals and firms and institutions that underwrote new stock issues during 1928-29 were satisfied as to their merits and prospects. But the majority of the public is profoundly convinced that the creators and distributors knew that the buyers were being induced to pay unwarrantedly high prices and would inevitably be stung.

Hence the bitterness now so widely prevalent. One prominent industrialist enjoying an enviable reputation for ability and vision decided, as did so many other heads of enterprises, to issue new stock. A super-salesman approached one prospect and rattled off a string of fine-sounding sales arguments.

"Who is the smartest man—the very smartest man—in the whole company?" asked the prospect.

"Why it's Mr. So-and-So, of course." He mentioned the towering industrialist.

"Well," came the instantaneous rejoinder, "he's selling the stock, isn't he?"

PUBLIC SENTIMENT has reached the very definite conclusion that it was the smart gentlemen who so energetically promoted and sold stocks during the boom, the unwary, the boobs who bought.

Never before have I noted such grim determination voiced that there must be no repetition of fleecing the public without incurring jail sentences. The public no longer feels helpless. It no longer feels it must continue at the mercy of shysters, fakers or even ultra-dignified bankers or financiers who heretofore have gone scot-free, no matter how heavy the losses inflicted by their operations.

The indications are that the rules for playing the whole financial and banking game will undergo very drastic revision.

This state of mind has a direct bearing on the presidential campaign.

ALTHOUGH THE truth is that Herbert Hoover never has been cordially regarded in the most powerful financial circles, the Republican party is popularly pictured as the one favored by high finance and big business. President Hoover's aggressive championship of governmental financial aid to railroads, to banks and other so-called "capitalistic" interest has not tended to dispel that popular belief—notwithstanding that it is very generally admitted that these reconstructive measures have proved of timely, far-reaching value.

So anxious have many people become to "swat Wall street" that their vote will be guided thereby. And the Democrats traditionally revel in such action.

In my humble opinion sentiment is such that regardless of which party wins, Washington will embark upon a series of financial reforms.

We unquestionably face thorough-going banking legislation. Whether it will be the product of wisdom, or the product of political prejudice, remains to be seen.

ONE THING certain is that it is high time reputable banking institutions began to enlighten the public concerning the usefulness of the various functions they perform. It is high time they emerged from their snug and smug cyclone-cellars.

When one now journeys among non-metropolitan communities a feeling of slowly-reviving hopefulness is encountered.

"What's going to happen next?" used to be invariably asked. Now, it more often is:

"How soon is the real turn coming?"

Indeed, there are some who today think we have seen the worst and that we are even now groping for a foothold on the upward path.

TRADE SLUMP HAS BECOME FASHION

Conversion Expected When Risk of Low Inventories Is Generally Recognized

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Depression has been in fashion, but that vogue too will change.

John M. Hancock, the banker, once told me that hard times will be over when the businessman tires of remaining pessimistic.

The conversion, of course, will not take place en masse, but one by one. The wisest and most thoughtful will at length begin to recognize that at prevailing low prices the risks of being without raw materials to cover near term needs may begin to exceed hazards of carrying them and risking further price depreciation.

Mr. Rukeyser

Some observers think that an event perhaps relatively unimportant in itself, such as the legilization of beer, might effect a turning point in popular sentiment toward the economic outlook.

In touching on the theme that it's smart to be broke, Earnest Elmo Calkins, the ad man, in the nation's business, declares:

"Back in 1929 it was the fashion to brag of your winnings. Each tried to cap the other with a bigger yarn about how much he cleaned up. Each group broke up radiating prosperity. Today the technique is the same but with the process reversed. Now we brag and even lie about our losses, our cuts in salaries, the red ink in our books, the people laid off. And we hint ominously at something worse that is coming. We reduce each other to a state of absolute pessimism in which it is obviously futile to try to do anything.

"The only remedy is for us all to act as spontaneously and unanimously on an optimistic basis as we do on a pessimistic one. What will stir us will be something new, so attractive, so advantageous, it will make us forget the depression, and act as a mass, as a nation. The same process that put us in will take us out."

This is an especially propitious season for travel. Usually the only two barriers are time and money. As for the former, the depression adds to the leisure even of the gainfully employed, and numerous employers, eager to economize, are more than receptive to requests for short leaves of absence. As for money, the cost of travel is less than it has been in many years, and the scenic wonders and the beauties in faraway museums are quite as delightful as in bull market years. And for the first time those of small means are offered an opportunity to pay for their passage on the partial payment plan.

Future of Electric Power Becomes Major Question of Industry

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

THE FUTURE of the electric power companies represents one of the great enigmas of business today. The question is not one of their ability to make money, because they have passed through the depression period with fewer scars than other outstanding industries. The question is:

"Have the electric companies passed their period of maximum expansion?"

Every infant industry which gives to humanity an entirely new type of service, first experiences a period of rapid growth which continues until its saturation point is reached. During this period it may, as the electrical industry has done, entirely ignore periods of business depression. After this original period of expansion, the growth of an infant industry is limited by the general growth of the country. Sales rise and fall in line with conditions in other types of business.

The history of the electric power industry has been such that it naturally raises the difficult question:

"Has this saturation point been reached?"

* * *

Steady Growth Has Been Interrupted

SINCE ITS BIRTH over 50 years ago, the power industry has shown an almost uninterrupted rate of growth in gross revenues and net income. In good times and bad more power was used because new markets constantly were being found. Hand in hand with this expansion the industry was steadily finding cheaper methods of generating and distributing power. This resulted in rapid growth in earnings and also made lower rates possible which accellerated the development of new markets.

The general business slump started in the latter half of 1929, spread further in 1930 and 1931 and has just reached its most acute stage. The best year for the electric power producers in both gross and net income was 1930. The business depression did not hit this class of public utility company until 1931 and then to only a moderate extent. Gross incomes slumped last year below the record level of 1931 but still remained greater than 1929 the previous record year. The industry as a whole showed a similar drop in net income although some companies, such as Duquesne Light in this city, were able to establish new high records in net income.

Power Companies Feel Slump For First Time

THE POWER companies are feeling pronounced effects of the business slump for the first time this year. They are not being affected in any manner comparable to that of general industry, but gross has started to slump to a pronounced extent for the first time in the history of the industry.

The fact that the power industry has been so far behind general business in feeling economic conditions indicates that its initial period of development is still under way. But the fact that a decline of important proportions has started this year may be an indication of the fact that saturation is not very far distant and that future growth may be gradually retarded until it drops to a pace closely coinciding with that of the country as a whole.

Of course, it must be realized that any general assumption such as this represents a large amount of personal opinion. The theory could easily be upset by the development of entirely new sources of consumption or by the perfection of cheaper production methods. The theory does not assume that the absolute peak of the primary period of development has been reached. It merely assumes that this point may not be many years distant.

Notices 1-A

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy for the beautiful floral tributes; also those who furnished their cars during our late bereavement at the death of our beloved daughter, Madeleine. Mr. and Mrs. John Krier.

In Memoriam 1-B

In loving memory of our dear father, Adam S. Fry, who passed away one year today, July 6, 1931.
Loving and kind in all his ways
Upright and just to the end of his days.
Sincere and kind in heart and mind.
What a beautiful memory he left behind.
Sadly missed by his daughters Eva, Edna and Elizabeth.

Lynn Does Not Approve of Way Tom Plans to Make Money

CHAPTER XXIV.

Of course, Tom didn't have much—but he'd borrow, mortgage his future; there were ways and means; he could borrow upon the principal of the small legacy which would come to him eventually, and Bob was going to borrow all he could, too; they'd pool their interests. It meant, by autumn, perhaps, a big profit. What did Lynn think of it? he asked exultantly.

She replied slowly, "I think it's dishonest."

"What?" He stopped, midstride. "You're crazy!"

"No, I'm not. You've learned this—you couldn't help learning it, in your position—and it's supposed to be secret. Like a trust, almost. You've talked it over with Bob Rawlson. With me. Little by little it will get out, reach the ears of the market manipulators. You've no right to cash in on your knowledge, even in a small way," she told him. It isn't honest, and it isn't loyal."

"But it is honest! And as to loyalty——"

"How is it honest?" she demanded.

"It's perfectly legitimate business," he protested. "You can't tell me that Gunboat and the others don't expect to realize on it."

"They are officers of the bank," she said, "and directors. That's different. You're just an employe. No, Tom, you've no right to do it."

"You mean to tell me I haven't any right to buy a few shares of the bank stock at the present low?" he asked her. "Why, they're always urging me to buy the stock, you know that."

LYNN IS DEFIANT

"Of course I know it. And you're at liberty to buy the stock. The few shares you can afford to buy outright won't make any difference one way or another, and certainly wouldn't put you or anyone else on Easy street, no matter how high the stock goes after the merger. But you're planning something else; you know you are. What is it?"

He said sullenly, "Rawlson thinks that if we get to the right people we can borrow all we want to."

"You mean you can sell your information?" she said. "And you consider that loyal, I suppose—and honest!"

"Well, why not?"

She got to her feet. She was small and defiant, facing him. "If you do this, I will never speak to you again!"

He said, "But Lynn!" He tossed his hands out in front of him in a gesture of hopelessness. "But I was going to do it—for you. So that we could get married; so that we needn't wait."

"I was willing to wait," she told him hotly; "I care enough for you for that. But I won't marry you on the proceeds of any breach of loyalty to the bank."

"I don't owe the bank a thing," he said stubbornly. "What has it ever done for me?"

WARNS TOM

"It's given you a decent job," she told him, "and kept a roof over your head and fed and clothed you. I don't care what a person's job is, if it does that it deserves loyalty. Mr. Norton expects it of you. Your position with him carries with it certain obligations. Can't you see that you are bound to know a lot more than the people in the outside office, and you're bound to keep it confidential? That's your job. Confidential secretary. I didn't think that you'd ever listen to or be influenced by people like—like Bob Rawlson."

"You never liked him," he accused her absurdly.

Synopsis

Lynn Harding, young and pretty clerk in the Sea-Coast Bank and Trust Company, loves Tom Shepard, secretary to one of the bank's vice presidents. They cannot marry on Tom's salary, so Lynn plans to hold her position. She learns, however, that the bank does not want married women. She seeks the aid of David Dwight, prominent lawyer, whom she met through Sarah Dennet, her chief at the bank. Dwight had been Sarah's sweetheart years before, but gave her up to marry wealth. David, attracted by Lynn, offers her a position, but due to Tom's objection, Lynn rejects it. Later, Tom informs Lynn he has an opportunity to become rich by taking advantage of secret information relative to the bank's merger and buying stock.

Now Go On

"No, I never have, and my hunch was right!"

He sat down wearily in the nearest chair. "Gee, Lynn, I never thought you'd look at it this way. I just said yes to Bob because it looked all right to me. It is all right," he argued suddenly. "That's the way fortunes are made. It's perfectly legitimate, Lynn. Can't you see it that way?"

"No," she told him stubbornly, "I can't. You haven't any right to use this information to further your own ends; and if you go into some scheme Bob Rawlson has cooked up, you'll find yourself in a lot deeper than you bargained for. The few shares you two could buy on your own would be nothing. He's got more than that up his sleeve."

SENDS HIM AWAY

"It didn't sound that way when he talked about it," confessed Tom. "Look here, did you mean what you said? I mean, that you wouldn't speak to me again if—?"

"I meant it," she said unhappily.

"All right." He rose, hands sunk in pockets.

"Tom!" She ran to him, put her arms around him, looked up into his gloomy face. "Tom, you mean that, too? That you won't"

"I suppose so, Lord, I hate to let Bob down. What a piker he'll take me for!"

He cares more for what that oily, shifty-eyed person thinks than what I think, thought Lynn furiously.

He didn't, of course. What she didn't realize was that, at 23, no man wishes to be accused of allowing a woman to bind him by a promise of caution.

There was something of the school-teacher in Lynn, Tom reflected glumly.

Lynn detached herself without any effort from Tom's arms. She said, "Of course if you think more of Bob Rawlson than you do of me"

"Don't be an idiot," was Tom's immediate return. "I'll tell him tomorrow that I'm not having any." But his voice was without enthusiasm.

"That's all right, then," she said. But she wasn't sure that it was all right. She searched his face anxiously. It told her very little. She said, suddenly conscious of weariness: "Do you mind going now, Tom? I'm awfully tired."

That was her mistake. But everything seemed so flat, so let down between them. A good quarrel might have cleared the air. But instead, because there seemed nothing to say, she lifted her face for his kiss and heard the door close behind him, and then turned her face to the back of the chair and wept.

It wasn't Tom's fault, of course, she admitted, lying awake later, staring into the darkness. No, it wasn't his fault. He was—gullible, and Rawlson was older, cleverer. Tom wasn't a businessman, she told herself, not for the first time. He was at sea among graphs and dollars and cents and tickers. He was an engineer, an inventor; his mind was wholly mechanical, constructive. He'll never make good in the bank, she thought. But what else was there for him to do?

Drowsily she wondered about Mara: Where was she—and with whom? . . . The doorbell rang violently.

Tom?

She rose, fumbled into robe and slippers and went out into the living room. She opened the door. Bill Burt stood there, glowering at her.

"Where's Mara?"

"She's out," said Lynn.

"That's nice. With whom?" asked Bill.

Lynn thought of her own mental query. Well, she knew nothing, and was glad of it. "I haven't the least idea," she said, and started to close the door.

But Mara's husband was a determined young man. He said grimly, "Oh, no, you don't. I'll come in and wait, if you don't mind."

"But I do mind. I'm alone here," she told him angrily. "I'd gone to bed. You can just wait until tomorrow!"

"You've no right to cash in on your knowledge," she told him.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Boys and girls, members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, here's good news for you.

Warner Brothers, under the direction of F. Herrick Herrick, motion picture director, is going to make an all-talking "Our Kiddies" comedy with an all-Pittsburgh cast.

Now, what boy or girl hasn't at some time or other wanted to act in the movies? Well, here's your chance and here's what you must do:

ENROLL ON SATURDAY

Next Saturday when you attend the regular meeting of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, ask the manager of the theater for an enrollment card in the "Our Kiddie" comedy. Fill out all the questions asked on the enrollment card and sign it. Return the upper half to the manager of the theater and take the lower half home for your mother or dad to sign. Present the lower half of the enrollment card at the Stanley Theater next Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. and you will be given a "screen" and "voice" test. The successful children who pass these tests will be selected for parts in this the first all-Pittsburgh, all-talking motion picture ever to be made here. After the picture is completed it will be shown first at the Stanley and then at the neighborhood Warner Theaters.

So, boys and girls, if you desire to be in the cast of this "Our Kiddie" comedy, be sure to obtain the enrollment card Saturday and be at the Stanley at 2 p. m. Sunday afternoon.

REHEARSALS CHANGED

The rehearsal for the minstrel show to be given by the members of the Washington Theater Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph Junior Komic Club was held Saturday before the regular meeting was called to order, but M. M. Wear, manager of the Washington Theater, has decided to change the time for rehearsals from Saturday mornings to Thursday mornings, so he can devote more time to the youngsters. The youngsters who entertained the members Saturday were: Margaret Birmingham, Velma and Virginia McVehil, Donna Walker, Betty Jane Hought, Virginia Hinsman, Clarence Hartzrll, Marjorie Carpenter, Betty Jane Anderson, Anna Kerns, Ruth Farrell, Buddy Nordquist, Teresa Spatafore, Jimmie Miller, Fred Kopp, Rosebud Belcastro, Thelma Santag, Marion Kemp, Ethel Grinage, Thais Bowers, Alice Gloady, Stanley Wolfe, Mary Walters, Betty Ihrig, Mary Jane Wood, Betty George and Roger Doyle.

Russell Paul also entertained with several special dance numbers, after which he instructed the members in tap dancing.

If you are not a member of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, send your name and address, name of your parents, date and year of your birth, school you attend, to the secretary, Junior Komic Club, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., and a membership card and button will be mailed to you.

Are you operating your elevator by dog power?

Have a care how you answer. The camera does not lie.

Oh, we want to be fair. We realize that everyone cannot afford a vacant lot, in times like these, to exercise his canine pet. Oh, we realize that this is a machine age, and all that. But we would be a skunk not to speak up for the dog in this controversy. A dog enjoys clean fun as much as anybody, but who wants to run all day and get nowhere? We think not. The Republican Senate Does Its American Duty

Abandonment by the Senate for the remainder of the session of further consideration of the Hawes-Cutting Philippine bill is something for which the Republican Senate should receive due credit and commendation.

This measure is an independence bill in name only. In fact, it is a bill to put the United States for the next decade in a position of responsibility for the Philippines without authority to discharge that responsibility.

Were the Congress convinced that the Philippine people are able to maintain an independent existence Congress should move for the American evacuation of our far eastern frontier within two years.

But Congress knows that the Philippine people are not ready for independence. No Senator nor Representative in Congress is able to fix with certainty a date in the future when they will be ready for independence.

That is why the Hawes-Cutting bill does not provide for Philippine independence within the near future. Instead, it provides for weakening the authority of the United States to govern the Philippines and adequately protect them.

If the United States should be short-sighted enough to abandon the Philippine Islands, then it ought to evacuate them permanently and completely.

To retain any measure of responsibility for the future of the Philippines and renounce authority equal to that responsibility would be dangerous for the Philippines and cowardly and criminal folly for the United States.

The interests responsible for the bogus independence measure which the Senate has finally pigeonholed, are not the real friends of the Philippine people.

The real friends of the Philippine people are the overwhelming majority of the American people who are opposed to abandoning the Philippine Islands to their own fate now or fixing a date in the future for such a cowardly retreat from America's path of dignity and duty.

Bread and Butter

Kline's Purpose in Shake-Up Becomes More Obvious As Deals Start.

Bread and Butter Charlie Kline's object in shaking up the police and fire departments is becoming even more obvious. The Mayor, according to those closely associated with him, is willing to dicker with some of the politically influential police inspectors who have been scheduled for dismissal. He will, it is understood, forgive past political misdeeds on certain conditions.

The conditions are obvious. The proscribed police officers must give Kline their support at the primaries if he runs for a third term. His running again will be dependent on the success of his appeal against the conviction of malfeasance on one count at the recent Butler trial. The Mayor appears to be confident on this score.

The spoils system has become so deeply rooted in public life that it probably is too much to hope for its abandonment. But there are certain departments so vital to everyone that they should be freed from its demoralizing influence. The police department, even under favorable conditions, is subject to constant temptation. A force which is not a mere political machine has a chance to develop a morale which will encourage honesty and integrity. A force consisting entirely of political appointees must consist of men whose first interest is politics and not public safety. It becomes fertile ground for corruption.

In his attempt to reduce the police force to a mere political machine, the Mayor is not only attempting to use taxpayers' money for his own interests, he is threatening the safety of Pittsburgh citizens with the spread of unchecked violence and racketeering.

Fourth Not Fatal Here

Independence Day "Aftermath" Cause for Being Thankful That It's No Worse.

The Fourth of July is Independence Day. The fifth is "aftermath" day. The latter is the day when there is revealed the account in maimed and slightly injured persons, and partial toll of the dead, which never is fully complete until tetanus, or lockjaw, has taken its grim tribute from the "glorious" celebration of the Fourth. Just this sort of editorial appears after every Independence Day observance.

It is a matter of satisfaction that, due to such editorials, perhaps, and, anyway, to propaganda, the deaths caused by fireworks have been greatly decreased throughout the nation, with none at all listed locally. For that we should be thankful.

It is not altogether a matter of regulation, this foolishness with pyrotechnics. Even in places where fireworks are forbidden by ordinance there was use of them Monday. They are always to be obtained—somewhere—and parents find it hard to deny their children. It is even looked upon as sort of a joke if a child suffers only slight burns. The skeleton at the feast is that the mishap that caused a slight burn might, by the same chance, have been one that would cause a fatal ending.

The local "aftermath," fortunately, doesn't prove to be terrible. With increased care and caution, next year's Fourth can be made even less painful.

Imprint of Washington

Fort Necessity, Restored, Memento of Spirit of Our Forefathers, Is Worthy of Veneration.

"Lives of great men all remind us we can make our own sublime, and, departing, leave behind us footprints on the sands of time."

One of the footprints on the sands of time left behind by Washington is Fort Necessity in Fayette County, the restoration of which has just been consecrated as a national shrine. Until recently this particular footprint was just "the site of Fort Necessity," as the ravages of time long ago caused the disappearance of the palisade of stakes that was a British colonial post in what history records as the French and Indian War.

Not far distant is the grave of Gen. Braddock. It and Fort Necessity are part of the historic atmosphere of Great Meadows, to which the mortally wounded Braddock retreated after his heroic but ill-starred attempt to take Fort Duquesne, the final remnant of which is the Block House, at the Point.

Fort Necessity is worthy of our veneration. Its stakes are new, but its tradition is as old as the spirit of our forefathers. It is one of the imprints of Washington, then a young man, but recognized by Braddock, a veteran soldier, whose aide Washington was, as one of the two outstanding men of the time, the other being Franklin.

Fort Necessity stands for something. It is indeed a footprint "on the sands of time."

Half a Loaf?

By Nelson Harding

"Half a loaf," they say "is better Than no bread." The ancient maxim
Holds a certain consolation
In the face of disappointment.

But why cut the bread in pieces
For a partial distribution
To appease the pangs of hunger
When the whole loaf can be given?

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Man's Curiosity—and Woman's

"Women are gradually losing their inordinate curiosity about unimportant things," declares a psychologist, chivalrously.

* * *

But any married woman would like to know just why woman has for so long been exclusively credited with all the CURIOSITY in the world. How and when did woman come to be known as "the curious sex"?

* * *

It is man's overweening inquisitiveness that has made men discoverers and scientists and inventors, ever since the beginning of time. Eve may have taken the first bite of the apple—but it is a well-known fact that Adam swallowed the rest of it so greedily that it stuck in his throat.

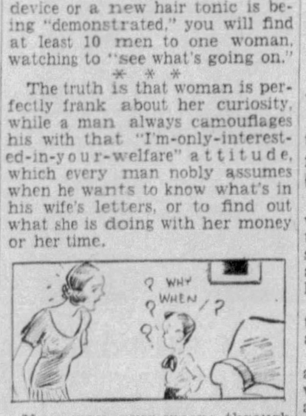
A man always wants to know "what makes the wheels go 'round." He is always taking his watch or his gun or his car apart to "see how it works." But a woman doesn't care how the radio or the vacuum cleaner or the electric clock works—just so it WORKS!

* * *

No little girl ever asked as many questions in a week as a small boy can ask in 15 minutes. And, if you will look over the crowd around any window, where a new device or a new hair tonic is being "demonstrated," you will find at least 10 men to one woman, watching to "see what's going on."

* * *

The truth is that woman is perfectly frank about her curiosity, while a man always camouflages his with that "I'm-only-interested-in-your-welfare" attitude, which every man nobly assumes when he wants to know what's in his wife's letters, or to find out what she is doing with her money or her time.



No woman ever snoops through a man's office desk as a man snoops through her kitchen icebox. She doesn't want to know how he runs his business. But he is mightily concerned to know how she's running the house.

* * *

A woman is curious only about the things that concern her heart, her vanity and her happiness, while a man is curious about EVERYTHING! And he is never satisfied until he finds out "what makes the wheels go 'round!"

* * *

As far as woman is concerned, the North Pole, the South Pole and the Equator might have stayed there, forever, and she would never have bothered to look for them. Unless, of course, she suspected that her husband was hanging around-one of them, evenings!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 6.—Grand opera, facing a dubious future, seems whistling in the dark. Sponsors are admittedly in a quandary over the ultimate outcome. No one thing is responsible for the debacle, which it is hoped is temporary. It merely collapsed with the rest of the world.

Many believe stars of the past few flush years lacked the well-known "It." The contagion of Caruso established box office records. Geraldine Farrar, too, was a magnet for innumerable. Jeritza, Gigli and Lily Pons have drawing power, but not so marked. The Metropolitan itself is a gloomy pile.

To thrive, opera must not only attract music lovers but the curious and the extravagant rich, who will pay the yearly fortunes to be ensconced in the stupefying brilliance of the Diamond Horseshoe. Paying for the vanity to be seen is the keystone of the grand opera corner.

Real opera lovers are perched in the dizzy tiers of the gallery. They are mostly Italians, Neapolitans chiefly, barbers, waiters and small tradesmen. The faithful followers who will stand in line in the wind and rain from 9 in the morning until the doors open at night.

In the year Otto Kahn has faded out of the picture. His successor is Paul D. Cravath, a distinguished lawyer, but without the dynamic fervor for the effects of opulent Otto. Salaries have been slashed, furious jealousies have arisen, and the season shortened. Next year, a wag says, we will have "baby-grand opera."

* * *

Near the Metropolitan there used to stand a shawled Niobe, known as Crying Mary. Her tear duct control was so perfect she could weep at will. Four years ago she vanished. All successful New York beggars reputedly retire to legendary mansions in New Jersey. And Mary is no exception.

* * *

Mary has, however, a worthy successor in a lachrymose lad of 13 standing near a subway kiosk in West Forty-second street. He is a crying fool, and there is no limit to his pathetic freshets. So much sympathy does he evoke he often picks up $10 in a day.

* * *

Similarly, Old Dan, the Telescope Man, has vanished from the evening sidewalk panorama of Washington Square. His cry: "See Old Sirius, the Dog Star—only a dime," was one of the familiar cries of the neighborhood. Northward two brisk young men carry on with a mammoth telescope, near the library wall, pointed in the direction of the Empire Tower. Their patter is high-blown—an appeal to the intelligentsia. "Study the heavens," one intones. "Put yourself en rapport with the immensity of the unknowable."

* * *

As one of the mossbacks, whose courtesies were acquired in an age when ladies did not smoke, I frequently flounder in the web of modern manners. In passing cigarets I unconsciously ignore the women and am usually a bad fifth in those quick flurries when gallants fly to them with lighted matches or briquets. I often think the most attentive husband I know is the writer, Hamish McLauren. In the years of their happy marriage he has lit every after-dinner cigaret his wife has smoked before passing it to her. There is a moving old-time chivalry about that. But Hamish is that sort.

* * *

Thingumbobs: Grace Tibbetts lost some cash along with Garbo in the bank crash . . . The Leon Gordons are summering in a small town in Holland . . . Rene, well-known head waiter, is at the Waldorf . . . S. S. Van Dine lost all his detective book royalties investing in "gilt-edge" bonds . . . Louise Closser Hale, at 60, keeps up to the minute on slang, but never speaks it . . . Fred Stone and Dave Montgomery never associated off stage . . . And never quarreled . . . Billie Burke's road tour and film work has kept her away from New York for a year. . . . Hattie Belle Johnston is on Spain's Isle of Majorca until autumn.

* * *

An adventure in the faultiness of circumstantial evidence has left a distinct impression. Waiting last night on a corner, in a quiet neighborhood, for a friend who had crossed the street to a phone, I found myself, in a moment of mental vacuity, jiggling with the lock on a darkened shop door. And I hope to kiss a duck-billed Ugambi if a policeman didn't pop out of nowhere. I slunk off in dripping desudation, arms swinging high and kicking an imaginery object toward the gutter. Just a man about town!

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

A man wrote the following verses the other day.

He did not sit down in a beautifully equipped office or a costly furnished studio and dictate them to his private secretary.

He huddled on a park bench, with the drizzly rain seeping through his ragged shirt, and scribbled these lines with a hand almost too limp with hunger to hold the stump of a pencil.

The mark of the rain lay on the paper when it came to me; and other marks—perhaps tears.

Weeping is not supposed to be a manly indulgence, but men are weeping in America today. Men are waking at night with their hearts hammering against their gaunt ribs, and with something in them screaming for death which will help them escape from a hopeless dawn.

And men are doing—other things. Do you know what the next to the last line in this poem means? Read it through and I'll tell you.

"Gee! It's Hell to be at leisure,
Loafin' 'round the whole day long
When hard work has been your pleasure
An' you're willin' an' you're strong.
You get tired of sittin', sittin',
Thinkin', thinkin', 'till you're WILD!
And sometimes you feel like quittin',
But—'taint fair to wife an' child.

"Lookin' want ad's over'n over;
Askin' here an' pleadin' there;
Just a hungry, haunted rover,
Only askin' for a share.

"Comin' home at night is killin'!
Wifie meets me in the block;
Knows the news I've got ain't thrillin'—
She can tell it by my walk.

"Told 'em that I had my dinner;
Buddy treated me, at the Greek's.
Hope I don't keep gettin' thinner,
Or they'll know I've lied for weeks.

"Wonder if those guys with money
Ever felt a hidden pain
Gnawin', gnawin' in the tummy,
Drivin' one insane, INSANE!

"Hello, Bruiser! How'd you know it?
Knew I'd weaken? Yes; I'm BEAT!
They're in bed. I'll help you blow it.
Wife an' kid has got to EAT."

L. Mack.

And now—that next to the last line—"I'll help you blow it."

Know what that means?

That means crime.

That means the last, desperate device of a man who is barred from money — the DYNAMITE DEVICE.

Have you ever come to such a pass that you were prepared to steal, perhaps to kill; prepared to sell your soul for all eternity, rather than look again into the eyes of your starving child?

Perhaps YOU haven't—

BUT I HAVE!

I've sat on a bench, as this man sat on a bench. I've felt that gnawing. I've felt that goading. And if the breaks hadn't come in time, God only knows what I would have done.

And so I'm passing Mack's verses on to you. Maybe they aren't great poetry, BUT THEY ARE HELL'S OWN TRUTH!

AND I'M TELLING YOU IT'S A SHAMEFUL THING THAT ANY MAN IN AMERICA SHOULD BE DRIVEN TO WRITE SUCH LINES.

Isn't It So?

A bigamist is a man who just won't be convinced.

No man should make a bigger garden than his wife can hoe.

History Belies Myth About Presidential Year Slumps

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

ONE WIDELY held American superstitition is that business and the stock market are not likely to flourish during a presidential year.

A study of the record, however, does not warrant any such dogmatic assumption.

Accordingly, if the only cloud on the horizon were the forthcoming counting of ballots, there could be dancing in the streets and joyous expression of bullishness.

Looking back into business history, we find that in 35 previous presidential election years since the founding of the republic, 15 were periods of prosperity, 11 were years of depression, and nine were uncertain, marked by irregularity of conditions. A study of shorter term movements during presidential years shows that the peak of hesitation and uncertainty is attained in the middle of the year before businessmen, bankers and speculators have been able to make up their minds which way the political winds would blow.

AS FOR the Republican claim that it is the party of prosperity, Col. Leonard P. Ayres, of the Cleveland Trust Company, some years ago compiled statistics purporting to show that neither the G. O. P. nor the Democratic Party had any monopoly on prosperity and depression.

Warren M. Persons, the economist, has just made public data which tends to support these conclusions that the fear about presidential years is a mere bugaboo!

Declines and rallies in the stock market have followed presidential elections in almost equal number, he shows. His general conclusion is that politics has had very limited effect on the course of the economic cycle.

MR. PERSONS' stock market studies cover 14 presidential campaigns. The records show that the stock market rallied at the climax of eight of these campaigns and reacted during six of them.

These records from the past are cited to remind the American people that their economic fate during a presidential year is not foreordained. No oriental fatalism need check constructive efforts toward recovery.

The superstitition about bad business during election years is only a myth.

Business can get better, even during a presidential year, IF GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS WILL CO-OPERATE WISELY to release latent impulses making for economic recuperation.

THE TRUTH

By Winifred Black

"Tell the truth and shame the devil." Good, forthright, cards-on-the-table sentiment, eh what?

Seems to me I remember a time when we thought a lot of that idea, here in America; but on the Pacific Coast recently a judge on the bench called a witness to account for telling the truth.

I don't know whether the witness shamed the devil or not, but he did tell the truth, and that's what the judge didn't like.

You see, the witness was a lawyer before he was a witness. It was a case of murder in the first degree, and the lawyer was counsel for the defense when the case began.

Four men were charged with murder, and one of the men told the lawyer the real truth, or what he declared to be the truth, about the whole ghastly business.

Did the lawyer up and tell the court about it, then? He did not. He took the case and did his best to defend the four men.

But the defendants forgot to pay the lawyer's fees. There was a disagreement, and when the case came up again the lawyer went on the stand as star witness for the prosecution, and told word for word what he said the defendant had told him.

Was the judge glad to get at the facts in the case? Well, maybe he was, but he didn't say anything about that.

What he did say was that it was a disgrace for a lawyer to betray the confidence of a client, even if the client did forget to pay the lawyer's fees; and all the lawyers in the courtroom were virtuously indignant, and cast reproachful looks at the lawyer who told the jury what his client had told to him.

Interesting case, isn't it?

It's quite easy to see the judge's point of view, to be sure. If all the lawyers should suddenly rise in all the courts and tell the absolute and honest truth—dear me, what a state of things!

And anyhow, the fact that a man tells you a thing is not proof that what he tells you is true, is it?

Isn't it, after all, what the lawyers and the judge, with intense legal satisfaction call "hearsay testimony?"

And is hearsay testimony ever admissible in the American practice of law? I don't think so.

In France, now, you can go on the witness stand and tell what John said, and what Mary whispered, and what Mary's mother-in-law hinted, and you can repeat every word the neighbors said on the day of the murder.

The French jury will listen, and nod, and make up their minds as to the guilt or innocence of the accused person, and every hair on your American head will stand up with indignant horror.

Sometimes it does seem as if there is something in hearsay testimony, after all. And then this business of defending a man for murder when you know he is a murderer, or at least you know that he says he is—well, to the ordinary, everyday mind that would look curiously like being "an accessory after the fact," as our learned brethren express it.

What do you thing of the judge and the lawyer in this particular case, anyhow?

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

By S. H. Connolly

Do you know:

1. What four Vice Presidents have served eight years?
2. Who was called "The Iron Duke?"
3. What does the French expression, "Adieu," really mean?
4. Who is the hero of "As You Like It?"
5. In what century did St. Francis d'Assissi live?
6. When does a liquid evaporate?
7. What causes different phases of the moon?
8. What makes soda water?
9. What is the most densely populated area of the world?
10. In 1914, what was the Triple Entente?

Match correctly:

11. Simeon Fess	Senator from Connecticut.
12. Ogden Mills	Senator from Iowa.
13. James R. Garfield	called the Republican convention to order.
14. L. J. Dickinson	son of a former President.
15. Hiram Bingham	Secretary of the Treasury.

Answers to today's tests:

1. John Adams, Daniel Tompkins, John Calhoun, Thomas Marshall. 2. The Duke of Wellington. 3. I commend you to God. 4. Orlando. 5. 1182-1226. 6. When it changes into an invisible gas and is absorbed by the atmosphere. 7. They depend upon the extent of surface of the moon toward us which is reflecting light. 8. Carbon dioxide is forced into water. 9. Southeastern Asia. 10. France, Great Britain, Russia. 11. Called the Republican convention to order. 12. Secretary of the Treasury. 13. Son of a former President. 14. Senator from Iowa. 15. Senator from Connecticut.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

You have been called two-faced because you can see both sides and appreciate the reason for change of front at times.

Some folks are so anxious to appear opinionated that they never change even when proven wrong.

It takes a brave person to reverse front when reason dictates a course directly opposite to the one originally taken.

A wise man is not influenced by what others may say for or against him, but is governed by circumstances and evidences.

Have the courage of your convictions.

Suppose you do find that you were mistaken, it may not be too late to align yourself with the right of the question.

It is a great deal better to see your mistake and change than it is to cling to an opinion or course that may bring disaster eventually.

It shows you are a thinking person and can learn through reasoning powers, if, after trial another way seems better than the one you first chose, and you take it.

If you don't want to change with progress, keep an open mind and do not express yourself so positively that it is hard to take back your words.
